CORTES DELAYS TAKING ZAMORA APPROVAL VOTE

Revolutionary Chief Hit in Policy of Quelling Labor Disorders.

CONFIDENCE BALLOT EXPECTED TOMORROW

Resignation of President Leaves Spain Without Head Overnight.

Madrid, July 28 (A.P.).—The National Assembly adjourned tonight after postponing the vote of confidence on the present provisional government of President Alcala Zamora until tomorrow.

During the session of the Cortes the veteran provisional president, who has held the reins of power since the monarchy fell, defended his administration in a speech which was frequently interrupted by angry accusations from opposition members.

"Your government assassinated workmen!" Rodrigo Soriano and several Catalonian deputies shouted when the president referred to the cabinet's policy in quelling recent labor disorders.

Anarchy Threat Pointed Out.

After order was restored he explained that the government was forced to resort to strong measures of repression "because of the necessity of avoiding anarchy after two years of inherited economic difficulties."

Until a few minutes before the session ended it was expected that the vote of confidence would be taken tonight and checks of the assembly indicated that the cabinet would be sustained unless unforeseen developments occurred.

One of the events at today's session was the swearing in of Count Romanones, one of Spain's most prominent monarchists, as deputy from Guadalajara. The veteran minister of the old days was present for the first time and occupied a seat directly in front of the cabinet benches. He said afterward that he would act only as "a spectator" for the time.

Technically No Government.

In his address defending the cabinet, President Alcala Zamora traced its activities since the monarchy fell, setting out reforms which had been effected in the army, department of public instruction and the judiciary department.

Regarding Spain's relations with the Vatican he said that the government had answered three papal notes without bringing about a rupture, and still maintained state supremacy.

As result of the postponement of the vote of confidence Spain tonight was left technically without a cabinet, since the provisional government's resignation was tendered during the afternoon.

Fist Fight Averted.

The cabinet was remaining in authority, however, it was announced, and would do so until after the vote is taken tomorrow.

The first approach to fisticuffs happened in the Assembly today when friends were forced to separate Minister of Interior Miguel Maura and Deputy Angel Sanblancat, of Catalonia.

A motion had been presented to name a committee to investigate the government's action in suppressing recent disorders in Seville. Deputy Sanblancat leaped to his feet, shouting:

"The minister of interior knows full well he assassinated those men!"

Senor Maura was advancing rapidly upon the Catalonian member when friends interfered. It took 15 minutes to restore order.

Operation Is Necessary For David Lloyd George

London, July 28 (A.P.).—An operation will be necessary to remove the cause of the hematuria which has kept David Lloyd George confined to his bed since yesterday, it was announced tonight.

The statement said that the veteran Liberal leader's condition was generally good.

Fletcher to Leave Tariff Body Nov. 15

Yields to Hoover's Desire That He Stay in Office Another 2 Months.

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover was said at the White House yesterday to believe the Tariff Commission under Chairman Fletcher has proved "it can and will make all proper and necessary adjustments" in tariff rates.

This statement was made in announcing the chairman had acceded to the request of the President that he remain until November 15, instead of retiring September 16, as was his plan.

The President believes, the White House said, "that Mr. Fletcher and the members of the Commission have performed a valuable public service in putting the commission on an efficient operating basis, where it is commanding the confidence of the public in the absolutely fair and impartial administration of its important duties."

Steel's Dividend Less; Wage Cuts Deplored

Directors Also Propose Reduction of Office Salaries.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—With earnings shrunk to the lowest level in sixteen years, the directors of the United States Steel Corporation finally bowed to the business depression today, drastically reduced the disbursements to common stockholders, and proposed a downward adjustment of officers and office workers' salaries.

The common stock quarterly dividend was cut to $1, from $1.75, which had been paid since the second quarter of 1926. This reduced the annual dividend rate to $4 from $7. This is the lowest common dividend rate since 1915, in which year no common dividends were paid, and the first dividend rate since that year.

The directors declined to comment, either formally or informally, on wages of plant workers. It had been rumored for several days in Wall street

White House Contends Lamont Letter Not Reversal.

(Associated Press.)

The administration yesterday reaffirmed its policy of steadfast opposition to reductions in wages.

The restatement of its position followed widespread discussion of a letter written by Secretary Lamont which said some industries have been forced to cut wages or shut down and that the Government should not interfere in such cases.

The communication was addressed to Representative Condon (Democrat), Rhode Island, and was in answer to a letter he had written to President Hoover calling attention to wage cuts in the textile industry in his State.

Shortly after yesterday's Cabinet meeting the White House issued this statement:

"No member of the administration has expressed the view or holds the view that the policy of the administration, in advocating maintenance

WORLD BANKRUPTCY SEEN IN HIGH TARIFFS

MacDonald Urges Using All Resources for International Stability.

Berlin, July 28 (A.P.).—High tariff walls will lead to universal bankruptcy and the resources of all countries should be used in the interest of international stability, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain told a delegation of correspondents here today.

One of the prime functions of the statesmen who have been negotiating in recent weeks to alleviate Germany's economic distress, he said, is to restore the proper psychological foundation upon which confidence in the country may be built.

Most of Germany's economic troubles are psychological, said he, and when that detail is properly taken care of prosperity will begin to come back.

The atmosphere in connection with the visit of the British statesmen is as cordial as any one could wish, but the speedy developments of the past few days have knocked all the leisure out of what was originally planned as an unhurried, informal international conference such as that held some weeks ago at Chequers.

Instead of putting up at the picturesque hunting lodge which had been prepared for them away from the bustle of Berlin, the British visitors are quartered in a hotel so close to the foreign office and the presidential palace that they don't even need a taxicab.

Minutes are precious and both the Germans and the British are making the most of them, but in many respects the meetings which are taking place here contrast strikingly with the last official visit of a British premier half a century ago.

When Disraeli played his historic role at the conference of 1878 the meeting was dominated by Bismarck and stiff diplomatic formality, with a mahogany conference table and gold braid on the delegates.

These modern ministers, discussing problems more acute than those which worried the diplomats in 1878, are holding some of their most serious conversations in the foreign office garden, and today they talked over their problems while cruising the picturesque lakes near Berlin.

All this is in keeping with the city's first impression of the British prime minister, who seems to the German people like a neighbor who

Socony-Vacuum Combination Is Assured; Enough Proxies Are Received.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Charles E. Arnott, president of the Vacuum Oil Co., issued a statement today declaring enough proxies had been received from stockholders of the Vacuum and the Standard Oil Co. of New York to assure their merger.

He said within a week the new company, to be known as the Socony-Vacuum Corporation, would take its place among the industrial giants of the Nation with total assets of nearly $1,000,000,000.

The merger, the statement said, will help bring order out of the demoralized conditions in the oil industry.

The way toward consolidation was finally cleared on July 16 when the Barneson group, of California, which owned a substantial share of the Standard shares, announced it would withdraw objections to the merger.

The consolidation at first was opposed by the Government, which brought an antitrust suit against both companies, but after the merger had received the approval of a statutory court of three judges, the Attorney General announced no further legal action would be taken.

Standard of New York sold up ½ today and Vacuum sold up ¼. Standard stockholders will receive 2½ shares of the new stock for each share of the old, and Vacuum shareholders will receive share for share.

Mr. Arnott said recent developments in the oil field "make the merger most sound for the American oil industry." He pointed out that overproduction, distress prices, retail price wars and "the huge sup-

Joan Bennett Suffers Broken Hip From Fall

Five Small Children Shot By Gangster Guns in Auto

Firing in New York's Crowded Tenement District Causes Panic; Man Marked for Death Disappears as Assassins Elude Police.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—A carload of underworld gunmen drove slowly through a sweltering tenement district tonight, fired a spray of lead, and then streaked away, leaving five children wounded but their intended victim unscathed.

Two of the children may die.

For an hour the neighborhood was a scene of pandemonium. Detectives loaded witnesses into patrol wagons and dug 40 or more of the lead slugs from the walls of tenement buildings.

A raid was made on the Helmar Social Club nearby, and the steward, Michael Martello, taken into custody for questioning. Later police announced they were convinced the man who had been marked for death was Joseph Rao, whose cousin is a vice president of the club.

Police said the Helmar headquarters had been a hangout for questionable characters and that Joseph Rao was an active figure in current beer wars.

Recently, they said, Rao allied himself with Jack "(Legs) Diamond and "Dutch" Schultz to war on Vincent Coll, a rival in the beer business. They explained the attempt to "get" Rao apparently was an outcome of that rivalry.

Dozens of scantily clad youngsters had been on the sidewalk in East 107th street seeking relief from the oppressive heat. A baby lay crying in its carriage. A small boy stood behind a wooden box hawking his home-made lemonade. Half a dozen girls were playing tag.

A well-dressed man stood a foot back from the sidewalk in a niche between two buildings. He apparently was waiting for some one. No one noticed him and neither was any attention paid to the open tourist car which was coming slowly up the street.

Suddenly the boy at the lemonade stand screamed and ducked under the box. He had seen the muzzles of five or six machine guns, revolvers and shotguns poked from the car.

The man in the niche cringed and waited. The guns were pointed at him, but between him and the car were the fro'icking girls, the boy under the lemonade stand and the baby in the carriage.

Suddenly there was a roar and a volley of lead splattered against the wall of one of the tenements. Then another and another. Slugs ripped through the box under which the boy hid. Others plowed through the baby carriage. Still others struck children on the sidewalk.

Parents in second, third and fourth story windows screamed and ducked. Children unscathed in the first vol-

25-CENT TRUCE IN TAXI WAR IS SEEN SATURDAY

50 Operators Agree to End Rate Battle, but Others Refuse.

KEECH IS CONFIDENT OF FULL AGREEMENT

10-Cent Cab Group Ignores Meeting; "City Proper" Term Eliminated.

While approximately 50 taxicab operators entered into an agreement yesterday afternoon to end the rate war and to adhere to a minimum and maximum schedule of fares, the Diamond Cab Co., which operates 750 cabs, indicated that it would retain its 20-cent rate, which is 5 cents lower than the maximum set by the other independents.

Practically all of the larger zone cab operators, save the Diamond and the Black and White and Yellow companies, entered into an agreement to keep their rates within the following limits: 25, 50 and 75 cents as a minimum and 35, 60 and 85 cents as a maximum. The conference, which was conducted by People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech, was lengthy but orderly.

The new rates will become effective Saturday after the taxi companies have filed their schedules with the Public Utilities Commission.

"City Proper" Taken Out.

All three zones will be the same for all the taxicab operators, as the Diamond Company and the Black and White and Yelow Company use the same boundaries as those agreed upon by the united group. In order to prevent misunderstanding with patrons, the term "city proper" is to be eliminated as a designation of the first zone.

The taxicab operators also agreed to exchange references on drivers and not to employ men whose records were bad.

Harry C. Davis, manager of the Diamond Cab Co., was present as "a spectator" at the conference, but he left before it adjourned without making any comment. Afterward he told a Post reporter that so far as he knew his company would not enter the agreement and would continue to operate on a 20-40-60 cents basis. Final determination of the matter, however, he said, rests with the board of directors.

"These other companies started the rate war and the conference," he said. "We are not in it at all."

Uses Maximum Rates.

The Black and White and Yellow Cab Co., which recently changed its rates from a meter to a zone basis, now operates at the maximum fare set by the conference. Consequently though the representatives indicated yesterday that they still favor meter cabs and will probably not sign the agreement, their position will make no difference so long as the company operates on its present rates.

People's Counsel Keech following the meeting expressed the belief that both of the companies will enter the agreement.

So far as could be learned none of the representatives of the Private Taxicab Owners Association, which instituted the 10 cent rate for any ride in the city, were present at the conference yesterday. They operate only a limited number of cabs, however.

Depends on Diamond Line.

The success of the meeting will obviously depend on whether or not the Diamond Cab Co. adheres to its present rate though the united independents may follow their present plan even without this largest zone cab operator.

No approval will be necessary from the Public Utilities Commission to make the new rates effective, and unless the rate war is renewed the utilities body will probably take no action.

Officials of the street car companies yesterday called upon Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the commission, to protest against the inroads that the taxicab war had made in the revenues. They appealed to the body to take some action that would relieve a tense situation.

The commission chairman gave them little encouragement, however, and said that no immediate action was contemplated.

John H. Hanna, president of the Capital Traction Co., led the delegation. With him were G. Thomas Dunlop, general counsel of the Capital Traction Co., and A. G. Neal, vice president and controller of the Washington Railway & Electric Co.

Moses Sees Nomination Of Hoover as Certainty

(Associated Press.)

Renomination of President Hoover by the Republicans was predicted yesterday by Senator Moses (Republican), New Hampshire.

"It is not in the cards for anyone to take the nomination away from President Hoover," was the only comment the senator would make on the political situation upon his return to the Capital.

Siamese Royalties Leave Country for Canada

Boardman, Polando Set Istanbul, Turkey, as Distance Goal.

PANGBORN, HERNDON ATTACK GLOBE MARK

(Associated Press.)

Ambitious airmen and a woman tore across the world's sky paths yesterday in quest of new records.

Two planes were pointed over the Atlantic. One, manned by Russell Boardman and John Polando, was bound for Istanbul, Turkey, seeking a new distance mark. Another carried Hugh Herndon, jr., and Clyde Pangborn toward Moscow on the first leg of a globe-girdling voyage, which they hope will better the performance of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty.

Neither of the transatlantic ships planned stops in Newfoundland and both were flying at such altitudes that checking their progress was difficult. But from Ramea and Cape Freels, Newfoundland, came word of the eastward passage of speedy, unidentified planes.

Lindberghs Delay Flight.

Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, whose aerial vacation jaunt toward the Orient began Monday, flew from Washington to North Beach, N. Y., where they descended to make adjustment to a radio set and planned to resume their flight Wednesday night or Thursday forenoon.

Amy Johnson, famed British aviatrix, reached Moscow after a daring flight from Herndon, England. Her ultimate destination is Tokyo.

The Graf Zeppelin continued its Arctic adventure, and James Goodwin Hall, flying broker, set up a New York-to-Rochester (N. Y.) air record of an hour and 45 minutes.

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, July 28 (A.P.).—Observers at Bay Roberts, near Cape Race, reported here tonight seeing a light-colored plane heading eastward out over the Atlantic at 7:10 Newfoundland daylight time, 4:40 Eastern standard time. They were unable to identify it.

Two Fly Over Newfoundland.

St. Johns, N. F., July 28 (A.P.).—Ramea, on the south coast of Newfoundland, today reported a plane passing eastward at rapid speed, but too high to identify, at about 2:40 p. m. (E. S. T.).

An unidentified plane was sighted over Cape Freels, near Trepassey, N. F., about 3:17 p. m. (E. S. T.) today, flying in an easterly direction.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—During the past twelve years just a dozen planes have flown, one by one, eastward across the north Atlantic. Today for the first time in history two started together. One was bound for Turkey and the other round the world.

Both had failed in previous attempts to lift their great weight of fuel into the air, in each instance disaster being narrowly averted, but today they crawled upward from the firm earth and set forth into the dawn.

Boardman First Away.

The first off was the black and yellow monoplane Cape Cod, with Russell Boardman at the controls and Joyn Polando navigating. At 5 a. m. (E. S. T.) it lifted spinning wheels sluggishly into the air and skimmed out over Jamaica Bay until lost to sight.

Eighteen minutes later the red monoplane of Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon roared down the concrete, lifted at the three-quarters mark, climbed 150 feet, banked steeply, zoomed down close to the field and shot up to about 250 feet. At that height it droned away into the rising sun.

Although the two left so closely together, the double departure did not indicate a race. For Boardman and Polando were out for nonstop distance, New York to Istanbul or beyond, whereas Pangborn and Herndon were interested only in speed, for they were out to lower the world girdling record of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty.

And though they were to follow the same course across the ocean it was

Relief Is Not Expected Before Showers Arrive Tomorrow Evening.

The Washington area yesterday contributed one fatality and six prostrations to the trail of death and suffering sweeping the country in the wake of one of the most severe heat waves of the summer. Sixty deaths and hundreds of prostrations were reported yesterday from various parts of the United States.

The death victim here was an unidentified colored man who collapsed during the afternoon at Barcroft, Va. He was taken to Emergency Hospital where he died ten minutes later. The body was removed to the District Morgue where it had not been identified late last night.

No relief is due here until tomorrow night when the thundershowers are expected, it was learned from the United States Weather Bureau. The predicted thundershowers tomorrow will be preceded by a slight drop in temperature, according to the forecast.

The highest temperature recorded yesterday at the Weather Bureau was 94 between 2 o'clock and 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The lowest was 73. Humidity was low in relation to the temperature, being 32 per cent at the warmest period of the day. The kiosk on Pennsylvania avenue registered a maximum temperature of 100½ at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Among the hottest places in the United States were Des Moines, Iowa, 108 degrees; Phoenix, Ariz., 106; Omaha, Nebr., the same. Storms and high winds in some sections of the country swung the weather pendu-

Roosevelt Boom Held Wet Menace

Dry Leader Sees Approval of Him as Challenge to Amendment.

(Associated Press.)

Indorsements of Franklin D. Roosevelt for President by antiprohibitionists were viewed yesterday by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Antisaloon League, as a "challenge and a warning to the friends of the eighteenth amendment."

Respecting the recent statement of Mayor Cermak of Chicago that the Democratic New York governor is wet enough to be acceptable to the wets of the Middle West, McBride said: "The question immediately arises as to whether he is dry enough to be acceptable to the drys of the Middle West, where the friends of prohibition greatly outnumber its enemies.

"Equally important would be the question as to whether he is dry enough for the dry Democracy of the South."

Daughter of Dawes, 17, Held on Speed Charge

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—Virginia Dawes, 17, daughter of Charles Gates Dawes, former Vice President and this Nation's ambassador to the Court of St. James, was arrested today in Evanston for speeding. She was released on her own recognizance and will be arraigned tomorrow.

President Sends $100, May Talk at Unveiling

(Associated Press.)

Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, found yesterday it was easier to get a check from President Hoover than a speech.

He invited the President to speak next year at the dedication of a memorial to be erected in Franklin, N. H., commemorating the 150th anniversary of the birth of Daniel Webster.

Mr. Hoover took the invitation under advisement and then Senator Moses added a request for a $100 subscription for the memorial. This was quickly forthcoming from the President. Elated by his success, the senator then went to Charles Francis Adams, the Secretary of the Navy, and got his second $100 subscription.

DISORDERS DEVELOP IN SILK MILL STRIKE

Thousands of Workers Quit in Paterson, N. J.; Guard Beaten, Scratched.

Paterson, N. J., July 28 (A.P.).—Isolated disorders developed today and police armed with night sticks patrolled the city as a walk-out of silk mill workers under the leadership of the A. F. of L. Unions began.

Although conservative estimates placed the number on strike at between 2,000 and 5,000, leaders of both the moderate and radical labor unions claimed three-fourths of the city's 30,000 textile workers were out, and that the remainder would leave the shops tomorrow, paralyzing the entire silk industry.

The first disorder occurred this morning just before the walkout of the Associated Silk Workers and the United Textile Workers. Patrolman Bernard S. Crone, guarding a mill, reported he was pummelled and his face scratched by strikers gathered at the mill to urge girl workers to strike.

FAULTY RADIO HALTS LINDBERGHS' FLIGHT

North Beach, N. Y., July 28 (A.P.).—Defects in their radio equipment caused Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh to fly back to the Glenn Curtiss Airport here late today from Washington and to delay one day their start for their proposed vacation flight to the Orient.

The Lindberghs swooped down out of a rain-filled sky at 2:45 p. m. (E. S. T.), surprising the airport attendants, who had thought the noted pair on their way to Maine.

After riding the rain-spattered waters for a few minutes, the big low-winged Lockheed Sirius monoplane was towed to its berth at the airport dock and the occupants emerged, smiling and unconcerned over the downpour or the disarrangement of their plans.

Col. Lindbergh said he thought it might take all day to get the radio set working properly, in which case they would resume flying either late tomorrow or Thursday morning, going to North Haven, Me., to the summer home of Mrs. Lindbergh's parents, Senator and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow.

There they will tarry briefly before setting out on their long jaunt across the Canadian wilds and Asia to Tokyo. The principal reason for going to Maine is to bid farewell to Charles August Lindbergh, junior, their 13-month-old son, who arrived at the Morrow summer place in

Senator Stephens Goes Under Memphis Knife

Memphis, Tenn., July 28 (A.P.).—United States Senator Hubert D. Stephens, of Mississippi, was seriously ill at Methodist Hospital here tonight, following an emergency operation for acute appendicitis.

Dr. J. A. Crisler, jr., said the senator's condition is serious. The senator was taken ill at his home in New Albany, Miss., and was brought to Memphis in an ambulance early today. The operation was performed an hour after his arrival.

Former Navy Man's Death Held Natural After Mystery

The death late yesterday of Walter B. Robinson, 50 years old, which at first appeared to be a suicide, then took on the aspects of a murder, turned out to be from natural causes.

Robinson, who was retired from the Navy Department fifteen years ago, was found dead in the kitchen of his home, 810 Taylor street northwest, by his son, Raymond. Near him was a .32-caliber revolver.

Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt examined the weapon and found no shells, either exploded or unexploded. It appeared that Robinson had been shot in the mouth, from which he bled profusely. The coroner called in the homicide squad.

In Robinson's pockets was $1,980, which he had withdrawn from a bank a few weeks ago when the bank lowered its interest rates. Since then the members of his family had vainly tried to persuade him to redeposit it. Near his left hand was a partially smoked pipe.

Robinson had been despondent recently because of the death of his mother, Mrs. Margaret Robinson, who was killed last week by an automobile. Frequently, they said, he had remarked that there was "no use living." The absence of any shells in the gun caused the police to discard the suicide theory.

Dr. A. Magruder MacDonald and Coroner Nevitt performed the autopsy last night while Capt. Edward Cape Cod Slower Ship.

The Cape Cod is a slower ship than the world-circling plane and though it got away first, it evidently was too sluggish under its staggering load to be turned at once and so Pangborn and Herndon, who had more power at their command, were able to head earlier toward the far horizons of the East.

Boardman and Polando are attempting to break the straight line flight record of Dieudonne Coste and Joseph Lebrix, who flew 4,912 miles nonstop from France to China. Pangborn and Herndon want to better the Post-Gatty time of 8 days, 15 hours and 51 minutes around the world.

The world fliers had been waiting all summer for the proper moment. They were still unready when Post and Gatty winged away and smashed the record of more than 21 days, established by the Graf Zeppelin. Last week all seemed set at last and they tried an early take-off at Roosevelt Field. But they couldn't get off the dirt track and nearly wrecked the plane careening over the gully where Rene Fonck's hopes of Atlantic flying honors died in 1926 with two of his crew.

Undaunted by Setbacks.

A few days later Boardman and Polando tried to get away from the long concrete run of Floyd Bennett Field, but couldn't lift their load and had to dump their gas to avert a crash.

Undaunted by these setbacks, however, both teams continued to wait, and today Dr. James H. Kimball, of the Weather Bureau, gave the word to go.

Dr. Kimball was at the flying field and he gave final instructions, even changing the proposed route of the world fliers to send them along the great circle course with Boardman and Polando instead of straight to sea, as they had planned.

The last hanshakes and shouts of farewell were exchanged and then one pilot after the other "gave her the gun" and roared away to the airmen's great adventure.

Envoy's Gift Is Stolen From Embassy Attache

Alfred M. Keil, consular secretary for the German Embassy, has been deprived of one of his most cherished possessions in the theft of a pocketbook which was the gift from an ambassador, he reported to police yesterday. The keepsake was stolen when burglars entered his home at 214 Whittier street northwest in his absence.

Herr Keil said that the purse contained about $20 and a pair of sun glasses. He said that he felt most, however, the loss of the keepsake, which was presented to him by Walter Koch, the Fatherland's envoy to Czechoslovakia.

Reich Starts Bank For Rehabilitation

$50,000,000 Institution Is Created to Facilitate Return to Normal.

Berlin, July 28 (A.P.).—The new Acceptance and Guarantee Bank, with a capital of 200,000,000 marks (about $50,000,000) and founded to facilitate a return to normal financial conditions in Germany, entered its official existence today.

The Reich furnished 80,000,000 marks (about $20,000,000) of its capital and appointed Bernhard Dernburg, former minister of finance, to the directorate, on which are directors of each of the eleven founding banks.

The board is expected to outline a plan of operation immediately. It is explained that the founding banks were limited to institutions in Berlin because of the need for keeping in close touch with each other for quick, concerted action.

Standard Oil Official Wed at West Chester

Philadelphia, July 28 (A.P.).—Robert MacCullough Black, 26, of Elizabeth, N. J., son of Charles G. Black, president and a member of the board of directors of the Standard Oil Co., of New Jersey, and Miss Anne Elizabeth Dunning, 26, of Philadelphia, were married last Saturday at West Chester, Pa. This became publicly known and was confirmed by Black. Mrs. Black is the daughter of William T. Dunning, of Marion, Ohio.

Nautilus Is on Way To Arctic via Bergen

Plymouth, July 28 (U.P.).—The submarine Nautilus, en route to the North Pole under command of Sir Hubert Wilkins, departed today for the Arctic, via Bergen, Norway. The underwater craft, which was damaged in mid-Atlantic on its trip from the United States, was repaired here and pronounced in good shape for the journey.

Sir Hubert had planned to meet the Graf Zeppelin in the Arctic on the dirigible's present flight, but the damage to the Nautilus delayed the expedition.

2,429,062 Found Idle In Census of April, 1930

(Associated Press.)

Five per cent of the gainful workers of the country were idle in April, 1930, when the last general census was taken.

The Census Bureau, in announcing this result yesterday reported 48,832,589 persons as engaged in gainful occupations in April a year ago and of these 2,429,062 were reported as able to work, but out of a job. This figure was only about half the number of unemployed estimated by the President's committee for employment as of the first week in December, 1930.

Anne Lindbergh Aids Mate Test Radio; Waves Adieus

Shows Mastery of All Details She Will Handle on Orient Trip; Readily Responds to Suggestions of Noted Pilot-Husband.

By BESS FURMAN,
Of the Associated Press.

Just a little white helmet in a big black seaplane, Anne Lindbergh, most modern yet most old-fashioned of wives, yesterday thundered off for the Orient.

The radio she had mastered, code and all. Her lap was full of log books to be intricately kept in colored pencils. But she made it perfectly clear to all who watched that her one interest was to give quick response to her husband's voice.

And to every question she had one answer: "You'll have to ask him."

Anne's small hand came out in a final wave of farewell to Anacostia Airport where sailors in boots up to their armpits had waded all morning long to help the Lindberghs off.

The sun beat down on Anne's head, a sun that seemed hotter by reason of black and red paint, metallic pontoons and a glittering Potomac River.

The most patient of wives, she sat in the rear cockpit, testing and retesting the radio which is to be her special charge. Between the earphones of a head-set, her gray eyes were intent, her forehead was slightly puckered in concentration.

The thin, taut wire of a radio antenna with a weight like an apple on the end, ran between Anne in the seaplane and Lindy on shore. Lindy handled it carefully with a frazzed loop of rope, so as not to touch wire or weight.

"Reel in?" Anne would anxiously ask.

And Lindy would answer, "reel in!"

Her eyes never left his face when she was executing orders. Her response to his suggestions was instantaneous. But the minute the tension was off, her smile showed how much she really loved it all.

Anne stuck until she got the last word of a test message, and then came ashore for a last handshake with her friends.

"We'll do all our own refueling of course," Lindbergh was saying to the news men.

And Anne, for whom that meant undoubtedly much straining of muscles, was looking up at him like an old-fashioned wife who had nothing on earth to do but adore.

Premier of Poland Rises With Dawn

Alexander Prystor Gets Eary Start for His Arduous Tasks.

Warsaw, July 28 (A.P.).—A habit of rising with the dawn to get an early start on the day's work is one of the revealing characteristics of Col. Alexander Prystor, new premier of Poland.

He had been in the cabinet two years as minister of labor and minister of commerce when, in May, he became head of the government in succession to Walery Slawek.

Col. Prystor is typical of the Polish patriots who began their revolutionary careers in prewar days and stuck to their cause despite Russian czarist courts and prisons.

Yellowstone Bear Turns On Woman Samaritan

Pocatello, Idaho, July 28 (U.P.).—Mrs. M. F. Williams, 30, labored under the illusion that when a bear enters Yellowstone National Park he becomes, by some mysterious process, as meek and safe as a lamb.

Her ideas on this subject were changed suddenly. She confidently fed a cantankerous bruin by hand the other day. Suddenly the beast grew angry and with one swipe of its paw raked the woman's right forearm to the bone.

Amy Johnson, Aid Land at Moscow

Noted British Aviatrix Flies 12 Hours From Berlin; On Way to Tokyo.

Moscow, July 28 (A.P.).—Amy Johnson, noted British aviatrix, who is attempting a flight from England to Tokyo with Flying Instructor J. Humphreys, brought her plane down here tonight in darkness, after a flight of more than twelve hours from Berlin.

The Berlin - Moscow flight was broken by two stops for fuel; one at Koenigsberg, Germany, and the other at Velikie Luki, Russia.

The fliers seemed very tired. They had only one hour's sleep since they left Hendon, England, yesterday. They encountered heavy rains and thick fog between Berlin and Koenigsberg, which forced them back to the coast line, but the remainder of the trip, they said, was made under favorable conditions.

Texas Girl to Be Wed To European Prince

London, July 28 (U.P.).—A Texas girl, Miss Aleene McFarland, will enter one of the reigning families of Europe within the next few days when she weds Prince Johann von und zu Lichtenstein.

The prince is the heir to reigning Prince Franz of Lichtenstein, the 65 square miles of independent state on the upper Rhine between Austria and Switzerland. Prince Franz is a 76-year-old bachelor.

Corbett to Direct O'Sullivan Estate

Cardinal O'Connell Is Relieved of Administration by Probate Judge.

Cambridge, Mass., July 28 (A.P.).—James F. Corbett, Lowell lawyer, was appointed by the Probate Court today as special administrator of the estate of Humphrey O'Sullivan, rubber heel manufacturer.

O'Sullivan left his estate to William Cardinal O'Connell, Catholic archbishop of Boston, for distribution to charities. Appointement of Corbett was by agreement of counsel, Attorney Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, nephew of the testator, had asked his own appointment in behalf of nephews and nieces not mentioned in the will.

Cardinal O'Connell was represented by Attorney William Flaherty, who stated the estate approximated $400,000 and not from $1,000,000 to $6,000,000 as had been reported.

Luke Lea Lawyer Suddenly Stricken

His Serious Illness Leads to Long Pleas for Continuance.

Asheville, N. C., July 28 (A.P.).—After a day filled with defense motions, counsel for Luke Lea, Tennessee, publisher, and three others charged with conspiring to defraud the Central Bank and Trust Co. here of $1,300,000, announced tonight they were "not nearly through."

The publisher lost his chief counsel today through the sudden and serious illness of L. E. Gwynn, Memphis attorney and twice candidate for Governor of Tennessee. The attorney suffered a series of gastric hemorrhages and tonight his condition was described at Mission Hospital as "serious."

His illness brought lengthy pleas for continuance. Judge M. V. Barnhill held the remaining legal corps sufficient and denied the plea for a two weeks' respite.

Judge Barnhill took under advisement motions to quash the bills of indictment. Arguments regarding a change of venue are expected tomorrow.

Council of Churches Probes Miners' Strike

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 28 (A.P.).—The Federal Council of Churches, through the Rev. James Myers, its industrial secretary, is conducting an investigation of conditions in the bituminous coal strike area of western Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Mr. Myers, whose office is in New York, today said he feared further violence would result if "men are driven to further desperation by the sight of the suffering of their families."

Timber Rattlesnake Killed.

Paris, Tenn., July 28 (U.P.).—A timber rattlesnake, seldom found in this country, wearing six rattles and measuring 47 inches in length, was killed here recently.

Several Hundred Witnesses Watch Take-Off at Naval Air Station.

charge of a nurse today. The junior Lindbergh will spend all of his time with the United States senator's family until the return of his distinguished parents from the Orient.

The Colonel did not announce his destination when he left the airport, but it was understood he intended going to a nearby aviation country club to spend the night and return early tomorrow to supervise repairs to the wireless outfit.

(Associated Press.)

The zest of new adventure yesterday sent Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on the air trail to Tokyo.

Leaving Anacostia Naval Station here at 1:17 p. m., they soared away in the direction of North Haven, Me., scheduled as their first stopping point.

Early in August they expect to reach Tokyo, but the ten hops set on the itinerary are to be made by easy stages, and no definite schedule for landings or take-offs has been fixed.

The excitement which has followed Lindbergh's adventures surrounded the couple yesterday as they left the Capital. Several hundred persons were gathered in the broiling sun at the air station, and the corps on duty there devoted itself almost entirely to bidding America's most famous flying couple good luck.

The Lindberghs flew here late Monday to attend to final details of their trip and obtain visas from the Japanese Embassy. These arrangements were made sooner than expected and early in the forenoon they were at the station preparing their plane for its long flight.

Colonel Watches Servicing.

Bareheaded beneath the hot sun they worked, giving most of their attention to the radio. While Mrs. Lindbergh, clad in riding trousers and shirt, open at the neck, sat in the rear cockpit operating the set, her husband busied himself with the wires. Back and forth they called directions, oblivious to the crowd that hung on every word.

Finally, shortly after noon, a test with the radio station at Long Beach, N. Y., showed the radio in order.

Then the ever-cautious Lindbergh turned to other details. Naval attendants had filled the large pontoons with gas, but with a measuring stick the colonel himself tested each tank. He lifted can after can of gasoline and oil into the upper tanks himself.

Finally, the colonel was satisfied. Declining a luncheon invitation from Capt. W. G. Child, commanding officer of the station, the couple climbed down from the plane for the first time and posed for photographers with David S. Ingalls, Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Aeronautics. Then they shook hands all asound and resumed their places in the trim, stream-lined black and red plane.

Dip Plane in Farewell.

For a few moments they taxied about the Potomac River to warm up the engine, and then with a burst of speed rose from the water. Taking off to the south, they quickly turned northward up the Potomac and, after dipping their wings over the station in farewell, headed across the city.

His speed reduced by the pontoons which have supplanted the plane's landing gear, Lindbergh expected to cruise slowly at 105 to 140 miles an hour during the long journey.

After leaving North Haven, where they will say good-by to their baby and Mrs. Lindbergh's parents, Senator and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, they will fly to Ottawa, and thence across Canada and Alaska to Nome, over the Bering Sea to Siberia and thence to Tokyo.

The longest hops planned are from Baker Lake to Aklavik, across the Arctic Circle, 1,115 miles, and from Nome to Karaginski, 1,000 miles.

After a vacation cruise through Japan and China, Lindbergh said, they probably will fly back to America by a different route.

Bok Theater Work to Start.

Winter Park, Fla., July 28 (U.P.).—Construction of the $100,000 Annie Russell Theater, gift of Mrs. Edward W. Bok, of Philadelphia, to Rollins College here, will start shortly, President Hamilton Holt announced today. The contract has just been let to the George C. Hessler Co., of Jacksonville, Fla., on a "cost guaranteed" basis.

Graf Trails Bergs On Arctic Journey

Dirigible's Next Stop Will Be to Drop Fruits for Science Party.

Moscow, July 28 (A.P.).—The giant German dirigible Graf Zeppelin was nosing its way northward over the iceberg route today after its contact last night with the Russian ice-breaker Maligin, which is carrying a party on an Arctic tour.

The airship alighted upon the open sea near the ice-breaker, in the vicinity of Hooker Island.

Resting on its newly attached pontoons, the dirigible remained stationary while mail was exchanged between the two vessels and then, rising again in a perfect take-off, continued its voyage to the far North.

Ice Floes Shorten Stop.

Small broken ice floes, pressing against the airship's gondolas, prevented it from remaining the full time it intended when it alighted beside the Maligin, radio dispatches said. Otherwise, it was said, conditions were perfect.

If the Zeppelin continues on the route originally planned, as it was indicated it would do when it left its home hangar, its next contact with civilization may bring to a Russian scientist who has been in the Arctic wastes for more than a year some apples, strawberries and other delicacies from home.

Before the ship left Leningrad Sunday morning there had been included among the pile of parcels in its mail cargo one addressed to Prof. Urvantzev at "Nosthern Land, 73 degrees 29 minutes 58 seconds, north latitude, 91 degrees 7 minutes 56 seconds longitude east." Prof. Urvantzev is one of three members of a Russian scientific expedition which has been in the north since last year when the icebreaker Bedov landed them with four years' supplies.

Sent by Professor's Wife.

The bundles of delicacies were sent by Prof. Urvantzev's wife, who also included a bunch of her husband's favorite gilliflowers.

The Graf intended to drop these parcels for the scientist at the address given. The arrival of the airship was expected to mark the first contact the scientists have had from the civilized world since last year, except by radio.

Teachers Advised To Take Initiative

Should Accept Full Social Responsibilities, Head Tells Conference.

Denver, Colo., July 28 A.P.).—Teachers of America were chided for their failure to assume their full social responsibilities in an address by Henry R. Linville, of New York, president of the American Federation of Teachers, in an address at the fourth biennial conference of the World Federation of Education Associations tonight.

"As long as the teachers of the country are willing to sit back supinely and question nothing," said Mr. Linville, "no challenge is made of their work."

He contended that in the new social order, for which the teacher must work, a better understanding among men and among nations can be obtained. Teachers will cease to be followers and become leaders.

Senator Demands 'Tariff Disarming'

George Tells Legislators Grundy Bill Helped Cause Slump.

Atlanta, July 28 (A.P.).—Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, told a joint session of the Georgia Legislature today that "the economic disarmament of nations" was necessary before military and naval disarmament and unemployment could be abolished.

To achieve the end he outlined he said that "the Democratic party must equip itself to assume control of the Government in 1933," by mustering the masses "now as in the days when Jefferson and Jackson and Wilson summoned them to action."

Blaming what he described as "the Grundy tariff," passed by the last Congress, for a large share of the existing depression, Senator George emphasized that the Democratic party "has advanced from the old theory of tariff for revenue only to the theory of a competitive tariff."

"Its doctrine," he said, "is that the duties must permit actual competition, insure against monopoly, but at the same time give adequate protection to American labor and American industry where protection is needed."

Painter's Leg Fractured.

LIEUT. CADDINGTON HEADS SERVICE UNIT

Capt. Cissel Transferred to Duty as Regimental Supply Officer.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Camp Albert C. Ritchie, Cascade, Md., July 28.—Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, commanding the Serv' e Company of the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, now in camp here, tomorrow morning will be relieved of duty with the company and assigned to the regimental staff as regimental supply officer, it was unoffi-ially announced today by Col. D. John Markey, commanding officer. First Lieut. Ward W. Caddington will be made acting captain and assigned to command of the company. The official orders are expected tomorrow morning following the return of the staff of the Fifty-eighth Brigade from war planning at Gettysburg.

Capt. Cissel, of Silver Spring, is an attorney at Rockville and is counsel to the Montgomery County Commissioners. He saw service in France with old Company K and reenlisted in the Silver Spring unit in 1920 when it was reorganized, at that time holding the rating of sergeant. In 1922 he was appointed a lieutenant and in 1923 was given command of the company, with the rank of captain.

Lieut. Caddington enlisted in the company in 1920 as a private and in 1926 was appointed second lieutenant. In 1927 he was made first lieutenant. His appointment will be popular with the men of his command. He is deputy clerk to the county commissioners for the eastern suburban district of Montgomery County and is justice of the peace for Silver Spring.

Private Harris Shines.

A third member of the Service Company achieved distinction today when Private Louis L. Harris, a recruit who had never before fired a rifle, fired a score of 47 out of a possible 50 in preliminary firing on the rifle range.

Preliminary firing on the target ranges was practically completed today by the First Infantry. Firing for record will begin Thursday. Regimental officers said that the records for the preliminary course were exceptionally good this year and predicted an unusually large number of the men would complete the course in the medal class.

Practically all of today and yesterday was devoted to firing on the ranges. Prizes of $5 in each class will be awarded to the enlisted men who make the highest score in rifle, pistol and machine gun marksmanship, Col. Markey announced today.

The regiment will take up technical training tomorrow. Each company commander will work out his own problem for the men of his command to execute. Members of the Fifty-eighth Brigade staff, who are in Gettysburg working out the battle of Gettysburg in accordance with modern warfare methods, will complete their problem today, and tomorrow will return to brigade headquarters in Camp Ritchie. The brigade is commanded by Brig. Gen. Milton A. Reckord.

Athletic Program Mapped.

Arrangements for the athletic programs which will enliven the stay in camp of the regiment are being made by Lieut. Caddington, athletic officer. The tentative program includes boxing, wrestling, baseball, swimming meets and track events. Company commanders have been requested to report to Lieut. Caddington the names of all men in their outfits who will participate in the events.

Headquarters Company, Third Battalion, from Pocomoke City, had the best kitchen at daily inspection today. Sergt. J. W. Willard is in charge of the kitchen. The four companies from Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties also were well up in the list.

An engraved wrist watch will be presented to the enlisted man with the best record of service in the year from July 1, 1930, to July 1, 1931, Col. Markey announced yesterday. Each company commander has been directed to submit the name of the man in his company whom he considers eligible for the award before August 7.

DRY CHIEF AND PROMOTED MEN

Upper, Lieut. Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition administrator, took time out from his military duties at Camp Albert C. Ritchie, Cascade, Md., yesterday to confer with his secretary, Walton Hood Grant, who drove up from Washington with papers of the Prohibition Bureau. Col. Woodcock is in camp with the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard. Lower, Capt. Joseph C. Cissel, left, has been promoted to the regimental staff of the First Regiment, Maryland National Guard, and First Lieut. Ward W. Caddington, right, has been assigned to command of the Service Company from Silver Spring, with the rank of acting captain. They are at Camp Ritchie with the regiment.

MacDONALD HITS HIGH TARIFFS AS WORLD BANKRUPTCY PERIL

has run over to give a hand in time of trouble.

The same spirit is apparent in Mr. MacDonald's conversations with newspaper correspondents. He told them today that his country is unshakably opposed to the balance of power theory as inconsistent with disarmament.

He also made it clear that concrete results in the way of new credits are not to be expected from this visit, but whatever happens will be the result of steady, persistent effort.

Premier to Fly Back.

Mr. MacDonald will fly home tomorrow. Three British army planes which will escort his ship arrived at the Tempelhof Airdrome this afternoon.

Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and Foreign Minister Julius Curtius were making plans to leave for Rome next week to visit Premier Mussolini. It was learned on good authority tonight.

Premier Mussolini was the first of the heads of important European governments to announce acceptance of the Hoover moratorium plan. He invited the German statesmen to Rome immediately after their visit with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain at Chequers.

A communique issued at the British Embassy this evening said the conferences thus far have been concerned with means of putting into operation the recommendations of the recent seven-power conference at London.

The ministers have reviewed the general trade position and measures to alleviate the present difficulty and have discussed the disarmament problem in connection with next year's conference at Geneva.

Henderson Leaves for London.

Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, of Great Britain, left tonight for London after a week-end visit. Both MacDonald and Henderson were honored guests tonight at a dinner given by Sir Horace Rumbold, British Ambassador, to about 50 guests, including Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius.

Dr. Curtius and British Embassy officials went to the station to bid the British Foreign Secretary goodbye. A large crowd, which had gathered there, also sent up a parting cheer. Dr. Curtius walked a short distance beside the moving train, chatting and repeatedly shaking hands with Mr. Henderson.

The dinner was followed by a reception to about 500 guests, among whom were the American Ambassador and Mrs. Sackett, as well as members of the Reichstag, industrial leaders, bankers and diplomats.

Will Create New Bank.

(Associated Press.)

H. L. Groves, commercial attache at Berlin, yesterday notified the Commerce Department that the German government proposes to "restore freedom to the nation's commercial banks in regard to domestic payments at the earliest possible moment, probably introducing important ameliorations on Wednesday for attaining complete freedom at the beginning of next week."

"The German government," Groves added, "believes it urgently necessary to combat forced curtailments in most industries and to alleviate the general public inconvenience due to lack of currency.

"To facilitate resumption of normal banking functions the Reichsbank, with the aid of the German federal government and eleven important Berlin commercial and private banks, have organized a new bank with the name of the Akzept and Garantiebank with capital of 200,000,000 marks (approximately $48,000,000) to function as a sort of clearing house between banks; also to permit reopening of the Darmstaeder Bank.

Oleomargarine Dispute Filed in Supreme Court

(Associated Press.)

The Supreme Court has been asked to decide just what is and what isn't oleomargarine.

Announcement was made by the Justice Department yesterday that two petitions in behalf of the Government had been filed in the highest tribunal, asking a review of cases involving the Standard Nut Margerine Co. of Florida, and whether its product is taxable as oleomargarine.

PARIS BANKERS AID ENGLAND WITH GOLD

Conferences Result in United Support of Pound; Sum Involved Not Fixed.

Paris, July 28 (A.P.).—French bankers have confirmed reports that conferences in the past few days between Sir Robert Kinderaley, a director of the Bank of England, and Clement Moret, governor of the Bank of France, served to prepare a plan for continued French support of the pound sterling.

Whether any definite accord on a new basis was reached is considered unessenial at present, the important fact being that both banks agreed on principles to be followed in preventing the tide of gold from sweeping out of England.

The method adopted, it is understood, consists in the Bank of France rediscounting commercial paper which already has been rediscounted and guaranteed by the Bank of England.

Amount of Advance.

The amount thus advanced by France would not be a fixed sum, it is believed, but might have a limit set at the amount of French funds already in England.

A week ago that amount was about $500,000,000, but recent gold withdrawals reduced the total to about $350,000,000. It is thought here that no such sum would be required for maintaining the gold level of the Bank of England and the quotations on the pound sterling. An ample limit, it is thought, would be about $100,000,000, with provision for an increase if required.

Other measures are understood to be under consideration to prevent what has been called "gold bullion profiteering" by buying gold in London and selling it in Paris.

This operation has been made possible by purchase of gold through a private bank in Paris. England buys gold only at a price fixed by itself, and most of its gold comes from the British colonial mines.

France's Gold Buying.

Gold purchases by the Bank of France are governed by a law, which fixes the price in accordance with market quotations in which gold bullion, the French franc and the pound sterling are involved.

Bankers ridicule any tendency to ascribe sentimental or political motives to the negotiations now under way. France is less a lender than England, and was unfortunate in its largest prewar loan to Russia, they assert, and it is not unnatural that investors might be inclined to withdraw their funds should they become apprehensive.

Sir Robert Kinderaley left Paris today for London to confer with his colleagues in the Bank of England and possibly with Chancellor Philip Snowden.

Airplane Regulations Discussed at Meeting

(Associated Press.)

Forty-five representatives of air transport lines from throughout the country discussed yesterday with Commerce Department officials whether the Government should issue to pilots certificates of competency.

The conference was called by department officials to discuss practical operation rules and regulations. Several changes in regulations were approved during the morning session. They dealt with certain safety factors.

Shipping Board Passes Sale of Diamond Lines

(Associated Press.)

A contract covering sale of the American Diamond Lines to the Black Diamond Steamship Corporation of New York was approved yesterday by the Shipping Board. It has not yet been signed, however.

The line consists of twelve 10-knot cargo vessels plying from United States North Atlantic ports to Rotterdam and Antwerp. The price of $1,660,181 is predicated upon construction of five 16-knot steamers and reconstruction of five to give them 13 knots' speed. Should these improvements not be made the price will be $2,927,027.

Chicago Makes Bids For Both Conventions

Definite assurance that prominent Chicagoans are prepared to cover the underwriting expenses if the Republican and Democratic presidential conventions are held in the Windy City next year is given in a letter which was sent yesterday by Edward N. Hurley to the full membership of both national committees. Mr. Hurley is chairman of the Chicago citizens committee.

In support of the city's qualifications for the selection, the letter points to superior hotel accommodations, a convention hall which can accommodate 25,000 and central location.

"Public Enemy" Freed At Vagrancy Hearing

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—Because James Belcastro, reputed "king of bombers," owns a $25,000 home and paid $500 in income tax recently, he can not be classed as a vagrant, Judge Francis Borrelli ruled today.

Belcastro was one of the 28 "public enemies" for whom Judge John H. Lyle issued vagrancy warrants last year. The State's attorney ordered the case nolle prossed after continuances since last November.

Texas Governor Issues Call for Cotton Parley

Austin, Tex., July 28 (A.P.).—Gov. Ross S. Sterling today issued a call for a conference here next Tuesday of governors and lieutenant governors of cotton-growing States to discuss the cotton overproduction problem.

The call was sent out after the adoption of a resolution by the Legislature, asking that such a step be taken in an effort to aid the cotton farmer.

The GIRL About Town

I AM so thrilled! I met Col. Lindbergh just before his departure on the world flight! I went to the drug store, and Col. Lindbergh was walking along S street talking to Undersecretary of State William R. Castle, jr. Will Castle is so dear; he knew I wanted to meet Lindbergh, and stopped talking about passports and Oriental potentates to introduce me. The hero did not say much, but he has the sweetest smile! No wonder Ann is crazy about him. I longed to ask him to send me a postal card from Peiping, but I didn't dare. I'll never forget Secretary Castle's kindness, and if he wants my vote for Secretary of State he can have it at any time.

Vice President Curtis wears blue and white suspenders! You may wonder how I know. Well, I was taking Cynthia's cousin from Norfolk through the Capitol, and we passed the Vice President's office and peeped in. There sat the V. P. himself at a wonderful cherry red table in a lovely chair with a back nearly 6 feet in height, and of carved and filigree wood. He had a linen suit. His coat was off, however, and we saw a nifty blue and white shirt with those natty suspenders. I thought men had stopped wearing them. But the V. P. is old-fashioned about some things, and I guess belts do not appeal to him.

• • • •

Later in the day Cynthia's cousin saw Mrs. Gann, the Vice President's sister and official hostess. We were driving past her Cleveland Park home and there she was on the porch, rocking away. I adored her dainty flowered dress. Now Cynthia's cousin can tell all about her at the bridge luncheon in Norfolk.

THERE is nothing sleepy about 65-year-old Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy, when he plays tennis. I saw him battling that autogiro wonder, David Ingalls, at Chevy Chase Club yesterday. Dave is a fine player, but Secretary Adams comes from a go-getting family. My, how the balls flew!

The last time I saw Secretary Adams he was at a meeting in Constitution Hall getting a nap or two between speeches. He pulled himself sharply awake when Representative Ruth Bryan Owen began to talk. She's a dynamo all right, and could have given her father lessons in oratory. I was so glad to hear that Ruth and Fannie Hurst escaped drowning the other day when their launch capsized in those foreign waters.

• • • •

One of the summer widowers told me such a nice story about Ruth over our iced tea. An old friend of her father's censored every speech she made—after it was delivered, of course—with this remark, "Your father would not have said that," or "your father would not have done that."

"I do not doubt it," answered Ruth. "He was a great man of his time and I am trying to be a great woman of this age."

Dining at the Congressional Country Club last night, my partner told me that Miss Anne Randolph, former secretary to Mrs. Coolidge, is going to write a book on Washington society. No one is better equipped for the task, and "Polly," as her friends call her, has a delicious, quiet humor that would add to its merit considerably.

Arm Lost in Auto Crash.

Houston, Tex., July 28 (A.P.).—Gordon Pulliam, 27, of New York, business representative for International News Service, lost his right arm in an automobile accident here shortly before midnight last night. The arm was so badly mangled it had to be amputated.

STIMSON CONFIDENT GERMANY WILL WIN

Says He Finds No Indication Reich Is on Brink of Revolution.

London, July 28 (A.P.).—Confidence that Germany will weather her economic crisis was expressed today by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson on his return to England after a two-day visit to the German capital.

"But," he said, "the problem of the Reich is to return to work."

He indicated that, in his opinion, Germany needs money but will be unable to gain the credits she must have eventually until she reestablishes confidence. This, he said, she can not do by continuing a plaintive role.

The Secretary said he found no indications that Germany was on "the brink of revolution." In all his meanderings with Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius, he said, there was not a single hostile demonstration.

Improvement Already Seen.

Germany's problem, he said, is essentially her own and not until she helps herself will the help she needs be forthcoming from the rest of the world. There are indications, he added, that the Reich realizes this and some definite improvement in her status has been noted already.

He described his view of the German situation as "very encouraging."

Problems of the approaching disarmament conference were discussed in some detail during his visit to Berlin. He said the German ministers told him that the country is arming even less than the limits prescribed by the Versailles treaty. He said he told them that they would go to the conference at Geneva next year with an exceptionally strong case.

Luncheons With Dawes.

Comment indicating a widespread and growing desire for friendly relations with France was heard everywhere, he said, and he believed that some such arrangement may be made in the near future.

The secretary had luncheon with Ambassador Charles G. Dawes today. The Ambassador returned from a vacation in the United States and the two American statesmen arranged to meet again before Secretary Stimson goes up to Scotland on Friday for the opening of the grouse-shooting season.

Secretary Stimson is to be the dinner guest of Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson Thursday night and he probably will meet Prime Minister MacDonald there.

Boatman Drowns; 7 Children Saved

Boys and Girls Are Taken From River as Motor Launch Sinks.

Norristown, Pa., July 28 (A.P.).—Seven boys and girls from the Northern Home for Friendless Children, Philadelphia, were rescued from Perkiomen Creek, near here, today, when a motor boat sank, drowning the man who had them in charge.

The dead man was Walter Gilbert, 23, a native of Cleveland, Ohio.

Shortly after the boys and girls, 11 to 15 years old, were taken on the motor boat for a ride by Gilbert, it began to sink. Three boys in a camp on the other side of the creek and John Smith, of Reading, Pa., who was fishing in a row boat, saw the plight of the children. Smith pulled into his boat several of the children who could not swim. The others were helped ashore by the boys.

Three Essential Factors Determine the Value of—

DIAMONDS

1. Color — The finest color diamonds have no tinge of yellow. They are as clear as a drop of pure distilled water. "Off-color" diamonds are worth much less than finest color gems.

2. Perfection — A perfect diamond is absolutely flawless—not just apparently so to the eye, but flawless when examined under a powerful magnifying glass.

3. Exact Weight — "Carat" is a unit of weight. One carat equals 100 "points." Know the exact weight of the diamond you buy!

None of these three essentials can be omitted from an accurate description of a diamond.

Man Hoover Pardoned Held on Liquor Charge

Detroit, July 28 (A.P.).—Max Kropidlowski, 43, one of the few Federal prisoners in Michigan ever to receive a presidential pardon, was arrested by Federal prohibition officers yesterday, charged with having a still in his basement.

The plight of Kropidlowski's two young sons, after their mother had been found dead while their father was serving a term for bootlegging last spring, was brought to the attention of President Hoover and resulted in issuance of a pardon on May 10. Kropidlowski had three weeks of a four months' sentence to serve at the time.

ABDICATION REPORT DENIED BY ALFONSO

Friends of Exiled Monarch Say Foes Faked Story to Discredit King.

London, July 28 (A.P.).—Spain's shadowy throne still has as its regal claimant, the debonair Alfonso, born king, but registered at a London hotel as plain Duque de Toledo.

A published story purporting to give an account of a dramatic meeting in which he, his two elder sons and Don Jaime, Carlist pretender to the throne, renounced the Spanish crown in favor of his third son, Don Juan, he refuted today with the words, "There is no truth in it."

Tonight to friends he recalled the words of the manifesto in his own hand, left behind when he departed from Madrid last April: "'I am a Spaniard * * *. I renounce none of my rights, because rather than my own, they are a deposit accumulated by history, and I shall one day have to give a strict account of their keeping."

The explanation of those close to Alfonso of the "story" of his abdication is that it was a piece of propaganda by his enemies, in an attempt to discredit him in the eyes of the Spanish people.

"It is common knowledge that there has been a terrible drought in Spain, and agrarian troubles are extremely acute among large numbers of the population, who are suffering from lack of water and food," one of them said tonight.

"Now, therefore, think the King's enemies, is the time to dispose of him for good. Thus the amazing scene at Fontainebleau, which has not the slightest foundation in fact. Alfonso's determination and convictions are just as they were in the dark days of April, unchanged in any phase."

Alfonso has with him the infante Don Juan, who, since he is the only one of Alfonso's children whose health permits consideration as an heir must some day take up his father's mantle as claimant—or king.

Don Juan, is a student at Dartmouth Naval Academy. He and his father were reunited today at Paddington Station, when Don Juan arrived with others of his school in a third class coach for the vacation season. It was probable that he would go with his father back to Fontainebleau to spend the rest of the summer with his family there.

5 SMALL CHILDREN SHOT BY GANGSTERS

leys fled, wailing, for shelter. Others stood mute with horror.

The car was barely moving. The man in the niche tried to draw himself up into a still smaller target. More shots, more screams, and then the marked figure was seen to slump.

An order was barked from the back seat of the touring car and the driver sent it roaring away.

The child in the carriage, Michael Bevialcqua, 3, had stopped his crying. Two of the dozen or more slugs that went through the carriage had lodged in his back.

Four small figures lay moaning on the sidewalk. Salvatore Vangali, 7, had been shot in the left arm, left leg and left side. His brother, Michael, 5, had a wound in his right thigh. A bullet had gone through the left leg of Samuel Devino, 5. The shoulder of Florence D'Amello, 12, had been nicked by another piece of lead. The baby and Salvatore are not expected to live.

As hysterical mothers came on the run from all directions, Frank Scalesi, 14, crawled from under his lemonade stand. A half dozen holes had been torn in the box.

Before the frantic mothers could learn which of their children had been victims the wounded were taken in automobiles and trucks to nearby hospitals.

U. S. FIGHTS POWER BOARD QUESTIONING

Federal Judge in Virginia Is Asked to Quash Papers Calling Members.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., July 28.—Raising a question of jurisdiction in the suit of the Appalachian Electric Power Co. against the Federal Power Commission as to service of process in the litigation, Seth W. Richardson, Assistant Attorney General, of Washington, moved the court, Judge H. C. McDowell, to quash the service of papers on the five members of the commission. It was maintained that they are residents of Washington and, therefore, not under the jurisdiction of the Federal court in Virginia.

Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, Ohio, former Secretary of War, argued that the service was under a Federal statute. He said the company was not complaining of the statute, but because five members of the commission got together and placed an illegal prohibition on its property in Virginia.

The company contends that the order of the commission to require it to secure a permit to dam New River, a nonnavigable stream, has clouded the title to its property and the suit is to remove the cloud and it should be tried in the court for the Western District of Virginia.

Raymond T. Jackson, of Appalachian, declared the commission's ruling interfered with the marketability and most beneficial use of lands owned by the power company. He said their lands cost $8,000,000 and the company must enter the money market to finance the move.

Attorneys for both sides insisted that today's action was a preliminary one to decide the legality or illegality of service in the suit and that constitutionality of the water power act or the action of the commissioners in the present case was not involved. Later, the case may be heard on its merits. In requesting the court to quash the service of subpenas on the commissioners, Mr. Richardson said it was not his idea to ask that the entire case be thrown out, since it was possible that personal service might be had on individual commissioners at some future time within the district. When a United States marshal undertook to serve notice on the commissioners in the District of Columbia, the subpenas were returned marked "Not found." Later warning notices were sent out by the court notifying the commissioners to appear and plead.

Women Assemble To Work for Peace

24 Countries Represented in Vienna; New York Woman Speaks.

Vienna, July 28 (A.P.).—Business and professional women of 24 countries were urged here tonight by Lena Madesin Phillips, of New York, president of their international congress, to work for disarmament and peace.

Asserting that women have proved themselves "equal to men in mental powers—even though we may not be their equals in experience," Miss Phillips, president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, called on the delegates to bring about the destruction of racial and economic barriers.

This, she said, "is woman's hour—her hour to strike for the achievement of that which is closest to her heart—disarmament among the nations and peace throughout the world."

PERU CELEBRATES INDEPENDENCE DAY

Mass Held in Cathedral and Troops Pass in Review; Chilean Envoy Quits.

Lima, Peru, July 28 (U.P.).—Peru observed the 110th anniversary of its declaration of independence today. A te deum mass was held in the Cathedral at noon and Provisional President David Samanez Ocampo, his cabinet, the diplomatic corps and high army and navy officials attended.

The customary military parade followed and the president reviewed the troops from the presidential palace.

A statue of Domingo Faustingo Sarmiento, Argentine educator, was unveiled and presented to the City of Lima by the municipal council of Buenos Aires.

Conrado Rios Gallardo informed the United Press today that he had resigned "irrevocably" as Chilean Ambassador to Peru as a result of the overthrow of the Ibanez government. Rios Gallardo was at one time in a cabinet of the Ibanez government. He said he would reside in Santiago, Chile, and await political developments.

Invasion of Brazil By Bolivia Is Denied

Asuncion, Paraguay, July 28 (U.P.). The newspaper El Diario today published a dispatch from Corumba saying that Bolivian troops entered Brazilian territory July 20, in the vicinity of Yatedigo and carried off 24 Brazilian nationals to Puerto Suarez, where they were detained.

La Paz, Bolivia, July 28 (U.P.).—The foreign office and war office denied today Asuncion reports that Bolivian troops had invaded Brazilian territory June 20.

Corrientes Revolt Held Part of Big Conspiracy

Buenos Aires, July 28 (U.P.).—The police department today made public a 2,000-word document charging that last week's military uprising at Corrientes originated as part of a widespread plot to overthrow Argentina's provisional government.

About 100 persons have been arrested in connection with the conspiracy and are being held incommunicado, the announcement said.

Struck by a taxicab after she had stepped from a street car in front of her home at 3800 Fourteenth street northwest, Mrs. Neddie Murga, 61, yesterday suffered a fracture of the left ankle. She was treated in her home by a private physician. Police reported that the cab was driven by John J. Rosati, 23, of 941 H street northwest.

Los Angeles, July 28 (A.P.).—Mrs. Janet Gattis-McCormick said tonight she will leave tomorrow for Reno, Nev., to seek a divorce from John McCormick, former motion picture producer, the principal reason being, she explained, that McCormick weeps whenever he sees a photograph of his first wife, Colleen Moore, of the films.

McCormick and Mrs. Gattis, who formerly lived in Washington, D. C., were married at Honolulu recently when the McCormick-Moore divorce became final. Shortly after McCormick's return here, following the break with his bride, he declared he still loved Miss Moore.

Mrs. Gattis-McCormick said she would charge mental cruelty. McCormick announced today a property settlement had been effected.

Europe's Leaders Are Called Masters

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler Says Continent Has No Thought of War.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler returned today from Europe on the liner Majestic, carrying "an outstanding impression" of the "marked ability of the responsible leaders of Central European states."

He spoke of the "firm grasp" these central European leaders have upon "the responsible elements of the problems which face the world, and their determined purpose to seek the solution of those problems through peaceful discussion and consideration, and, when necessary, through judicial arbitrament."

"There is absolutely no talk of war and no thought of war in central Europe," the president of Columbia University said. "Everywhere the economic problem takes precedence over all else. What is most needed at the moment is a quick and skilled examination of this problem with a view to influencing and guiding public opinion everywhere. The race is between constructive and social solution of the economic problem which faces the world. This is why haste is necessary," he concluded.

Decentralization Plans Taking Shape in Brazil

Puerto Alegre, Brazil, July 28 (U.P.). A plan for radical decentralization of the Brazilian government, creating a federation of states, reducing the powers of the president, and abolishing the national Senate and the office of vice president, was made public today by political leaders of the state of Rio Grande do Sul.

WOMEN TO CONDUCT ASSEMBLY SERVICES

Program Today of Piedmont Christian Church Body Has Many Features.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., July 28.—Tomorrow will be Woman's Day in the calendar of the Piedmont District Assembly of the Christian Church, now holding its thirty-fourth annual session at Assembly Park, near Gordonsville, with Mrs. H. H. Walker, of this city, in charge of the devotions.

The day's program will begin with a prayer service led by Mrs. B. C. Shumate, of Baltimore, followed by Bible study conducted by Mrs. F. W. Long, of Clifton, Forge. Others who will take part in the program are Mrs. R. A. Cooper, Mrs. A. C. Knibb, Mrs. George W. Oliver, Mrs. W. S. Hoye, Mrs. Frank Lightfoot and Miss Annie White. At the close of the afternoon session Mrs. Oliver will meet the women for a conference, while Mrs. Carson and Mrs. Johnson will meet with the boys and girls. The Rev. Richard Bagby will preach the evening sermon.

Thursday and Friday will be devoted to district work. Ministers on the program for addresses Thursday are the Rev. C. M. Ford, of Louisa; Dr. J. T. T. Hundley, of Lynchburg College; the Rev. R. A. Cooper, the Rev. A. C. Knibb, the Rev. Percy Thomas, the Rev. J. A. Tate and the Rev. P. A. Cave, of Martinsburg, W. Va.

A memorial service, conducted by the Rev. W. S. Hoye, of Louisa, will feature Friday's program. "Flaming Evangelism" will be the topic discussed by H. D. Coffey, and the 11 o'clock address will be by the Rev. Percy Thomas. At 2:30 in the afternoon Mrs. F. W. Long and Mrs. B. C. Shumate, of Baltimore, will give echoes of the world convention. The Rev. Edwin S. Sweeney, of this city, was scheduled to preach the night sermon, but his place will have to be filled by another, as he left here yesterday for Wyoming to spend the month of August in camp. He will be joined at Lexington, Ky., by his brother, the Rev. William Sweeney.

On the closing day of the session Dr. F. W. Burnham, of Richmond, will preach in the morning and afternoon, and the Rev. W. S. Hoye at night.

Liner President Hoover Leaves Newport News

Newport News, Va., Juyy 28 (A.P.). The President Hoover, the largest merchant ship ever built in an American yard, sailed today for New York to be inaugurated into the service of the Dollar Lines.

The vessel will sail from New York August 6 for Manila by way of San Francisco. The $8,000,000 ship was delivered to her owners on July 11, but had remained here until today.

5 Sewer Jobs Let By Commissioners

Peter D'Adamo Company Is Awarded Largest Contract.

Five sewer construction contracts were let yesterday by the District Commissioners. The largest job went to Peter D'Adamo Construction Co. on an estimate of $38,993.82. This is for the construction of the Stickfoot Branch stormwater sewer, section six, Sheridan and Pomeroy roads southeast. The same concern was given the Calvert street sanitary sewer job on a bid of $3,901.30.

Roy D. Schlegel was awarded two contracts, a replacement sewer at Third and I streets northwest, $3,392.33; and the W street service sewer, between Thirty-ninth street and Huidekoper place northwest, $1,156.82.

The J. B. McCrary Co. was awarded the job of building the Bening road stormwater sewer across Anacostia Park on its bid of $22,899.53.

EXHILARATING!

AS EXHILARATING as a cool, thrilling ride on an aquaplane are the breezes you get from an electric fan. An electric fan gently stirring a breeze in your bedroom on a hot night makes you "fit as a king" the next morning. You are fully refreshed after a good night's sleep while folks who don't know the joy of owning an electric fan come to work with tired body and mind and frayed nerves. They'd appreciate telling them just how cheaply can have cool, restful nights . . . made possible by the exceedingly low rates of "Matchless Service" for operating electric fans.

"It so happens I don't smoke..."

BUT I've noticed recently that more of my girl friends are smoking CHESTERFIELD, and I asked why.

"One of them said that CHESTERFIELDS really are milder and taste better—that there is nothing strong or sharp or bitter about them.

"Another one spoke up and said that she too liked the taste of CHESTERFIELDS; but that she was especially pleased with the package—so neat and attractive. Chesterfields—she added—are made right—properly filled—and burn evenly; and she thought possibly they were using a better cigarette paper.

"Still another one agreed with all we'd said. She'd been smoking CHESTERFIELDS for a long, long time, and had always liked them; but she also liked the way they were advertised. The advertising seemed to her to be the truth and the whole truth—it wasn't always knocking somebody or something!"

SAM MAJOR DIES; CONGRESS VETERAN

Missouri Representative's Death Gives Republicans 2 Majority in House.

Fayette, Mo., July 28 (A.P.).—Death today ended the career of Representative Sam C. Major, 62, a Democratic leader of the State and veteran representative in Congress from the Seventh Missouri District, and restored the Republican majority in the National House to two, which resulted from the last election.

Representative Major, who was serving his fifth term in Congress, died at 2:20 p. m. He suffered a paralytic stroke July 19. He was elected to his fifth term in 1930 election, after being defeated in the Republican landslide in 1928. He also lost out one term, in the 1920 Republican landslide. He was elected to Congress first in 1918. Prior to that he served in the Missouri Senate.

The representative was one of twelve Democrats in the present Missouri delegation of sixteen, but under Federal reallocation, based on the 1930 census, Missouri will have only thirteen representatives next time. Unless the State is redistricted before the next election, they will be elected from the State-at-large.

Meantime, Gov. Caulfield will have to call a special election in the Seventh District to elect Major's successor. The representative's funeral will be held here Thursday afternoon. His widow and two daughters, both married, survive.

Valuation of Sligo Land Is Looked For Today

A Montgomery County petit jury is expected to decide today what price shall be paid for 12½ acres of land in Sligo Valley which the park and planning commission needs for the development of this park project. Testimony of the commission's witnesses was finished yesterday, and some of the witnesses for the property owners were heard.

The remainder of the property owners' side will be heard today, after which the jury will consider the case. The tract consists of land owned by Frank M. Heath, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Howland and L. S. Baggett, all of whom are represented by Attorney John S. White, of Cottage City.

Hit-Run Auto Escapes Through Traffic Jam

A large sedan, bearing Illinois license plates, succeeded in weaving through dense rush hour traffic late yesterday and getting away after colliding with a taxicab at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest. Agnes Berg, passenger in the cab, was treated for hysteria at Emergency Hospital.

The accident occurred while the intersection was jammed with hundreds of pedestrians and cars of clerks home bound from the Internal Revenue Bureau and other governmental departments. William Andrews, 43, 940 Massachusetts avenue northwest, was driving the cab.

Worker's Death Fall Declared Accidental

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a decision of accidental death in the case of Roland Jackson, Negro workman, who last Friday died after a fall from a scaffold at the Westchester Apartments, Thirty-ninth street and Cathedral avenue northwest.

Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt had ordered the inquiry after Jackson's death, which was the third fatality at the apartment building in recent months.

Bootleggers Use Ice Pick Weapon

Border Smugglers' Arrests Reveals Wide Variety of Armaments.

El Paso, Tex., July 28 (U.P.).—A variety of weapons is used by the liquor smuggler, but the ice pick is about as effective as any when it comes to a fight in close quarters, border patrolmen claim.

A collection of curious types of weapons has been seized by border patrolmen. These weapons range from nail pullers to ice picks, with a small number of obsolete pistols. Occasionally, however, remarkably good firearms are taken from smugglers and persons seeking to enter the United States illegally. The ice pick is sometimes sharpened to a needle's point.

Persons seeking to enter the country illegally usually arm themselves with some sort of weapon, border patrolmen report.

But it is believed that most illegal entries carry weapons more for moral support than anything else. Few of them would use them except when they have an absolute advantage over the officers.

lum from a point of suffering to one of anxiety. A severe electrical storm swooped down on New York in the afternoon, but the temperature dropped only 3 degrees, from 93 to 90. A high wind laid waste an area near Winnipeg, Canada, breaking the back of a three-day heat wave. Severe storms were also reported in North Dakota and Minnesota. Freak storms brought temporary relief to the parched area in southwestern United States.

The heat prostrations reported here yesterday were: George Williams, colored, 59 years old, of 1301 First street southwest, while working at Thirteenth street and Constitution avenue northwest, taken to Emergency Hospital, condition undetermined; Mary Skinner, colored, of 951 Twenty-fifth street northwest, while doing housework, Emergency Hospital, condition undertermined; James Pink, 60 years old, of 723 Seventh street southeast, while at work, Emergency Hospital, condition undetermined; Wesley Lynn, colored, 36 years old, of 908 Sixth street southeast, while at this address, Casualty Hospital, condition undetermined; Geraldine Dunston, colored, 26 years old, 1644 Fourth street southwest, while working at home, Freedmen's Hospital, later returned home; Henry Walton, colored, 39 years old, of 1730 Montello avenue northeast, at Nebraska avenue and Northampton street northwest, Georgetown Hospital, condition undetermined.

HORSE SHOW OPENS ON HERRING ESTATE

Special to The Washington Post.

Nokesville, Va., July 28.—Annual Prince William County horse show on the grounds of the H. W. Herring estate, near here, will open tomorrow with one of the largest entry lists ever received, while demand for ringside parking space assures a large gathering of hunt and show ring followers to witness the first day's program.

Classes to be judged tomorrow morning include thoroughbred stallions, thoroughbred brood mares, brood mares, thoroughbred sucklings, halfbred sucklings, thoroughbred yearlings and halfbred yearlings, ending with a special class for yearlings suitable to become hunters. A recess will be taken at noon, and numerous luncheon parties will be given in the clubhouse.

The afternoon program, beginning at 1:15 o'clock, will find judges viewing entries in classes for saddle ponies and 3-year-old hunters, the open saddle class, classes for green hunters and hacks and hunters, the touch-and-out class, the 3-year-old handicap, open to all jumpers; pony and farmers' races and events will conclude with the usual mule race.

Thursday morning will be devoted to horses shown in hand, the novice saddle class and the pony jumping class, with six events in jumping, and pony, farmers' and mule races.

Dead Tag and Other Charges Net $20 Fine

It's worth all of $20 to drive a car with dead tags, without a permit, down the wrong way on a one-way street, according to Judge Gus A. Schuldt, who fined Carlton Taylor, colored, a grand total of that amount in Police Court yesterday.

Policeman R. J. Walter told the court Taylor drove the wrong way past the police booth at the East end of the Anacosta Bridge. Walter charged Taylor had no permit and admitted transferring tags to his car from another car that had been wrecked.

May End French Monopoly.

Rio de Janeiro, July 28 (U.P.).—Insistent reports are to the effect that the monopoly exercised by French manufacturers in supplying the Brazilian army with aviation material is soon to be broken. The combine was first effected twelve years ago when the French army mission first came here. Breaking of the monopoly would allow other nations to enter bids for aviation materials.

FROSTBURG EXPECTS 1,500 LEGIONNAIRES

Plans Virtually Completed for State Convention; Opens August 20.

Frostberg, Md., July 28 (A.P.).—Preparations to receive the more than 1,500 delegates to the State convention of the American Legion here August 20 have been completed, according to Rudolph Nickel, chairman of the State convention committee.

Officials of the legion here, determined to make the meeting one of the most successful in history, have been working steadily for months on their plans for the three-day meeting. More than 60 legionnaires have places on the various committees.

Arrangements have been made to have the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad run special trains from Baltimore to Frostburg, while many posts throughout the State have chartered buses to bring them to the Western Maryland city.

Already scores of members of the legion have written to make reservations, indicating an unusually heavy attendance, as officers of the organization said that usually such arrangements are left until a few days before the start of the meetings.

The decorations committee has made contracts calling for the erection of eighteen arches along the main convention street. Thousands of incandescent bulbs will create an artificial white way during the convention.

One of the highlights of the convention will be the banquet session to be held on the night of August 21, with Gov. Ritchie and Louis E. Johnson, candidate for national commander of the legion, listed as the main speakers.

First-aid stations will be maintained at the convention headquarters with county public health nurses in charge. The Catholic Daughters of America will serve sandwiches and coffee to legionnaires during the outdoor events.

MYSTERY DISPELLED IN DEMISE OF MAN

J. Kelly, Detective Sergts. John F. Flaherty and Robert Barrett began an investigation of the case. Lieut. John H. Fowler, ballistics expert, was called in to examine the gun, which, he said, had not been fired recently.

The investigation was abandoned when Coroner Nevitt announced that Robinson had died from natural causes. The specific cause of death was a pulmonary oedema, which is a kind of strangling by blood filling the lungs.

In addition to his son, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Minnie Boyce Robinson, and a daughter, Mrs. Flora Buchanan. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock from the W. W. Chambers funeral home, 1400 Chapin street. Burial will be in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Fairfax Firemen To Get More Hose

Conference Decides to Use Balance of Money on Hand for Purpose.

Chiefs of the five volunteer fire departments in Fairfax County, in conference with County Engineer F. Novell Larkin, decided to spend the balance of the money raised by a 3 per cent tax levy for fire protection, to purchase additional fire hose.

Approximately $4,000 of the $4,500 alloted for county-wide fire protection in the budget last year has been collected to date, according to a statement made by Mr. Larkin.

Hose protectors for hose laid across the highways when fighting fires, will be built by carpenters at the county equipment depot. One set of protectors will be kept at each fire engine house with extra guards for distribution as needed in emergencies.

The Fairfax County Firemen's Association plans to renew its attempt to secure better cooperation with the telephone company in handling fire calls at the Clarendon exchange, President J. H. Beattie, of McLean, stated.

It was stated that last Thursday at the fire near Franklin Park the Clarendon operators referred the call to the Cherrydale and Ballston companies instead of the Falls Church department, which was less than a mile from the fire.

Hot Oratory Is Promised By Butler When He Quits

General Vows He'll Tell "Some People Who Abuse Marine Corps Where the Hell to Get Off;" May Run for Senate.

(United Press.)

Smedley Darlington Butler, the rampant Quaker Marine, sprang back into public notice yesterday with a warning that when he retires October 1 he is going to tell "some of the people who abuse our corps where the hell to get off."

Butler, who will observe his sixtieth birthday Thursday, retires on October 1 to deliver a series of lectures and, it is suspected, to run for the Senate from Pennsylvania. The Marine major general has purchased a home in Philadelphia, it is reported.

He made his new outburst on a river trip Monday night with a Marine veterans' organization, and cries of "No, no," arose when he reiterated his intention to quit on October 1. His 30 years of service with accumulated leave make him eligible for retirement at that time.

If Butler runs for the Senate next year, he will oppose Senator James J. Davis in the spring primaries for the Republican nomination. Davis is regarded as certain to run to succeed himself, having been elected for an unexpired two-year term in 1930. Gossip has brought in the name of retiring Chairman Henry P. Fletcher, of the Tariff Commission, as another possible Pennsylvania senatorial candidate. At President Hoover's request, Fletcher yesterday postponed his retirement for two months, until November.

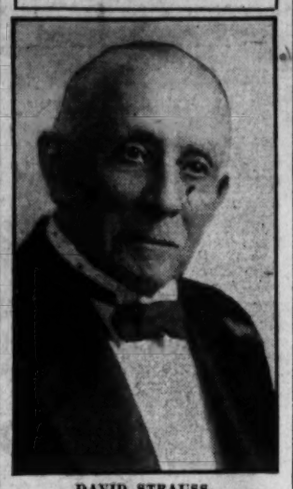
Butler has a political background as well and experience in politics as well as the military. His late father was one of the stalwarts of the Pennsylvania Republican delegation in Congress for many years. Butler's experience as safety director of Philadelphia gave him a close insight into his State's politics as practiced, an insight which led him into several pointed attacks against various obstacles to law enforcement.

Butler said he would "like" to be senator, but that his plans were indefinite, following his recent clashes with the Italian and Haitian envoys here. Italian Ambassador De Martino received an apology from this Government because of Butler's public remarks about Mussolini, but a Navy court-martial of the general, called by Secretary Adams, was quickly called off. Butler protested to the Navy because Haitian Minister Belegarde was reported to have said he never heard of Fort Riviere, the capture of which brought Butler his distinguished service medal. A few days later Butler was cut off of the air during a radio speech because he used the word "hell."

His earlier years were filled with almost as many exciting episodes as the latest one.

Senator Davis, former Secretary of Labor, is regarded here as powerful politically, but the fact that both he and Senator David A. Reed are from the western part of the State may help Butler if he seeks the nomination as a Philadelphian.

DIES AT 80



DAVID STRAUSS.

David Strauss Dies After Brief Illness

Masons to Hold Service at Grave After Rites Tomorrow.

David Strauss, 80 years old, 2630 Adams Mill road northwest, died yesterday morning at his home after a short illness. He had lived here 65 years, coming from Frankfort, Germany.

Since coming to Washington he had been engaged in a number of business enterprises, among them Saks & Co. and Marx & Strauss. He was recently elected an honorary member of Osiris Lodge, F. A. A. M.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Bertha Herman Strauss; two sons, Harold and Leon Strauss, and one daughter, Mrs. Harry Loeb. Funeral service will be at the late residence tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, with interment at the Washington Hebrew Cemetery. Masonic services will be held at the grave.

Caywood Funeral To Be Held Today

Masonic Rites Will Mark Service for Head of Realty Firm.

Funeral service for Charles B. Caywood, 6838 Sixth street northwest, who died Monday, will be at the late residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment at Glenwood Cemetery. The service will be conducted by Harmony Lodge, No. 17, F. A. A. M.

Mr. Caywood was president of Caywood Bros. & Garrett, Inc., realty dealers, and was 72 years old. He had been in real estate business in Washington 47 years. He came to Washington from Herndon, Fairfax County, Va., where he was born in 1859.

He was a member of the Washington Board of Trade and the Washington Real Estate Board, in addition to his Masonic affiliations. Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Carrie E. Caywood; a son, C. Chester Caywood, attorney, and a sister, Miss L. E. Caywood, all of Washington.

EDWARD A. DILLON DEAD.

Appendicitis Is Fatal to Lifelong Resident of District.

Edward A. Dillon, 54 years old, a lifelong resident of Washington and for the last twelve years an employe of the District Water Department, died yesterday at Sibley Hospital following an operation for appendicitis. He had been ill for six weeks.

Mr. Dillon, who was unmarried, was a fourth degree Knights of Columbus. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at St. Martin's Church, followed by interment in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Survivors include two brothers, J. B. and John R. Dillon, and four sisters, Mrs. William C. Callahan, Mrs. M. J. Murphy, Mrs. Albert A. Nazur and Mrs. Paul Meagher.

Ernest Mullin Dies Of Heart Attack

Burial Will Be Held at His Former Home at Brookville, Ind.

Ernest L. Mullin, 54 years old, of 1349 Kenyon street northwest, died suddenly yesterday following a heart attack. He had lived in Washington for four years, coming here from Brookville, Ind. The Fire Rescue Squad attempted to revive him shortly after he collapsed, but he was pronounced dead by Dr. J. Ernest Mitchell, his physician, on his arrival.

He had been with the A. B. C. Oil Burner Co., in this city, for some time previous to his death. He was a Mason, affiliated with a lodge in Illinois. The body will be sent to Brookville today for funeral services and interment.

Survivors include his wife, a sister, Mrs. Myrtle Crisp, of St. Petersburg, Fla.; his father, Mark Mullin, also of that place, and three brothers, George E. and Levi Mullin, of Brookville, and Wesley Mullin, of St. Petersburg.

Maj. Gen. Blocksom Rites to Be Friday

Retired Army Officer Is to Be Buried in Arlington With Full Honors.

Funeral services will be held in Arlington National Cemetery Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock for Maj. Gen. Augustus P. Blocksom, retired, who died in Miami, Fla., Sunday at the age of 77.

Born in Ohio, Gen. Blocksom entered West Point Military Academy in 1873. He graduated in 1877 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the cavalry and served in this branch of the Army until he reached the grade of brigadier general in 1917. He was given the temporary rank of major general during the World War and received that rank when he retired in 1918.

He is survived by a niece, Miss Mary Blocksom Garvey, and a nephew, Hewitt Blocksom Garvey, both living at Yonkers, N. Y.

DREAM HOMES GROW AT WOODLAND BEACH

Song Writers' Themes Come True at Post Refuge on South River.

Song writers are always talking about dream houses and now the residents of Washington have the opportunity of owning a summer cottage which has long been one of their pet dreams.

Pictures of the wealthy disporting themselves at beaches and summer resorts have aroused in Mr. Average Citizen a desire to have a little place of his own, where he and his family might also enjoy the good things of life.

The Washington Post is offering just such a spot to Capital residents, at Woodland Beach, a summer home development on the South River in Maryland. And the purchaser of a lot there need not be a wealthy man or woman.

One price prevails for lots at the beach. All are listed at $93, no more and no less. Now $93 is not a lot of money but you do not even need that much to pick out the place for your cottage. Just pay $9 at The Washington Post, plus the price of a subscription to the paper and begin your building. The remainder of the property cost may then be paid at the rate of $3.50 per month.

Woodland Beach is only 32 miles from Washington. It is reached over excellent roads via Defense Highway to Camp Parole, turning right there on Maryland State highway No. 2 across South River and then left to Mayo road, which leads to the community clubhouse on the property.

The beach's 4½ miles of waterfront are calling to you these warm days. Answer that call today and insure yourself of many happy summers.

Typographical Union Leader Is Dead at 65

Indianapolis, July 28 (A.P.).—Theodore Perry, 65, first vice president of the International Typographical Union, died today at the Methodist Hospital after a brief illness. He had for many years been active in the affairs of the union.

Mr. Perry was a native of New Anbany, Ind.

MRS. IRENE WATERS DIES.

Funeral Will Be at Church of Nativity Tomorrow.

Mrs. Irene E. Waters, of 1211 Kennedy street northwest, died yesterday at her home after a short illness. She was the wife of Harry A. Waters, and came to Washington eleven years ago from Wallingford, Conn.

Survivors include her husband and three children, Edward, Jack and Helen Waters. Funeral services will be held at the Church of the Nativity tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock, with interment following at Mount Olivet Cemetery.

Private Mahaney Found Dead in Bed

Police Station Clerk Is to Be Buried Tomorrow at Mount Olivet.

Private W. J. Mahaney, 55, station clerk at the Second Precinct station, was found dead in bed at his home, 1104 Eighth street northeast, when his wife attempted to awaken him for lunch yesterday afternoon. His death was attributed to heart disease.

Mahaney had been on annual leave but was scheduled to return to duty yesterday afternoon. He was one of the best known policemen, and had been on the force for 30 years. He was a native of the District. He had served as station clerk at the Eighth, now the Second, and Ninth and First Precincts.

Funeral services will be held at the Holy Name Catholic Church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, followed by interment in Mount Olivet Cemetery. Capt. L. I. A. Edwards, police personnel officer, has ordered flags at all police stations be put at half-staff until after the funeral.

Movies Picturing Mounds of Indians

Anthropologists Exploring Burial Grounds in Wisconsin.

Cassville, Wis., July 28 (U.P.).—New clues to the missing chapters in the story of Wisconsin's prehistoric residents are being sought here this summer by eight scientists of the Milwaukee museum.

Eighty-three conical, linear and effigy mounds have been located thus far. They are being opened, layer by layer, after measurements and sketches of the exterior have been made.

The work, which is being combined with a surface survey of Grant County, includes both excavation and pictorial recording. Not all of the mounds will be opened this year, since they must be carefully replaced.

Sex and age of burial remains are determined by Alton K. Fisher, physical anthropologist, who also is aiding in producing the motion picture photography of them.

PREMATURE POLITICS.

The Democratic political caldron is boiling with unwonted vivacity for such an early season. Bandwagons are in action in various parts of the country in utter disregard of the traditional caution against premature parading. Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's supporters simply can not be restrained. So anxious are they to get the governor's name before the public as a leading presidential candidate that they are willing to risk all the perils of an abortive climax. More astute politicians are holding their tongues until there is an opportunity to see which way the wind blows.

Regardless of Mayor Cermak's naive comments after visiting Gov. Roosevelt and former Gov. Smith, the most interesting question in connection with the Democratic nomination is whether Al Smith is determined to try his luck again. The Chicago mayor makes the mistake of supposing that the former nominee's silence on the subject means that he is out of the race. Does he suppose that Gov. Smith would have used him as a mouthpiece to announce his candidacy? Alfred E. Smith is a shrewd politician. It is absurd to suppose that he would lay his cards on the table before a visitor who could be expected to reveal them to the public at such an early date.

The forces that are behind Gov. Smith are merely biding their time. A horse that has the inner circle does not need to maneuver about and stir up a lot of dust before the race begins. Gov. Smith remains titular head of the Democratic party. The organization which conducted the 1928 campaign is still under his control. Since his defeat colossal changes have come about in the country. The Democratic party in Congress has been strengthened. Under such circumstances the "happy warrior" can not be expected complacently to resign his claim to the party's support, even though his ambitions clash with those of a close friend.

Other candidates, including Owen D. Young and Newton D. Baker, remain in the background. In addition there are a number of movements supporting favorite sons. Arkansas' pride is manifested in support for Senator Robinson. Maryland is just as stanch for Gov. Ritchie, and the governor himself is beginning to make his voice heard on national and international affairs.

Democrats would like to believe that their national convention will be a harmonious love feast. But indulgence in any such hope at present is pure optimism which takes no account of what is going on underneath the surface. Nominations are not settled by speculative chatter months before the convention is held, especially when a two-thirds vote is required. The dry South is only beginning to make its voice heard. The public may sit back and enjoy the boasts of overzealous campaigners with full assurance that the scrap has not yet begun.

BOYS' CLUBS VS. CRIME.

Seventy-five per cent of the crime in Chicago is committed by boys under 21 years of age, according to an estimate by State Attorney Swanson. Many boys of 12 are confirmed gangsters. Boys readily become proteges of older criminals. At the age of 6 or 7 these children discover the gangdom theory of getting something for nothing. Under the tutelage of experienced crooks they develop rapidly into youthful delinquents and after a few years they are beyond all possibility of reform.

Realizing the seriousness of this situation, Chicago is developing a crusade against the causes of juvenile crime. The Chicago Boys' Club, which at present has 3 units, is projecting a program for 25 more. The success of the club plan is demonstrated by the Union League Boys' Club in the "white district," one of the worst sections of the city, where the juvenile delinquency rate has been reduced 80 per cent.

Boys who normally would be compelled to play on the street can be provided with club privileges at the rate of $12 a year. In the recent campaign to raise funds for the clubs it was stated that every dollar spent for that purpose would save the taxpayer $10 later on. One delinquent minor in Cook County Jail cost the State $36,000, without counting loss to private individuals. This amount would have supported a club program for a whole year, providing for 3,000 boys.

Several years ago a school director endeavored to study the natural interests of children under his supervision. By allowing them materials to make whatever entertained them most he discovered the children from one section carved pistols, knives and stilettos out of wood, while others made imitation bombs. This same district now finds penniless boys provided with a clubhouse where they enjoy a swimming pool, gymnasium, classes in art, music and vocational subjects and summer camp privileges. The guidance of trained and sympathetic leaders directing the boys in these activities is reflected in a remarkable reduction in juvenile crime.

BEFUDDLING THE FARMER.

Senator Arthur Capper, of Kansas, has set himself up as the oracle of the farm. He has peered into the mind of the average farmer and found out what he is thinking. In the great open spaces of the Middle West farmers are all wrought up over the price of wheat. Rebellious thoughts against the existing economic system are beginning to germinate in their minds. Something must be done to relieve them. Senator Capper unfolds the whole situation with an aptitude for befuddlement that will doubtless astonish the farmers themselves.

In the first place, according to Senator Capper's diagnosis, the trouble seems to be rooted in the fact that the Department of Agriculture has taught farmers to grow two blades of grass where only one grew before. The farmer was urged to become an efficient producer. He did so. Vast agricultural surpluses were the result. Then came the Farm Board with its edict that the acreage planted to staple crops must be reduced. The farmer is so puzzled by this apparent contradiction, according to Senator Capper's analysis, that he doesn't know which way to turn.

It is impossible that the men who cultivate America's vast agricultural areas are as naive as Senator Capper pictures them. They know full well that the Department of Agriculture has performed a great service in teaching them how to lighten their toil and how to intensify their cultivation of crops. Likewise they know that conditions have changed since the war, when America was called upon to supply Europe with abnormal quantities of foodstuff. Where, then, is the source of their trouble? They are not yet willing to admit that distribution is as important as production.

The Farm Board has undertaken to improve the machinery for marketing agricultural crops. Farmers have flatly refused to cooperate to the extent of reducing their output. So long as they continue to oversupply the market there is nothing that the Government or any other agency can do about it. That is a plain fact which most farmers know. Senator Capper did not discover it in his inspection of farm thinking, because he is trying to place the blame for present conditions outside the bounds of dear old Kansas. He has made a notable contribution to the political balderdash which is being administered to the farm belt.

THE NICARAGUAN CANAL.

Findings of the commission of Army engineers that Congress sent to Nicaragua are of far greater importance for future reference than for immediate planning. The engineers find that the proposed canal across Nicaragua to connect the Caribbean with the Pacific is feasible, and that at the present time it would cost in the neighborhood of $750,000,000, or about twice as much as the Panama Canal. When the time comes for construction of a new waterway across the Isthmus Congress will have ample data on which to base its deliberations.

There can be no doubt that a canal across Nicaragua will be constructed at some time in the not distant future. All estimates of the demand for passage through the Panama Canal have been far too low. No one can foresee when the full capacity of that canal will be reached. Additional locks and improvements will enable the Panama channel to handle considerable more traffic than it can now, but its water supply is limited. When all the water available has been used the demand for a new canal will become imperative.

No engineering difficulties will be encountered on the Nicaraguan route. Most of the distance, 173 miles, lies along the San Juan Valley and across Nicaragua Lake. At no place will it be necessary to cut so deep as the Culebra gorge in Panama. The canal may be regarded as an entirely practical project that only awaits the development of more commerce between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

Lieut. Col. Sultan, chief of the surveying engineers, estimates that it will require fifteen years to complete a canal by this route, allowing five years for preliminary negotiations and preparations and ten years for the actual construction. Congress showed wisdom in ordering the survey when it did. It would likewise be well to complete all diplomatic negotiations so that there will be no obstacles in the way when need for a second canal arises.

VALUABLE INSECTS.

The grasshoppers that are ravaging Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota have become so numerous that railway tracks in some sections must be sanded to prevent trains from being derailed. Grain fields are rapidly being devastated and for miles the land looks as though it had been cut over with a scythe. Insufficient funds make the fight against the pests a losing battle. Grasshoppers are but one of the insects that arise to rob man of his food. The story of the Japanese beetle, the fruit fly, the boll weevil and many other pests that destroy crops is well known throughout the country.

Though the fight against these ravages often seems hopeless, it must be remembered that without insects, in many cases, there would be no crops at all. It is estimated by Frank E. Lutz, of the American Museum of National History, that 20 per cent of the fruit crop is destroyed by pests. All fruits owe to insects their pollination.

Every vegetable that man gets from his garden, except corn, relies on its flowers to attract insects. As the bees, butterflies and many types of flies go from flower to flower they carry pollen and bring about the necessary cross-pollination.

Subsoil insects that carry decayed leaves and bits of nitrogenous plant food to the roots of growing things perform a valuable service, as do the earthworms that were praised by Darwin for their soil-making activities. Not more than one-half of 1 per cent of the many types of insects in this country are harmful. Yet when a variety is not kept in check that type may become a devastating scourge.

FINGER PRINT RECORDS.

Finger prints, once used only to identify criminals, are now a valuable aid to industry and institutions of many types. An increasing number of organizations are realizing that this form of identification is the most satisfactory method yet discovered. The American Government some years ago began recording the finger prints of every member of the Army, Navy and Marines. This proved useful in a number of ways, but it was in connection with the recent veterans' bonus that it proved its special worth.

During the war thousands of John Smiths had been in the service. Likewise there had been hundreds of Browns, Joneses and others having the same names. The problem of identification would have been virtually insuperable in some cases had it not been for the finger print records. When great numbers of individuals must be identified, accuracy can be assured only by the finger print method.

The Postoffice Department has started finger printing all its employes and has, furthermore, even initiated the system with regard to the postal savings accounts. In maternity hospitals this method is used to prevent any mistake in identifying the babies. As it is often difficult to get good finger prints of infants, due to their constant activity, foot prints are also taken. Many countries now require finger prints in connection with passports and visas, and some travelers' checks and identification cards also have finger prints inscribed.

The finger print means of identification was developed about the same time by two Englishmen working separately in the Orient. Dr. Henry Faulds, in the Tsukiji Hospital in Tokyo, and Sir William J. Hershel, chief administrator of the Hooghly District of Bengal, India, published almost simultaneously their discoveries of the system. This was in 1880. On the findings of these two men Sir E. R. Henry founded his studies that are the basis of the finger print system in use today in England and the United States. By classifying the types into groups the present system of filing was made possible and practical. In a short time, some authorities believe, the entire population of this country will be registered in this way.

RULERS OF SIAM

From a Letter to the New York Herald Tribune by John Barrett, Former Minister at Bangkok.

In view of the approaching departure of their majesties, King Prajadhipok and Queen Rambaibarni of Siam, it should be appropriate for one who is the only living United States Minister at Bangkok, its truly unique capital, prior to 1900 and during the reign of the great king, Chulalongkorn I, father of the present monarch, to narrate a few human interest facts about that remarkable and notable Asiatic royal family not generally appreciated in the United States.

These facts will help to explain why the young king and queen of this far-off land, little known to average Americans, have made a profoundly favorable impression and awakened extraordinary interest in them and their country.

King Prajadhipok's quick understanding and comprehensive intelligence, his affability, modesty and strong character are inherited in a large degree from his able, benign and constructive father, King Chulalongkorn I, and from his far-seeing, progressive and benevolent grandfather, King Mongkut.

These two absolute monarchs, unparalleled in benignity and wisdom during the last century of Asiatic history, and reigning from 1851 to 1910, were responsible for what might be termed the "golden era" of Siam's progress. Fortunately this epoch was extended by Chulalongkorn's oldest son, King Rama VI, who ruled from 1910 to 1925, and was again continued since then by the present king, Prajadhipok. It is a significant fact that during these 80 years under such guidance Siam has experienced nearly unbroken peace and prosperity. In truth, since the beginning of the present "Chakri" dynasty in 1782, Siam has been almost free of civil and foreign war, a record unsurpassed by any independent country in Asia and possibly by any in the world.

May the writer appear to speak respectfully and modestly but authoritatively about Chulalongkorn I, the father of Prajadhipok, because he had the interesting experience of serving as United States Minister at Bangkok when Chulalongkorn was at the zenith of his leadership and had to meet the greatest test of his statesmanship and diplomacy. He had not only to adjust Siam's extensive boundaries with British Burma and Malaya on the west and French Indo-China on the east, but to negotiate arbitration with the United States of the famous "Cheek case," involving vast quantities and areas of teakwood, large sums of money and grave questions of extraterritoriality. Never will the writer forget the expressed satisfaction of King Chulalongkorn when his able brother, Prince Devawongse, the famous minister of foreign relations, and the writer, as United States Minister, signed the protocol for arbitration of this dispute by Sir Nicholas Hannen, British chief justice for China and Japan, at Shanghai. "This arbitration," as President Cleveland stated, "cemented forever the traditional friendship and mutual confidence between Siam and the United States."

King Chulalongkorn was ever alert to advance the economic, material, social, moral and educational welfare of Siam and its people. He gave Bangkok the distinction of being the first Asiatic capital to enjoy electric lights, electric street cars and telephones. He brought to Siam the first automobile that was ever shipped to the Far East through the Suez Canal. He founded a great Siamese university, with foreign and native teachers, and he made most liberal gifts to help the educational and medical institutions of the American missionaries. He welcomed foreign business men and travelers. He gave his sons thorough educations in Europe and America to prepare them for their future responsibilities. He built and possessed as fine a private yacht, commanded by Admiral de Richelieu, of Denmark, as that of the Emperor of Germany, and he lived in a royal palace as fine as that of the King of England.

POST HASTE.

The Wickersham Commission's prison report indicates that a commission must be appointed to investigate our prison system.

Within ten hours after a provisional president had been named in Chile "public opinion" forced his resignation because it was discovered that he was a relative of the deposed president's wife. Mob rule is a fast worker.

If good wishes will insure a safe journey, the Lindberghs are as good as in Japan right now.

The "Calles plan," making silver legal tender for payment of gold debts in Mexico, will wipe out 300,000,000 pesos of indebtedness. Disruption of the claims commission may add several times that amount to unpaid American losses. And Mexico already had the Latin-American defalcation and repudiation record by a wide margin.

Why did Senator Moses think it necessary to use a megaphone like the Saturday Evening Post to announce that he would retaliate on the "wild jackasses" if he is dethroned as President pro tempore?

Latin-American presidential candidates should be smart like Al Smith and not get elected for hard-times terms.

The silverites, meeting at Senator Borah's home in Boise, must find this country very backward. Now, if it were sufficiently Mexicanized, an American Calles could take charge of the Federal Reserve and overnight have silver declared the only legal tender.

Self-appointed spokesmen of the farmers make them responsible for complaints about a lot of things they never heard of.

It is as hard for erstwhile pedestrians to worry about low taxi fares as for motorists to fret over low prices for gasoline.

The Associated Press brings word from New York that Al Smith favors a wet plank in the Democratic platform, but is keeping his choice for the Presidential nomination a secret. You just can't keep anything from these news sleuths.

It was unkind of Mexico to go silver while Senator Pittman is still in the Orient.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

OFFERING DAD A REAL SAVING.

The father sat in his red armchair,
"And what do you want?" said he,
"And why do you quake, and why do you shake Whenever you talk to me?"

The young man said: "It's a lovely day!"
And he shifted in his chair,
"Is that all you've called on me to say?"
Asked the father sitting there.

"Well, no!" then stammered the pale young man,
For his tongue could scarcely stir,
"But we've really thought of a splendid plan
To save you some money, sir."

"We've thought of a plan," the father asked,
"Some money to save for me?
Have two great brains on the scheme been tasked
And whose can the other be?"

"Your daughter's sir," said the youngster grave,
"We've talked it all out, you see.
All she's costing you now you'll save
By letting her marry me."

Will You Surrender Your Gold Mine Because Undesirables Wish to Mine Gold?

By ROBERT QUILLEN

YOU are, of course, proud of your country. You are proud of your citizenship in the richest, most progressive and most powerful nation in the world.

Now let us see what it is that feeds your pride.

Your national Government is bankrupt. It has a deficit almost as great as its total annual expenditures before the great war.

Many of your States are bankrupt, and all of them are so burdened with debt that new and extraordinary taxes must be levied each year to meet expenses.

Most of your cities and school districts are in similar plight, and many are scarcely able to pay interest on their bonds.

Your banking laws are so inadequate and so foolish that thousands of banks have closed within the last three years, impoverishing millions of depositors.

Foolish and unpopular laws increase in number and are so universally violated that respect for law exists only in theory.

Your system of jurisprudence is so unjust and so corrupt that innocents are railroaded to prison while men with wealth can commit any crime, including murder, without suffering a penalty.

Your land is foul with graft, injustice, blackmail, banditry, vice and corruption, and little is done to mend matters.

That is the fodder that fattens your pride.

Now, do you know the cause of it?

Well, do you believe such conditions could exist if public servants were the ablest and most honorable men our land produces?

You know they could not.

In other lands, men make a career of public service to win power and glory.

In America the great rewards are won in business. The rulers in each community—the social and civic leaders—are business men.

Young men go into business not only for the wealth it promises, but because in business alone they can hope to win the power and renown all men covet.

Try to name the twelve greatest men in America and you will not list three statesmen in the lot.

Yet statesmen rule the land and public service gives us our national heroes.

There is no higher career for able young men.

And there is no more interesting game than politics.

But, you say, one must sacrifice dignity and endure many unpleasant things for little reward.

Bless you, the same is true of hunting tigers or exploring the Amazon.

A proper man plays the game for the game's sake.

An office is not vile because vile men have held it.

Some one must rule. Shall fourth-rate men rule forever because the ablest and best are afraid of soiling their hands in battle?

PRO AND CON

Stony Politics.

Chicago Tribune.

A Washington dispatch says that Senator Watson of Indiana left the Capital for home hastily the other day and a statement of his reasons for it makes the haste quite reasonable. He had discovered that while he was preoccupied with good works and general public activities Senator Moses of New Hampshire had procured the specification of New Hampshire granite for the memorial to George Rogers Clark to be built at Vincennes. What would be thought and said of this in and about the limestone quarries of Bedford, Oolitic, and Bloomington in Indiana is well within the imagination.

Senator Watson credits Senator Moses with the stroke of genius. The New Hampshire senator may protest that his Indiana friend does him too much honor, but if he does no one will believe him. Senator Watson says that an unfair advantage was taken of him, he being engaged in seeking relief for the wheat farmer when Senator Moses took a fat one right out of the hen coop. Senator Watson thinks that Senator Moses would have been much more creditably engaged in wheat relief or in any other altruistic, humanitarian work with a large horizon.

Brookhart Is Wrong.

Fargo (N. Dak.) Forum.

Perhaps Senator Brookhart has a corner on knowledge of what the public wants in the way of legislative sessions, but we doubt it. In commenting upon the fact that President Hoover has turned thumbs down on an extra session, he says that the President may change his mind when the growing pressure of public opinion is felt. The public, if one can judge by the praise given the President's announcement and by the paucity of adverse criticism, is delighted at the President's reassurance that it is to be spared such a session now. If we read the signs aright, the public would even thankfully receive the news that something could be done to forestall the convening of the regular session in December, with all of the political tommyrot that is bound to be exploded from a more than ordinary politically minded Congress.

Roosevelt's Early Boom.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

While an old political tradition warns against the too-early-blooming presidential candidacy, neither Gov. Roosevelt nor his formidable following seems to fear its fulfillment. First in the field of avowed aspirants for the Democratic nomination, Mr. Roosevelt has been receiving almost daily new assurances of influential support. The customary summer doldrums in politics have meant no dull season for the occupant of the executive mansion at Albany, who has been hearing news, most grateful to his ear, from the West, the South and, most lately, from Pennsylvania.

First among his most recent bearers of glad tidings was Mr. Farley, chairman of the New York Democratic committee, returning from a swing around the circle which included every State west of the Mississippi except Iowa, Arizona and New Mexico. If Mr. Farley's conclusions regarding the Western Democrats and Mr. Guffey's view of the Pennsylvania situation and the correspondents' survey of the South are all correct, the national convention will have only to ratify a choice already made and Mr. Roosevelt might as well set about composing his speech of acceptance. But "many a slip" can take place between now and next June. Today Mr. Roosevelt is the chief contender. But such devices as combinations to defeat the favorite are not unknown to politics. And that ancient two-thirds rule has proved the stumbling-block to many a promising presidential candidacy.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Danger to Street Car Companies by Reason of Cut-Rate Taxicab War Stressed; Coordinated Traffic Plan Urged.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If the new 10-cent taxi fare meets with any degree of success in Washington, the street car companies are in for a terrific fall. The difference in the quality of service given will just about ruin them, and in no time at all we shall probably see the railways sobbing loudly on the shoulder of the Public Utilities Commission about unfair competition.

Such situations are ridiculous; no other city in the world would tolerate for a minute such conditions as are now put up with in the District. Washington has grown up—it is time the city put an end to this transportation nonsense. In my opinion, not only are the policies now pursued by the two car companies doing irreparable harm to the only system of transportation suitable for large cities, but they are also hindering and warping the development of this city, to no small degree.

The dependence of urban growth upon transportation is an obvious fact. Computations made in New York have revealed that 91 per cent of its borough population is concentrated in the 40 per cent area within a half-mile on either side of the rapid transit lines. Now a city must grow, and clearly, it can grow in but two directions, vertically or horizontally. If the transit facilities are swift and widespread the city will extend outward; if otherwise, a distinct tendency toward skyscaping will be shown.

Investigation has also revealed that the transit policy of a city determines the strength of its apartment house movement—there is a direct ratio between the two. It is unnecessary, in this connection, to point out to you how heavily populated the downtown sections of Washington now are in comparison with the suburbs, or what numbers of multi-family dwellings have been erected here within the last five years. Haven't you yourself noticed how many high buildings (that tend to hide the artistic beauty of Washington) are being constructed?

Studies recently conducted by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission have indicated that, by merging the two companies and laying six miles of new track, sixteen of old track could be scrapped and 180 right-hand and 160 left-hand turns could be eliminated. There is a sad lack of coordination between the local street railways, the bus lines, the taxicab corporations, and the Traffic Bureau, which should be remedied. Kansas City is a good example.

The car lines are public property, whether or not their investment represents private capital, and their failure would damage this city in a very real, substantial way.

WILLIAM DOYLE JOHNSON.

Liquor Is Consumed Regardless of Whether It Is Taxed, Says Correspondent, the Only Difference Being in the Quality.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: While an ardent exponent of temperance, I can not refrain from pointing out the apparent weakness in the statistics used by "A Taxpayer" in his recent letter to The Post, in which he refutes the argument that the legalizing of the sale of beer or other liquors would reduce taxes. In his illustration he takes a small town in which there was one licensed dealer before prohibition and estimated that $10,000 was spent at this place for the purchase of booze in a year. This dealer paid $1,500 as a license fee. "A Taxpayer" reasons that it cost the people the difference between the $1,500 and the $10,000 paid for liquor, or $8,500 to reduce taxes by $1,500. As far as "A Taxpayer" carries out his computation we will agree that his statistics are 100 per cent correct, but their weakness is found in the failure to make a corresponding computation for a similar period since prohibition. Let us take the same town used in "A Taxpayer's" illustration and do some figuring for a year at the present time. We will suppose that the people in this same town now pay the same amount for bootleg booze. That is a reasonable supposition because if less than one-third of the number who previously bought liquor now buy bootleg booze, the amount spent would be $10,000 or more because it costs considerably more than three times the old prices. You then have a town spending $10,000, not for pure liquor as before, but for the worst kind of booze, much of which is poison. No taxes are received whatever.

Thus it is clearly shown that from a statistical point of view the town loses $1,500 in taxes. This would be a small price to pay for ridding the town of booze if it did that. However, it has not done so and in the place of the once legalized sale we now have bootleggers who are breaking the law and inducing others to do the same.

ANOTHER TAXPAYER.

Modern Machine Age Is Declared to Be Cause of Unequitable Distribution of Wealth.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Why has the machine age been such a monumental failure? It was supposed to have brought to us permanent, unprecedented prosperity, but instead has forced upon us the most emphatic world-wide depression in the modern age.

Greatly increased productivity naturally gluts the markets of the world if the purchasing power of the people does not keep pace with production. Purchasing power can not keep pace when a few greedy capitalists own and control the means of production and refuse to give the worker an equitable share of the wealth thus created.

Wholesale violation of the antitrust laws of the Nation has resulted in numerous mergers, consolidations and bankruptcies, thus reducing the purchasing power of the American people by several billions of dollars. The reduction in prices to the public has not nearly compensated for the so-called "efficiency" in management.

RAILROAD UNIONS RESIST WAGE CUTS

In Statement, Labor Stays Noncommittal on Raise in Freight Rates.

(Associated Press.)

Organized railroad labor yesterday coupled a noncommital attitude on the request of their employers for a 15 per cent freight rate increase with the warning it would fight to the utmost any attempt to cut wages.

The views were expressed in a statement issued by the Railway Labor Executives Association, representing all organized railroad workers in the United States. It came after two days of debate.

"The petition of the railroads for a 15 per cent rate increase should be considered on its merits," the statement said.

"The commission will not lack information, advice and assistance in determining whether railroad revenues can be, and ought to be, increased through freight rates.

"We are in favor of increases in instances where the facts diclose that such increases are justifiable."

Wages Are Discussed.

Most of the statement was devoted to a discussion of railroad wages, the labor men asserting it had been injected into the freight rate proceeding through the railroad petition and through objections to the proposed freight boost on the ground wages should be cut.

The railway labor organizations, the statement said, are prepared "to resist any such move with all the powers at their command."

The union officials added that they were fortified by agreements between representatives of employers and employes and the Government "not to permit the pressure of a business depression to be used as the excuse for breaking down the American standard of living."

The railroads' petition for the rate increase said it would take too long to go through the procedure involved in wage reduction to help out in the present emergency. The administration's desire for wage scale maintenance also was mentioned.

Called None Too High.

The labor leaders said railway wages were not too high, and asserted the "Nation-wide depression" had been caused by "low wages, by the excessive profits of the few and the underpayment of the many."

The statement said several hundred thousand railroad men had been out of work for more than a year and many more had been on part time for many years. Figures were given to show that the revenues of the railways per employe had increased far more than increases in pay. A comparatively small number of workers were said to be earning a decent livelihood.

"Again let it be pointed out that an industry that has a constantly declining labor cost has no just claim to reduce wages," the statement said. * * *

"There is a very good reason why well-informed railroad executives have not responded to the pressure of outside forces urging wage reductions."

Mussolini Marks 48th Anniversary

Duce's Gift Refusals of the Past Expected to Bar Remembrances.

Rome, July 28 (A.P.).—Benito Mussolini will celebrate his forty-eighth birthday anniversary tomorrow, a birthday probably devoid of gifts.

Italy's premier, averse to mixing his personal with his public life, will observe the day as quietly as possible at his home, the Villa Torlonia. And because he does not like personal presents, none was in prospect. He has given out so many stern orders against gifts to himself that private persons and organizations have learned to respect his wishes.

Little Romano and Anna Maria Mussolini will have the privilege, however, of pulling their father's ears as many as 48 times, such being the Italian custom on birthdays. According to another custom, Mussolini will be obliged to treat his subordinates and friends to cups of coffee. The duce is one of the youngest statesmen of Europe.

Layne Atlantic Co. Low Bidder for Center Well

The Layne Atlantic Co. was lowest of two bidders yesterday on a proposal for drilling a well for draining purposes at the site of the first unit of the Municipal Center. The estimate was $5,400.

The District commissioners awarded the job of razing three buildings on the site to the Hechinger Engineering Co. on a low bid of $183. The structures had been condemned by the Health Department as nuisances.

Commission Authorizes $15,000 for Road Work

M. C. Hargrove, District purchasing officer, was authorized by the District commissioners yesterday to make two purchases for approximately $15,000.

The Concrete Engineering Co., was awarded the contract for providing 10,000 sheets of reinforcing wire for the highway department for $12,700, while the Bituminous Products Corporation was given the contract of furnishing 32,000 gallons of road oil for $2,780.40.

Navy Will Be Host To Public October 27

(Associated Press.)

The Navy will be at home to the public as usual on Navy Day, Tuesday, October 27.

Replying to a request from Walter Bruce Howe, of the Navy League, for naval cooperation in the tenth annual observance of Navy Day, Secretary Adams said, "The Public will be welcome on board naval vessels in port and in naval establishments on shore."

Delegate Travels in Old Ford.

DIVIDEND AND SALARIES CUT BY DIRECTORS OF U. S. STEEL

that a slash in the dividend and in salaries might be preliminary steps to a wage reduction. It was reported in usually well-informed quarters, however, that wages had not been discussed at today's meeting. No information as to the extent of the downward adjustment of salaries was available. The formal announcement merely said: "The board of directors recommended that an adjustment of salaries of all officers and other salaried employes be made in varying degrees, depending upon the character of the service rendered."

Net Earnings of Quarter.

The corporation reported total earnings for the quarterly period ending June 30 of $13,817,524, after deducting all expenses incident to operations, including ordinary repairs and maintenance of plant, and taxes. This is the lowest since the first quarter of 1915, when industry was still paralyzed from the shock of the outbreak of the World War. It is the lowest for the second quarter of the year for any year in more than 20 years. This compared with $19,464,836 in the first quarter of this year, and was little more than a quarter of the earnings for the like period of 1930, when $47,851,304 was reported.

From the total earnings was subtracted $12,211,569 for depletion, depreciation and obsolescence of plant. This was $586,267 more than the similar charges for the preceding quarter, but was $3,709,924 less than such charges in the second quarter of last year.

After these deductions, together with deduction for interest on bonds, there was left net income from operations of only $260,839, equal to only 6 cents a share on the prefered stock, on which the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 was declared. To find smaller net earnings from operations than these, the records must be searched back of 1907, to the early years of the corporation's history. It was founded in 1901.

Special Income Shown.

The corporation had a windfall during the quarter, however, which it was able to report as special income, and made the final showing considerably better. This consisted of $7,160,966 profit from the recent sale of the Gary Light, Heat & Water Co. It brought the final net income for the quarter up to $7,391,355, equal to 12 cents per common share, after provision for payment of preferred dividends.

Including this special income, the net income was slightly larger than that of the preceding quarter, in which there was no special credit of this sort. The total for that quarter, entirely from operations, was $6,304,919, equal after preferred dividends to only 5 cents per common share.

The showing was but a fraction of that of the corresponding quarter of 1930, however, when the corporation reported net income of $32,126,717, or $3.02 a common share.

These earnings failed by a wide margin to provide for the reduced common dividend of $1, and it was necessary to take $7,617,856 from surplus to provide for the payment. In the preceding quarter, when the directors ordered a common dividend of $1.75, it was necessary to take $14,763,240 from surplus to make the payment. The corporation has not earned its common dividend for three successive quarters. In the last quarter of last year, when net fell below dividend disbursements for the first time since the final quarter of 1924, the sum of $9,144,897 was taken from surplus.

On the basis of current conditions in the steel industry, the corporation is not expected to earn its reduced dividend for the third quarter of the year. Nevertheless, it reported cash and marketable securities at the end of 1930 exceeding $197,000,000, and can maintain the $4 annual rate for some time, regardless of whether earnings pick up. It is reported on good authority, however, that the management feels that a corporation of its size should maintain this figure at $100,000,000 or above constantly.

Conditions in the steel industry, with operations at around 30 per cent of capacity, contrast sharply with a year ago, when the steel officials seemed to feel that business recovery was in the making, and after the summer quarterly meeting of the directors in 1930, the following statement was issued:

"At this date the manufacturing plants are operating at about 63 per cent of capacity. Indications in the industry point to an increase in the rate of operations during the balance of this quarter, with an improvement in volume during the last quarter of the year."

The basic steel industry has always been recognized in financial quarters, however, as a "prince or pauper" industry. It manufacturers what are known economically as producers goods, rather than consumers goods, or products going directly to the consumer.

Sharper Cut Than Expected.

It had been hoped in some quarters in Wall street that the steel corporation might continue its common dividends undiminished through this depression, as it did in 1921-22, but the dividend rate at that time was only $5 annually, the outstanding stock smaller, and the cash reserves much higher.

The slash in the dividend from $7 to $4 was sharper than had been generally looked for, although that figure had been occasionally mentioned in Wall street forecasts. A reduction from $7 to $5 annually, however, had been generally looked for. There also had been rumors of an announcement regarding salaries.

The stock market has merely marked time during the last two days. The total turnover was only 678,116 shares in the Stock Exchange today, only moderately more than yesterday's total of 580,310, which was the smallest for a full session in nearly seven years. As usual, the steel announcements were made after the market closed.

Republic Steel Loses; Sheet and Tube in Red

Cleveland, Ohio, July 28 (A.P.).—Directors of the Republic Steel Corporation today issued a statement showing a loss for the quarter ended June 30, 1931, of $1,092,304.70, as compared with $1,692,593 for the preceding quarter.

The statement showed a net gain from operations of $1,803,183.03 after deducting charges for maintenance and repairs of plants, amounting to $2,071,230.98.

Youngstown, Ohio, July 28 (A.P.).—Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. sustained a loss of $1,176,444.27 after all charges, including depreciation for the second quarter, as compared with $822,909.79 net loss for the first quarter, according to a statement issued today by the company.

However, the company sold $25,000,000 additional bonds in April, and interest on these bonds was included in the second quarter charges. Operating results of the second quarter therefore were considered about the same as those of the first and probably slightly better.

Sheet & Tube earned its full interest charges with $519,188.09 to spare in the second quarter, while the same figure for the first quarter was $791,737.83.

SCIENCE MAY ADOPT X-RAY "YARDSTICK"

Measurement Devised by Capital Physicist Studied at Paris.

Paris, July 28 (A.P.).—An international standard for measurement of X-rays and radium, which would remove one of the last dangers in using both, was likely to be one of the principal results of the third international congress on radiology at the Sorbonne this week.

Lauriston S. Taylor, physicist in the United States Bureau of Standards at Washington; Dr. Otto Glasser, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Dr. Edwin G. Ernst, of St. Louis, Mo., have tested American machines based on Taylor's "X-ray yardstick" and report success.

Several leading German radiologists have arrived in Paris for the congress, disregarding the German Radiological Society's instructions not to come because of Germany's financial straits. Prof. Haenisch, of Hamburg, will lead the cancer discussion Thursday.

The cancer discussion tomorrow will be led by J. E. A. Lynham, of London. Besides Dr. Lewis Gregory Cole, of New York, who led the discussion today, two other Americans, Edith Quimby and Fred Stewart, both of New York, held the attention of the congress with experiences in X-ray dosage.

Urging his audience to raise radiography to the same level of importance as pathology, Dr. Cole said that if proper advantage was taken of radiography, surgical operations would be necessary less frequently.

Virginia Editor Shot In Leg From Ambush

Harlan, Ky., July 28 (A.P.).—Wounded this morning by bullets fired from ambush as he was walking over a bridge near here, Bruce Crawford, 35, editor of Crawford's Weekly, Norton, Va., and two other newspapers, left for Norton tonight by bus after being warned by officials not to drive through Harlan County. He left his automobile here.

Mr. Crawford and a friend, Ed Fraley, also of Norton, were in the center of the bridge when seven or eight bullets were fired at them from a nearby hillside. Before the men could run to cover behind a house, one of the bullets struck Crawford in the right leg near the ankle, inflicting a slight wound.

Front Wall of Glacier In Alaska Collapses

(Associated Press.)

Collapse of half the 9,000-foot front wall of the Muir Glacier on Glacier Bay, Alaska, was announced yesterday by the American Nature Association.

The glacier was discovered in 1879 by John Muir and named for him.

Girls Are Reported Scarce in Settlements of Australia.

Peiping, July 28 (U.P.).—Thousands of Russian girls in Harbin, White Russian capital of the Far East, have been excited by appeals for wives printed in the Russian newspapers there.

The appeals come from young Russians settled in Australia, who say they are making enough to support wives, but can find no girls in that part of the world. As the shortage of men in Harbin is just as acute, the girls are hastening to reply. It is estimated that 10,000 girls and women in Harbin can not find husbands there.

The cabarets of Shanghai, Tientsin, Peiping, Hongkong and other cities in China are drawing girls from Harbin, but many have stayed in Harbin as long as possible, because the atmosphere there, they believe, is more nearly like old Russia than that of any other city today.

Ecuador Sweepstakes Warning Is Issued

(Associated Press.)

The Justice Department yesterday issued a warning against the purchase in the United States of tickets for what purports to be the "Ecuador Grand Sweepstakes."

Ecuadorian authorities, the department added, requested the warning be broadcast, since the sale of such tickets is not permitted in that country, and no governmental authority is lent them.

More Coal Men Asked If They Desire Parley

(Associated Press.)

Twenty-five more bituminous coal operators were asked yesterday if they would attend a conference with labor representatives here to discuss the ills of the industry.

Secretary Doak made this announcement. Originally he had submitted the question to 125 operators. Some replies have been received, but Doak said they were not enough to indicate whether a conference would be called.

Finished Manufactures Half of June's Exports

(Associated Press.)

Finished manufactures supplied slightly more than one-half of American exports and one-fourth of the imports during June.

The Commerce Department's analysis yesterday showed $97,731,000 of finished manufactures exported during June and $44,163,000 imported. This compared with $164,559,000 exported in June, 1930, and $61,790,000 imported.

Sign in Navy Building Warns Against Spies

(Associated Press.)

Although the war has been over for nearly thirteen years the Navy remains on guard against spies. Conspicuously posted in a corridor of the Navy Building there was noticed yesterday a sign which said:

"Beware of spies. Don't talk about what you have done or are going to do. The enemy has ears everywhere. Don't discuss naval affairs * * * with strangers or foreigners.

"Secrecy means safety."

NEW BUSINESS GIANT SEEN IN OIL MERGER

plies of oil, haphazardly handled and exploited, have produced an unsound situation."

Dollar Oil or Close, Is Murray Ultimatum

Oklahoma City, July 28 (A.P.).—There will be a dollar a barrel price for crude oil by Saturday night or no more production from Oklahoma's great oil fields, Gov. William H. Murray said in an ultimatum to petroleum purchasers today.

Counting on the strength of his National Guard as he did in his campaign to open Red River free bridges, Murray said unless oil reaches the price he has set he will order all wells except "stripper" wells shut down.

"If necessary we will use the military to enforce the order," he said.

Thus Oklahoma's governor answered the repeated plea of producers and royalty owners whose campaign of voluntary shutdowns has brought oil prices from the lowest level in history, 22 cents a barrel, to 50 cents—the flat rate posted yesterday by the Sinclair Co.

Tulsa, Okla., July 28 (A.P.).—Few oil company executives here would comment today upon Gov. Murray's threat to order a shutdown of flush pools.

E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum Institute, was out of the city and could not be reached for a statement.

"The least we say about the governor's ultimatum the better off we will be," commented R. S. Allison, president of the Stanolind Crude Oil Purchasing Co., subsidiary of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana and the largest buyer of midcontinent oil.

"Gov. Murray did it in his bridge war and he probably will shut down all Oklahoma wells if he says he will," observed H. L. Phillips, president of the Sinclair Oil & Gas Co.

WHITE HOUSE AGAIN OPPOSES WAGE CUT

of wages, should be changed. It has not been changed."

Secretary Doak also said there had been "absolutely no change" in the wage policy.

"Any interpretation of Secretary Lamont's letter to that effect," he said emphatically, "is entirely and altogether untrue."

He added that the subject had not been discussed at the Cabinet meeting.

In his letter to Condon, Secretary Lamont reviewed the efforts of the administration to see that wage rates were maintained as far as possible in the various industries of the country.

"The President's position in the matter of wage reductions is well known and understood," Lamont wrote. "No one could have done more to maintain wage rates."

"As the period of depression lengthens, many corporations which were not well protected by reserves accumulated in years of good business find themselves at the present time in extremely difficult positions," the letter continued.

"Many of them have already cut dividends and salaries. Some of them are faced with the prospect of closing down altogether and thus creating more unemployment, or alternately seeking temporary reductions.

"I very greatly regret that these cases should occur, but I do not believe it is the duty of the Government to interfere in such cases. Neither do I think such interference would be effective."

Motorman Held in Bigamy.

William F. Barrett, 26-year-old street car motorman of 612 L street, southwest, was arrested yesterday by Fourth Precinct police on a charge of bigamy. He was released under $1,000 bond.

Certificates Are Presented For Meritorious Farming

Blacksburg, Va., July 28 (A.P.).—Certificates of merit in agriculture were presented G. P. Holsinger, of McGaheyville, and C. Purcell McCue, Greenwood, by Dr. Julian A. Burruss, president of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, at the opening exercises of the Institute of Rural Affairs tonight.

Every year V. P. I. presents certificates of merit in agriculture to two who have achieved outstanding success in some phase of agriculture. In presenting the certificates to Mr. Holsinger, Dr. Burruss said in part:

"His success has been largely due to the fact that he early recognized that the business side of farming is as important as the production side. Consequently, he gave much time and attention to the establishment of cooperative associations, to care for the buying and selling of products for himself and his neighbors."

Mr. Holsinger, Dr. Burruss pointed out, is a charter member of the Rockingham County Farm Bureau, president of the Virginia State Farm Bureau Federation, member of the board of directors of the Valley of Virginia Milk Producers Association, and of the board of a cooperative fire insurance company. He was secretary of the State commission to study the condition of the farmers of Virginia appointed by former Gov. Byrd, and executive secretary of the Agricultural Conference Board of Virginia. He taught school for thirteen years before devoting his time to practical farming.

DISTRICT'S BUILDING INCREASES IN JUNE

Contracts Total $7,440,600; Half Year's Record Is Also Better.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The District of Columbia made an exceptional showing in construction in June, according to statistics released yesterday by the F. W. Dodge Corporation. There was a decided advance in value of construction contracts in June over both June of last year and the current May.

The District's construction contract valuation for June of $7,440,600 compares with $4,550,000 for May and $5,204,500 for June 1930. Likewise the District's six months' record bettered the same period of last year.

Moving slightly against a seasonal trend, June produced a higher value of construction contracts awarded in the Middle Atlantic territory than did May according to reports by the corporation. This territory, which is comprised of Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia and Virginia, registered a total of $32,128,800 in June contracts awarded against $31,850,000 in May.

Nonresidential Building.

Nonresidential building formed the most important proportion of June's total with $15,821,700. It was followed by residential building with $8,839,800 and public works and utilities with $7,467,300.

"Results for new construction during the third quarter should be better than those reported for the second quarter," the Dodge statistical bulletin concerning this section reads: "Though a loss from the same period of 1930 appears indicated, the decline should not exceed 20 per cent."

Outstanding city totals in June were those for Philadelphia with $2,741,700; Scranton with $206,700; Baltimore with $2,047,700, and Wilmington with $770,200.

The importance of the game of golf to the industrial production of the country is not generally realized, according to the research department of the Continental Insurance Co., which has gathered considerable data relative to golf club properties, in connection with the various insurable hazards incidental to the operation of such organizations and to the playing of the ancient game.

Members in United States.

It is explained that there are more than 661,550 golf club members in the United States—or one to every 185 inhabitants—and that their purchases of club real estate, clothing, shoes, leather goods, sports goods and numerous incidental items runs into many millions of dollars annually. There are, in addition, hundreds of thousands of occasional golfers who are not members of clubs.

"The cost of golf club properties, excluding miniature courses, is estimated," the company states, "to be well above $500,000,000 and the importance of such an investment in suburban real estate and in building materials is obvious.

"In addition, the clubs give regular employment to upward of 50,000 persons, besides giving part-time work to hundreds of thousands of caddies.

Cost of Clubs.

"The equipment and upkeep of the clubhouses involve, in the aggregate, an enormous sum for house furnishings of all kinds, paints and awning materials, and the clubs buy large quantities of foodstuffs. Maintenance of house, grounds and greens calls for tons of grass seed and fertilizers and the use of many implements.

"Golfers, too, are an important factor in the purchase of motor cars and equipment, gasoline and lubricating oils and greases. They buy approximately 14,000,000 domestic golf balls annually and more than 1,850,000 clubs. Together these cost nearly $10,000,000.

"In the field of insurance golf clubhouses are likewise of considerable moment in fire and liability coverages and in recent months they have also been afforded financial protection against damage resulting from airplanes crashing on buildings or fairways.

"Players insure themselves against claims for injuries, accidents and various other hazards. Their clubs and accessories are insured against theft or damage from many hazards."

Scientists May See Neanderthal Skull

Head of Girl Discovered in Palestine Is Likely London Exhibit.

New Haven, Conn., July 28 (A.P.).—The skull of a Neanderthal child found in a paleolithic cave near Athlit, Palestine, by Theodore McGown, of the University of California, will probably be shown at the centenary meeting of the British association for the advancement of science, in London, September 23 to 30.

Mr. McCown, who is a fellow of the American School of Prehistoric Research, has spent two days at Yale with Dr. George Grant MacCurdy, director of the American school, and made a report on his recent discovery. He said the block of breccia in which the bones are still imbedded, had been shipped to Sir Arthur Keith, in London. There the bones will be disengaged from their stony matrix, and if possible made ready for presentation at the association meeting.

Mr. McCown has secured leave of absence from his university for the second semester and will return to Palestine as fellow of the American school in order to complete excavation of the cave in which he found the skull.

Swedish Ship at Sea Using Wireless Phones

Stockholm, July 28 (U.P.).—The wireless telephone is now widely used by the Swedish merchant marine. It is installed on many Swedish ships in the Baltic Sea, and four wireless stations on the eastern and southern coast are equipped to transmit spoken messages.

It is also employed by the Swedish pilot service between outlying lighthouses and the mainland, and the Swedish American line will soon install wireless on its motorships, Gripsholm and Kungsholm.

COLORED TEACHERS START CONVENTION

Federal Education Head Advises Race to Emphasize Potentialities.

The annual convention of the National Association of Teachers in Colored Schools, now in session at Howard University and the Miner Teachers College, was welcomed last night at the Armstrong High School by Commissioner Luther H. Reichelderfer, and by Mrs. M. A. McNeill, member of the Board of Education.

Garnet C. Wilkinson, first assistant superintendent in charge of colored schools, in extending greetings to the convention, set forth its greatest problem as that of bringing equality of educational opportunity to youth everywhere. Secretary Ray Lyman Wilbur, of the Department of Interior, commended, by letter to the gathering, the factual study of conditions surrounding Negro education which the convention will make at this session, especially the tendency on part of the group to depend more upon themselves than upon the Government in initiating and making such studies.

Hoover Letter on Health.

President Hoover, through a communication read by M. Grant Lucas, president of the Columbian Education Association, called attention to means by which schools and colleges could help to put into practice standards of education and life adopted by the White House Conference on Child Welfare, especially in development of programs of health, vocational guidance and character training.

His letter stated that the association "comprises a group of men and women whose services to their race and to our country are invaluable."

Hope of unification of peoples and races of the world through educational processes was expressed by Dantes Bellegarde, minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary from Haiti, and interpreted by Hallie Queen Jaxon. In responding to the addresses of welcome, John W. Davis, president of the West Virginia State College, stated that the use of the ballot universally should be taught as the most favorable agency for Negro participation in government, particularly in effecting social legislation needed in America to help the poor of all races.

Dr. Cooper's Address.

William John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, made the principal address, emphasizing educational preparation as the basis for salvation of the Negro in employment situations today. Inability of the Negro to remain in agricultural communities he attributed to lack of education.

"The Negro," he said, "can not survive in this machine era if he has nothing to sell but his brawn. He must be educated after every fashion to suit developments of the times. He must cease to put emphasis on his handicaps, and place that emphasis squarely on his potentialities. He must emphasize his educational assets rather than his liabilities." Fannie C. Williams, principal of the Jones School, New Orleans, president of the association, responded.

Conferences today at Howard University will cover elementary, high school, college, rural, agricultural, trades and vocational, home economics and domestic science, and health education. Night sessions through Friday will be held at the Miner Teachers College.

Fredericksburg Fire Does $15,000 Damage

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., July 28.—Two shops and two homes were virtually destroyed by flames which broke out in a cleaning and pressing shop here late this afternoon and quickly spread to the two adjoining frame dwellings.

Volunteer firemen battled the flames for more than an hour before they could be brought under control. The loss will probably reach $15,000.

Texan Possesses Coins of Vatican

First Papal Money Was Issued by Hadrian I 1,200 Years Ago.

Laredo, Tex., July 28 (U.P.).—In the coin cabinet of John L. Dibrell gleams a set of the newest Vatican coins issued by the Pope at Rome. The collection is highly prized, as few are thought to exist in this country.

Pope Hadrian I, under the authority of Charlemagne, coined the first Papal money. In the twelve centuries that followed only a few Popes coined money for Vatican use, many of such issues being purely commemorative or "sede vacante."

Vatican coinage ceased in 1870 with the union of Italy and voluntary imprisonment of Pope Pius IX. The present Vatican state having gained recognition by the Italian government in 1929, Pope Pius XI reached an agreement whereby Vatican and Italian money might be acceptable in either state.

CUBAN WRITER FREE IN SEIZURE OF ARMS

Companion Held in $500 Bail for Hearing Tomorrow on Weapon Charge.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Emilio M. Robaina, arrested with Jorge de Zaldo yesterday when authorities seized upon a trunk containing revolvers, ammunition and equipment assertedly intended for Cuban revolutionists, was discharged today upon arraignment before United States Commissioner Garret W. Cotter.

De Zaldo was held in $500 bail by Magistrate Maurice H. Gotlieb for a hearing Thursday on a charge of possessing concealed weapons.

Assistant District Attorney George Carney asked the magistrate to set high bail, saying Department of Justice agents and police detectives planned to arrest other men believed to have been agitating recently in Harlem for the raising of a revolutionary army and supplies. The magistrate, however, allowed the same bail fixed in night court last night to stand.

Robaina was questioned by Assistant United States Attorney J. Edward Lumbard, jr., who found there was nothing on which to base a Federal charge.

Upon being released, Robaina said his activities in this country have been directed "against the violation of the principle of freedom of the press in Cuba."

Robaina described himself as Washington correspondent for the newspaper El Pais.

Engineer Drowns Cat; Crew Asks His Arrest

New Orleans, July 28 (U.P.).—Shipmates of J. E. Ahern, chief engineer of the steamship Ely Kellogg, were so incensed at his alleged act in hurling the ship's mascot, Blackie, a cat, overboard on leaving Santa Monica Bay, Calif., that they had him arrested here.

Ahern was released when prosecuting officials told the New Orleans Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals he would have to be prosecuted in California. Every member of the crew signed a petition for the arrest.

Fat Men's Club Outing Free From Casualties

Beach Bluff, Mass., July 28 (U.P.).—No casualties were reported this year at the annual picnic of the United States Fat Men's Club here. Last year four ankles were sprained and two automobile springs were broken.

Eighty-five members attended and their total weight was slightly more than 17,000 pounds. During the dinner 225 lobsters were consumed, one man eating five and complaining of hunger an hour later.

Omaha Salvation Army Aids 6,731 Individuals

Omaha, July 28 (U.P.).—Six thousand seven hundred and thirty-one individuals were assisted by the local branch of the Salvation Army during December 1 to April 1, according to Maj. Charles Hepper, division commander.

This is more than three times as many cases as heretofore cared for during the same length of time, he said. More than 8,500 meals were served and 4,068 were given baths and free lodging.

VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY TO END FIRST TERM

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., July 28.—The first term of the University of Virginia summer quarter for 1931 will close this week-end. Examinations start Thursday and continue through Saturday.

The total attendance for the first term is 1,691—23 in excess of the enrollment last summer. They come from 33 States and the District of Columbia. There are 1,205 from Virginia and 486 out-of-State students. Of the out-of-State students, 225 are men and 261 women.

Outside of Virginia, Maryland has the largest representation, 71. New York comes second, with 62; Pennsylvania, third, with 40; South Carolina, fourth, with 34; West Virginia, fifth, with 32, and North Carolina, sixth, with 27.

There are 23 students each from Florida and the District of Columbia. The number from other States is as follows: Mississippi, 21; Georgia, 20; New Jersey, 17; Kentucky and Tennessee, 16 each; Delaware, 15; Ohio, 12; Alabama, 8; Connecticut, Massachusetts, Michigan and Missouri, 6 each; Illinois and Louisiana, 4 each; Arkansas, 3; Indiana, Nebraska, Rhode Island and Texas, 2 each; and Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, New Hampshire and Oregon, 1 each.

Registration for the second term, which opens Saturday, began yesterday, and will continue through next Monday. This term of five weeks will close Friday, September 4.

Most of the courses offered during the first term are to be given again during the second, but because this term is one week shorter the instruction and the work will be more intensive than during the initial term of six weeks.

Virginia Truckers To Meet in Protest

Higher License Proposal Results in Calling of Leesburg Session.

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., July 28.—A meeting under the auspices of the Virginia Motor Truck Owners Association will be held in the courthouse at Leesburg tomorrow evening at 7:30 to consider the greatly increased schedule of license fees for motor trucks proposed by T. McCall Frazier, State commissioner for motor vehicles. A Loudoun County chapter of the association will be formed at the meeting.

Fenton Connor, Leesburg attorney, will open the meeting, and other talks on the problems involved will be made by Jerome Fanciulli, of Bluemont, chairman of the executive committee; Walter S. Smith, of Alexandria, a director of the association, and others.

The organization committee for Loudoun County consists of J. W. Hoffman, of Middleburg; Arthur C. Jackson, of Aldie; M. S. Hindman, of Purcellville, and Harry T. Shry and L. C. Carr, of Leesburg.

Mr. Fanciulli says the changes in the motor vehicle law advocated by Commissioner Frazier will work a hardship on all those whose business is dependent on motor truck transportation.

ALEXANDRIA NAMES ELECTION OFFICIALS

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Officials have been named by the city Democratic committee for the Democratic primary Tuesday, August 4, for the purpose of nominating a State senator and member of the House of Delegates. The race for the State Senate is between John W. Rust, of Fairfax County, and Col. Charles T. Jesse, of Arlington County, while J. Fred Birrell is unopposed for the House of Delegates to represent Alexandria. The polls will open at sunrise and close at sunset.

The officials for the six wards of Alexandria are as follows:

First, Armory Hall, east side of Royal street between Prince and Duke streets: Scott Grimm, judge and registrar; J. Edward Shinn and Charles Sherwood, judges; Bernard J. Fegan and Louis Poss, clerks.

Second, 110 North Royal street: Frank C. Creighton, judge and registrar; E. E. Lawler, jr., and Robert McDonald, judges; Jack Allen and Fred Pettit, clerks.

Third, Odd Fellows Hall, 218 North Columbus street: Frank R. Monroe, judge and registrar; F. D. Moore and Stanley King, judges; Howard M. Smith and Joseph West, clerks.

Fourth, Friendship Engine House, Alfred street between King and Prince streets: George H. Ralling, judge and registrar; Claude W. Fletcher and Vernon Dyson, judges; Henry Hunter and Howard Fannon, clerks.

Fifth, Rosemont Station: John J. Kiger, judge and registrar; John W. Brookfield and James Armstrong, judges; Howard M. Baggett and Ebner Duncan, clerks.

Sixth, Jefferson Clinic Building, Mount Vernon avenue: J. Frank Moriarty, registrar and judge; J. W. Harding and Charles L. Burgess, judges; George Jones and John Peed, clerks.

Of the twenty fire hydrants recently ordered by the city council, seven have been installed and three more are being put in the annexed territory. Ten additional will be installed. The hydrants, some of which were removed from Washington street in its reconstruction work, are being put in by the Alexandria Water Co.

Those hydrants already installed are on Montrose avenue at the entrance to St. Agnes School; entrance to Jefferson Park on Russell road; Russell road and Beech street; Alexandria and Woolfolk avenues, and Walnut and Pitt avenues. Those now under way are at Lloyd and Royal avenues, Howell and Royal avenues, and Lloyd avenue between Russell road and Washington avenue.

William Lewis, colored, 20 years old, for whom the police have been searching since he is alleged to have shot and fatally wounded George Francis Webster, also colored, at Queen and Henry streets, Sunday night, was taken in custody yesterday by Sergt. Lawrence Padgett while Lewis was on his way to police headquarters to surrender.

Lewis, it is understood, will claim self-defense, and states that he was not acquainted with the man whom he killed.

Walter Smith, who conducts a trucking and taxicab business on South Pitt street, gave bond of $1,000 yesterday in the United States Court for one year, guaranteeing that he would not permit any violation of the prohibition law on his premises. This closes the proposed injunction proceedings to close his place of business because another man is alleged to have sold liquor there, it being admitted that Smith had nothing to do with the alleged sale.

The case of the Government against Bernard P. Brooks, who formerly operated the Triangle Barbecue and Service Station in Fairfax County, charging the sale of liquor in his place, was dropped.

Alexandria police yesterday were asked to look out for McCall Tillman, jr., of Barcroft, Arlington County, 11 years old, who has been missing from his home since Sunday. The boy is described as being 5 feet tall, brown hair, brown eyes, dark complexion, dressed in a blue shirt, gray trousers and tennis shoes when last seen.

The case against Police Capt. W. W. Campbell, charged with unlawfully entering the market stall of Chauncey Bros., again was continued yesterday, owing to the illness of the accused. The hearing was set for 9 o'clock tomorrow morning in Police Court.

A jury in the Corporation Court was unable to agree in the suit of Mary F. Wanzer, Negro, administratrix of the estate of Rufus Wanzer, in which she seeks to recover damages in the sum of $10,000 for fatal injuries to her husband, and Judge W. P. Woolls discharged the jury and stated the case will have to be heard again at the September term of court. It is alleged in the suit that the deceased purchased kerosene and instead got gasoline at the store of Beatrice Terrell, and the suit is against the Terrell woman and the National Oil Co.

Motorcycle Policeman James Bayliss, who was injured in an accident on Monday afternoon and taken to the Alexandria Hospital and treated by Dr. S. B. Moore, was taken to his home yesterday afternoon in the Fire Department ambulance, with members of the rescue squad in attendance. The officer reported that he was chasing a speeding car and blowing his siren when E. L. Broadway, of Mount Crighan, S. C., pulled into the intersection, and Bayliss applied his brakes with the result that the motorcycle skidded. Broadway's case in police court yesterday was continued.

James H. Brownlee, 27 years old, giving his address as Portsmouth, Va., was given one month in jail in police court yesterday charged with being a hit-and-run driver, failing to stop for an officer, and colliding. The police claim the car driven by Brownlee struck a car operated by Willie Terry 131 East Lloyd avenue, and was caught after a chase. The collision occurred at King and Columbus streets, causing Terry to run his car up on the sidewalk, and the driver of the colliding car was caught in the 1900 block of King street, ten blocks away.

A continuance in the appeal case of the city against John T. Rhines, Negro, undertaker, to prevent him from continuing an undertaking establishment in the 200 block of North Patrick street, was granted in corporation court yesterday, and will come up at the September term of court.

Mrs. Georgia M. Sawyer, who lived at 119 South Royal street, died yesterday at the Alexandria Hospital. She was a daughter of the late Harry D. and Emma Javins, of Fairfax County. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Cunningham funeral home, 809 Cameron street, conducted by the Rev. Mr. James, and burial will be in Ivy Hill Cemetery.

Thomas Edgar Mills, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edgar Mills, of 110 Commerce street, yesterday was notified he is the winner of the first award in the State-wide contest for boys from 12 to 19, offered by the Fisher Body Corporation, of Detroit, Mich., for the best miniature Napoleonic coach.

HOLDUP SUSPECT

JAMES A. WALLACE

ASSAULT PRISONER CALLED BANK THIEF

Man Held at Ellicott City Is Believed of Trio Balked in Marlboro Holdup.

A man who has been held in the jail at Ellicott City, Md., for more than a month on a charge of criminal assault is thought to be the third member of the gang of men who attempted to hold up the First National Bank in Marlboro, Md., in April.

The man being held gives his name as James A. Wallace, although Sheriff W. C. Hopkins, of Prince Georges County, said yesterday that the third man of the gang was supposed to be Edward Richards. Sheriff Hopkins has said, however, that he believes the man in Ellicott City is the man wanted. He will go the Ellicott City jail today to question Richards.

Sheriff Hopkins said that a picture of Wallace seemed to be that of the man who also appears in a photograph of Geneva Lanigan. This woman is thought to be the wife of another member of the gang, and was indicted for the robbery with her husband. A picture furnished by a banker's association showed this woman and the man resembling Wallace.

One Wallace's Record.

Wallace is the latest name to be given by the man who is held in Howard County. Since his arrest on June 16 he has given five other names, including that of James Richards and James Richart. A James A. Wallace has a record in Connecticut, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Buffalo, Baltimore and Washington. He was charged with forgery in Baltimore in 1926. The charge against him here is said to be drunkenness, for which he was sentenced to fifteen days in jail on May 19, 1931.

Even if Wallace is the man wanted for the Marlboro job, the sheriff said, he is not likely to be brought back to Prince Georges County for trial, as criminal assault is a capital offense in Maryland. Trial on the more serious charge will take precedence.

On April 9 three men attempted to hold up the bank in Marlboro, and one of them was killed when the assistant cashier, Claude H. Owens, opened fire. Another of the bandits is thought to be Joseph Pierce Lanigan, who was captured last week in Illinois on charges of holding up a bank there. Lanigan has been indicted in Prince Georges County for the holdup. He is said to have confessed to the Marlboro crime.

Lanigan's Confession.

The man who was killed was identified as Joseph Hayes, a Chicago gangster. He died immediately. Since his arrest in Illinois, Lanigan has said that the third man of the trio was Edward Richards. No trace has been found of the red-haired woman who is thought to have helped plan the job and who was indicted with Lanigan.

Lanigan's purported confession of the Marlboro crime says that he held the machine gun at the door of the bank while Hayes went into the cashier's cage for the money. After Hayes was shot the other two fled in Hayes' car, which was wrecked near Brown's Station. Here they took to the woods on foot, throwing away the machine gun about 2 miles from where they left the car. The sheriff has decided to make no search for the weapon as directions are too meager to give any hope of success.

Montgomery Lets Furniture Orders

Courthouse Equipment to Cost $43,000 Bought for County.

Contracts for furniture for the new Montgomery County courthouse were awarded yesterday by the county commissioners to the General Fireproofing Co. and the Dulaney-Vernay Co. Total cost of the furnishings will be $43,037.74.

The former company will deliver the steel furniture at a cost of $23,437.06, its bid being more than $3,000 less than the next highest. The wood furniture will be supplied by the Dulaney-Vernay Co., whose bid was $11,997.55. Although this estimate was the highest of four submitted, the contract was awarded because of the excellence of the furniture and the way the bid was turned in, it was said.

Contract for the chairs, which will be of wood, was awarded separately and was also given to the Dulaney-Vernay Co. The cost will be $7,605.13 and is third from the lowest bid. The same considerations led in award of this contract as those which gave the other work to this company.

ARLINGTON BUILDING CODE GROUP NAMED

Organized Women Voters Are Addressed by Senate Candidates.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Pursuant to a recent act of the county board of supervisors providing for the creating of a board of commissioners to work out a building code for the county, Robert H. Forman, zoning administrator, announced the following persons as members of the commission: H. Bruce Green, Arthur J. Porter, A. F. Thelander, George D. Ricker and Dr. Norbert Milnick. The commissioners will meet in the office of County Engineer C. L. Kinnier Friday morning to perfect their organization. They will, according to Mr. Forman, carry on their work under the supervision of the county engineer.

Mr. Forman pointed out that after careful study of conditions in general in the county for the last several years it was his opinion a building code for the county was necessary and for that reason he brought the matter to the attention of the board of supervisors.

With a view of laying the foundation for the establishment of a building code that will meet the needs of the county, Mr. Forman stated that during the past few days he has had a conference with J. Fred Imirie, building inspector for Montgomery County, Md., and gained from him much valuable information which will be presented to the board of commissioners Friday.

Following out a policy of four years ago in having the various candidates for State and county officers appear and explain their policies, the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County held the first of a series of such meetings yesterday afternoon in the Lyon Park Community House, which was attended by more than 200 persons.

The speakers, Col. Charles T. Jesse, of Arlington County; John W. Rust, of Fairfax County, Democratic candidates for the State Senate, and L. C. Painter, of Fairfax County, who is making the race as the single tax candidate, were the speakers.

Mr. Rust declared that he was heartily in accord with the plans for the development of the shores of the Potomac River as outlined by the Federal Government and felt that the State, as far as possible, should give its financial aid.

He advocated continuance of the State highway building program and predicted that the time was not far off when this entire area will be laid out in a great system of boulevards.

He stated that Arlington County has had one of its citizens, Frank L. Ball, in the State Senate for two terms and he felt that representation should no go to Fairfax County.

Col. Jesse, who has served four terms in the House of Delegates, declared that he stood on his record.

"I have been a resident of Arlington County for the past 21 years and in the four terms I served in the General Assembly my only motive was to promote the best interests of Arlington County.

"Six years ago efforts were made to incorporate the county. I found the interests in the county divided and opposed the move. Had the county been incorporated it would have lost between a million and a million and a quarter dollars in taxes for roads. The Lee boulevard, on which the State is now spending $200,000, and that but the beginning, would not have been started, nor would the Lee highway or the Washington-Richmond highway have been widened nor the Glebe road been built by the State.

"One of the most important pieces of legislation which I sponsored was the amendment to the State constitution which made possible the change in the county form of government which becomes effective January 1, 1932."

Concluding the speaking, the president, Mrs. Ruby G. Simpson, announced that after September 4 there will be other meetings. The next will be held in the Ashton Heights Woman's Clubhouse, the date to be announced.

Recognizing the need of keeping a careful record of all changes made to the zoning map of the county and also approved permits that it will not be necessary to hold second public hearings, Zoning Administrator Robert H. Forman has written the following letter to Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth, which he made public yesterday:

"At several past meetings of the board of supervisors, certain amendments and changes in the zoning map have been ordered changed. These changes and amendments have, however, not been made a part of the board's minutes and there is no record of said proceedings. At the last meeting of the board of supervisors I requested William H. Duncan, clerk of the court, to incorporate this data in his minute book. He stated that he would prefer your office undertaking the structure of these minutes and upon receiving same from you he would place them in the book.

"I am herewith handing you all the data that this office has and will appreciate it if you will designate a time at your convenience that County Engineer C. L. Kinnier, and I may confer with you on this subject. It would be well to arrange to have this ready by the next meeting of the board."

Thrown from his wheel when the rear tire blew out, John Fraber, 8 years old, of Ballston, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday.

The child was found lying on the road in Lyon Village, near the Lee highway, by Assistant County Engineer Lincoln Mackey, who brought him to the county courthouse, where he received first aid treatment by Mrs. R. N. Davies, of the county health department. He was later taken to his home by Mrs. Mae Jacobs, superintendent of public welfare.

E. H. Harris, of Lyon Village, defeated candidate for the Republican nomination for the county board, in a letter to J. E. Spaulding, county chairman, yesterday assured him that he will support the nominees of the party at the county election in November.

CHURCH IS GRANTED NEW SCHOOL PERMIT

Prince Georges Passes Act for Parochial Building on Lot in Berwyn.

The Prince Georges County commissioners yesterday passed an ordinance permitting the Holy Redeemer Church, in Berwyn, to erect a parochial school on a lot immediately across from the church. Under the zoning law the location of schools in a residential area is permitted without change in zoning, when approved by the commissioners. Caesar Aiello appeared as attorney for the church.

Alvin Pumphrey was appointed constable in Chillum district when it was found that there were no objections to his selection from residents. The commissioners also approved a proposed town ordinance of Marlboro prohibiting parking on the south side of the State road from Eastern Shore Trust Co. to Water street, and on the north side from Water street to an alley about 200 feet west.

The State Roads Commission will post signs marking the prohibited zone. The ordinance was presented by Judge T. Van Clagett, Fred Wilson, Paul Smith, of the roads commission, and State Policeman J. E. Taylor. The proposed measure is expected to prevent the frequent traffic jams on the main street, caused by cars parked on both sides. There is not room between two rows of parked cars for two moving autos to pass, and dented fenders are a frequent occurrence.

Chief of Police J. J. Crowley reported to the board that his men had been able to find no "petting parties" or other disorder in the vicinity of the Suitland Christian Church. The pastor of the institution had complained of the parties alleged to be held in and near the church after dark. The commissioners were also asked to decorate the courthouse for the annual convention of the County Firemen's Association on August 8, and agreed to do so.

The commissioners received a complaint about the condition of the road between Croome and Croome Station through Calvert. The letter was referred to the chairman of the district road committee. The board also decided to build a bridge over Johnnies Shop Branch in Piscataway district, and to construct a culvert in Bradbury Heights.

Girl, 3, Is Victim Of Spotted Fever

First Case Is Reported to Montgomery Health Authorities.

The Montgomery County Health Department has received its first report of a case of spotted fever in the county, although a number of other cases have been reported from southern Maryland, particularly Prince Georges County.

The disease has attacked a 3-year-old girl who lives in the vicinity of Wheaton. She is a patient in a Washington hospital. Her condition was reported as "fair."

Spotted fever is a disease similar to typhus, and is transmitted by the bite of the woodtick. It is fatal in about 75 per cent of the cases. Two of the three cases reported in Prince Georges County resulted in death.

Illegal Possession Charged.

Illegal possession of one-half gallon of liquor was charged to Augustus Francis Scott, 25, colored, after he was arrested at 103 R street northwest yesterday. The raid was conducted by a First Inspection District police squad led by Sergt. R. A. Johnson. Scott was released under $500 bond.

ELECTION PLATFORM IS STATED BY ALLEN

Fairfax County Democratic House Candidate Gives Views on Issues.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

Edmund H. Allen, of Newington, former president of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for the Virginia House of Delegates from Fairfax County, stated yesterday that his platform consisted of thirteen propositions affecting Fairfax County citizens.

Among the thirteen points Mr. Allen states that he favors a conservative and business consideration of all subjects, improvement of elementary schools and new school buildings, and the support of existing agricultural, welfare and health organizations under reasonable taxation.

He states that he is opposed "to any attempt to nullify the eighteenth amendment" and to the extension of the so-called "short ballot" system, and would favor an extension of the time limit or a return to the former system. He favors regulation of interstate motor bus and truck transportation, zoning laws for Fairfax County, regulation of tourist camps, a continuation of the road police and a regulation protecting the traveling public from automobile injury by irresponsible persons.

Mr. Allen states that he favors cooperation with the Federal Government in the improvement of northern Virginia, but strictly conserving the rights of the county to govern and control the territory affected.

The board of directors of the Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce, at a special meeting Monday night in the chamber's offices at Fairfax, appointed a committee to audit the books of C. C. Carr, the outgoing secretary, and R. R. Buckley, treasurer, of the trade body. The members of the committee are Capt. Thurlow White, of Balleys Crossroads; Martin T. Webb, of Annandale, and Mrs. E. D. Vosbury, of Merrifield.

The directors also indorsed the action of the Merrifield Improvement Association in its attempt to secure adequate electric service for that community. The association is planning to take its fight for service direct to the State Corporation Commission in Richmond.

The retiring secretary made a verbal report of his work during his tenure of office and formally surrendered the office to the incoming secretary, Mrs. G. Ashley Money, of Colvin Run.

Acting Town Sergt. Paul Herrman, of Falls Church, has been served with a warrant by the Arlington County police, charging assault. The warrant was sworn to by Lloyd Ernest, chief of the colored fire department of Halls Hill. The trial, scheduled for yesterday morning in the Arlington County Police Court, was postponed at the request of Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth.

According to Sergt. Herrman, the warrant was a result of an affray which occurred last Thursday at the fire near Franklin Park. Herrman states that the Halls Hill fire truck ran into a car belonging to Joseph Birch and the Falls Church fire engine. In the argument following Ernest is alleged to have started to hit Birch with an ax as Birch turned to leave. Herrman states that he drew his gun, telling Ernest to stop as he was not in reach of him.

A warrant has been issued for Ernest by the Falls Church police, charging him with an assault with a dangerous weapon and disorderly conduct. The trial will take place before Mayor L. P. Daniel as the alleged offense took place within one mile, over which the town has jurisdiction.

The town council of Falls Church has authorized the contractors now laying the Lee highway through the town to lay a 5-foot sidewalk, with curbing, from the railroad tracks in East Falls Church to Crossman street, near the east corporate line.

The cost of this improvement, which is being made at the request of the East Falls Church Citizens Association, will be $995, an increase of $275 over the cost of the curbing alone, which was authorized at a regular meeting of the council.

The Falls Church Volunteer Fire Department, at its meeting Monday night in the engine house on Washington street, in East Falls Church, reelected Robert E. Kendrick president; R. L. Harmon, vice president; W. A. Fravel, secretary; George Maben, assistant secretary, and Joseph G. Loveday, treasurer. O. C. Pearson was elected chief of the department, with Cline Donaldson, first assistant; Douglas Royston, second assistant, and Donald Jones, third assistant. Moyer Copeland was selected engineer, with Joseph Birch as assistant. E. L. Jones was made fire marsral and Joseph Loveday and Z. B. Groves, trustees. President Kendrick made a report of the recent firemen's carnival in Falls Church.

Helen Grubbs Is Married to Lieut. Belch

Announcement of Elkton Wedding on July 24 Is Made.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith Grubbs, of Warrenton, Va., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Helen Grubbs, to Lieut. Keith Rogers Belch, U. S. N. The ceremony took place at Elkton, Md., on Friday, July 24.

The bride was graduated from the Warrenton High School in 1927 and has since continued her studies in Washington.

Mrs. Belch is a descendant of Sir William Berkley Governor of Virginia, and is a direct lineal descendant of Gen. Caleb Swan, of Revolutionary fame.

Lieut. Belch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Belch, of Anacostia, D. C. He was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1921 and attended the post-graduate school there in 1929. Lieut. Belch is now on duty aboard the U. S. S. Bushnell. Mrs. Belch will join him in Panama for a short while before going to San Diego, Calif., the base port of the Bushnell.

Spain Is Quiet, Traveler Says Upon Return

Franklin Adamses Were Three Months There and in Africa.

All is quiet on the Spanish main.

This is the comment of Mr. Franklin Adams, counselor of the Pan-American Union, and Mrs. Adams, who are back in Washington from a three months' journey abroad, when all of their time was spent in Spain except ten days in Paris.

Despite the admonition of American friends not to seek the highways of Spain this summer, Mr. and Mrs. Adams experienced an unusually delightful sojourn in their favorite European country. "We lost neither luggage, patience nor time," declared Mrs. Adams, who found the usual splendid service throughout the country.

Amused at the letters from American friends expressing worry because of their ramblings in a "distraught and new republic," the travelers had a perfectly glorious time poking into hillside towns and visiting the capitals of Spanish provinces.

Up and down the fascinating highways of Spain, into its valleys and cities and around its coast line Mr. and Mrs. Adams traveled and found no disorder nor apparent unrest.

Keenly interested in the organization of the new republic and eager to observe its progress Mr. and Mrs. Adams directed considerable attention to the political phase unfolding not only in Madrid but throughout the peninsula. Seasoned travelers and knowing well their Spain the popular Washington couple followed the sun, with eternal spring in their wake as they journeyed up from Cadiz through lovely Andalusa, gradually working northward until midsummer found them in the mountains with fine bracing days beckoning further exploration toward the French border.

The travelers lingered in San Sebastian, "the pretty summer capital by the sea which Mrs. Adams declares the loveliest seaport in Europe. They took a flyer up to Paris to attend the colonial exposition, remaining in France only ten days, as they were eager to return to San Sebastian that they might witness the reaction of the elections.

"Our most delightful experience on this trip," Mrs. Adams explained, "was the visit to St. Jean de Luz in the French Basque country, beautiful beyond description. We love that part of the world, whose only rival is the Spanish Basque country."

Mr. and Mrs. Adams spent some time in beautiful Santander and traveled slowly through the Asturias sans rains, sans heat, with soft sunshine attending every hour of every day. Finally they reached Vigo, on the Galician coast, where they embarked for the United States, reaching New York three days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams left Washington in April, the latter having spent but a few days here following her long absence in Abyssinia, where she attended the coronation of the king last winter and spent three weeks with the Minister to Abyssinia and Mrs. Southard. Mrs. Adams had planned an extensive trip through Africa and other out-of-the-way places, but the illness and subsequent death of her sister, a traveler in Palestine, brought her back to San Francisco, where she was engaged for some weeks in settling her sister's affairs.

President of the National Society of Women Geographers, Mrs. Adams declares she will settle down in Washington for "a little while" and direct efforts toward the work awaiting her in the society. She is the author of an article on Madrid, which will appear in the August number of the National Geographic. Mr. and Mrs. Adams make their home at the Marlborough.

Mrs. Charles J. Bell will go this week to Long Island to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Granville Fortescue, before sailing for Europe, where she will travel extensively.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxim Karolik will entertain at a musicale this evening at their summer home at Newport, in honor of Lady Herbert, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. T. Shaw Safe. Mrs. E. H. G. Slater, of Washington, has also been visiting in Newport with her sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Karolik will entertain a small group at dinner with additional guests invited for the concert.

Miss Hogan to Stay At Fourth Lake.

Miss Mabel Hogan will go to Fourth Lake, N. Y., in about two weeks, where she will pass the rest of the summer. Last year Miss Hogan spent the season at Big Moose Lake in the Adirondacks. Her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Armstrong, who reached Los Angeles via the Panama Canal about two weeks ago, will remain in the West for a fortnight longer before starting the return journey to Washington.

Mrs. Barbour Daingerfield and her daughter, Miss Anne Daingerfield, will leave today for Cape May, where they will pass August.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Payton Wilson have gone to New York and will sail Friday night on the Rotterdam for Europe, where they will pass several weeks in Germany. They will return to their home, Hollin Hall, near Alexandria, Va., in the early fall. Before returning home Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will visit in Paris.

Mrs. J. Wilmer Biddle, who is now with her daughter, Mrs. Keppel-Palmer, in London, will visit in Paris before returning to her Virginia estate early in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ward have as their guests Lieut. Comdr and Mrs. George L. Woodruff, of Annapolis.

Mrs. William L. Hollis, of Winchester, Va., has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Maria Louisa Hollis, to Beverley Nixon Rice, now living in Washington, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Rice, of Winchester. The wedding is to take place in the early fall, the announcement, made at an afternoon tea, said.

The bride will have one attendant, Miss Rose Grosvenor Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Davis, and little Miss Margaret Schmelzel, a niece, will be the flower girl.

W. Wankowicz Is Given High Warsaw Post

Prince Sapiela Chosen as Counselor Here; Is Bachelor.

Having been appointed in the ministry of commerce and industry at Warsaw, Poland, Mr. Witold Wankowicz, who has been serving as commercial counselor at the Polish Embassy in Washington, will not return to this country. He sailed for Europe a month or two ago to join Mme. Wankowicz at their home. The latter left Washington a year ago, after residing in the Capital for a number of years during her husband's term of service here.

Prince Andrew Sapiela has been appointed to succeed Mr. Wankowicz in Washington. He has been on duty with the minister of commerce and is expected to arrive in the Capital shortly. A bachelor, Prince Sapiela spent several years in the United States when he was studying the banking system in New York.

English Woman in Russia Prefers Life Among Reds

Miner's Widow Tells Lady Astor in Open Letter She Fares Better With Communists Than Women of Capitalistic Nations.

Moscow, July 28 (A.P.).—An open letter to Lady Astor by an Englishwoman, who said she came to Russia with her husband and two children five years ago, in answer to Lady Astor's offer to pay the expenses of any Communist "with the courage to go to Soviet Russia with his family," was published today, declaring that nothing could induce the woman to return to her native country.

In a letter dated Leningrad, July 21, the writer, whose name was given as Mrs. Ray Morton, said that she and her husband had accepted the public challenge of Lady Astor, and had left London with their family on August 22, 1926, for the trip to Russia at Lady Astor's expense.

"Naturally," the letter said, "Lady Astor will be much interested to know how we are living. She must feel a certain responsibility for our welfare."

Mrs. Morton's husband, a coal miner, she wrote, died two years after their arrival, of a chronic disease from which he suffered before he came to Soviet Russia.

"My comrades helped me by taking care of me and my children," she wrote. "There is no reason which could induce me to leave Russia to go to my old fatherland, where as a widow I could afford only a miserable living for my children. Here they receive an education. I have been given every opportunity to earn for myself and maintain my children. This makes me happy and satisfied."

11 Young Women Attempt To Pass Diplomacy Test

(United Press.)

There are only eleven entries in the semiannual sweepstakes for young ladies who would like to be diplomats. These eleven young women perspired over State Department Foreign Service examinations held Monday and yesterday in thirteen cities. With them in the competition were 255 young men, who share the craving to wear the tophats of the diplomatic service.

The examinations were held simultaneously in Washington, Boston, Atlanta, Chicago, Cincinnati, Denver, New Orleans, Seattle, New York City, Philadelphia, St. Louis, St. Paul and San Francisco.

Written tests were prepared by the State Department. The Civil Service Commission furnished the mechanical equipment and examiners. Oral tests will follow for those fortunate candidates who pass the severe preliminaries.

If any of the eleven young women succeeds in passing the preliminaries and the subsequent oral tests, she will be assigned to the State Department's Foreign Service School. Graduated from that, she may be detailed to the department for service or may go abroad as an American vice consul.

Four young women now hold vice consulships abroad, two in Europe, one in Cuba and one in Syria.

In Geneva, Switzerland, is Margaret Warner, who says when she first attended a luncheon for vice consuls at that post, some of the gentlemen present, who hadn't been informed of her sex, almost suffered heart attacks from surprise.

The other three are Frances Willis, in Santiago, Cuba; Nelle B. Stagsdell, in Beirut, Syria, and Constance Nardey, in Milan, Italy.

Hoover to Make Radio Address.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Sanders, of New York, said yesterday that President Hoover had consented to make a radio address to a Clara Barton Memorial meeting at Dansville, N. Y., on September 9, the fiftieth anniversary of the foundation of the Dansville Chapter by Miss Barton.

NO EXTRA FARE
DAILY to Philadelphia and New York. Cool and clean and quiet! The first fully air-conditioned train in the world. Every car comfortably cool on the hottest days. Dust, smoke, cinders, and excessive humidity removed. Closed windows, and rubber pads on wheel trucks, keep each car comparatively quiet. Every two minutes the air is completely changed, freshened, and purified. Each car—Club-Lounge. Sunroom-Observation car, Colonial Diner, Parlor cars, Individual Seat coaches and Smoking car—cool, clean, quiet! Come and enjoy the Columbian!
And now in addition, an air-conditioned MORNING train
BECAUSE of the tremendous popularity of the air-conditioned COLUMBIAN, we have added a morning train, also air-conditioned, leaving Washington daily at 9:10 A.M., E. S. T. Parlor cars, Club Lounge, Dining car, and Individual Seat coaches. We take pleasure in now offering the public a choice of two daily air-conditioned trains to Philadelphia and New York—one in the morning at 9:10 A.M., and the other in the afternoon at 4:00 P. M.—the only two trains of their kind in the world.

Indoor—Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT.

WHEN LACE FLIES ATTACK YOUR RHODODENDRONS.

EACH year numbers of rhododendrons and hardy azaleas are injured by what are known as lacewing flies or lace bugs. These are small sucking insects which have white, lacelike wings and grayish bodies. Having a sucking mouthpiece, they attach themselves to the under side of the leaves of these broad-leaved evergreens and slowly but surely suck the juices of the plants. You can detect the presence of this enemy by the mottled grayish or brownish spots which follow an infestation.

If the lace flies are sufficiently plentiful and are permitted to follow their own devices when fall comes the leaves of your finest rhododendrons or azaleas will begin to curl up and fall off.

These destructive insects live through the winter in the egg stage of their existence. Were you to hunt them you might find them on the leaves or in the young bark of the bushes. The eggs hatch in May and again in August. As a rule, there are two broods each year.

There are two times in the year when you should spray for lace flies. The first is in June and the second is in August when the second brood begins to be active. You can buy a commercial preparation to spray for these insects or you can make your own. The most effective sprays contain nicotine, pyrethrum and soap. The commercial sprays give explicit directions for diluting the liquid, so read directions carefully before using.

The secret of success depends on the way you use the spray. If it is really to combat the insects it must reach the lower side of every leaf on the plant, as it is on the lower sides of the foliage that we find the lace flies. Then it must cover the upper sides of the leaves as well as all stems. This applies to old wood as well as young growth.

It will repay you to make two applications, ten days apart. If you purchase a spray and see from the formula that it does not contain soap, better add some to the solution. My reason for suggesting soap is to insure the material's adhering to the foliage a sufficiently long time to kill the insects.

I had a pot of Jerusalem cherries and ferns given to me at Christmas. These plants are not doing well. Would you suggest that I separate them? Also can I grow Jerusalem cherries from seed? MRS. A. L. C.

Separate the plants at this time. You can propagate Jerusalem cherries from seeds or cuttings.

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons fat, melted
1 cup washed berries.

Sprinkle three tablespoons sugar over berries, which have been picked over and washed. Mix rest of ingredients and beat three minutes. Fold in berries. Half fill greased muffin pans, bake for fifteen minutes in moderate oven. Serve warm with butter.

Deviled Eggs.

6 hard cooked eggs
3 tablespoons chopped green peppers
3 tablespoons celery
3 tablespoons chopped olives
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
4 tablespoons salad dressing
2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Cut the eggs in halves lengthwise. Remove and mash the yolks with fork. Add remaining ingredients, excepting egg white cases. Refill cases and chill. Serve on a platter and garnish with parsley.

Rice Butterscotch Pudding.

3 cups milk
1 cup dark brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons butter.

Mix rice and milk. Cook in double boiler 30 minutes. Cover during cooking, stir frequently. Add sugar and salt, cook until the mixture thickens a little. Add rest of ingredients. Cook five minutes. Pour into glass dish. Cool and chill. Serve plain or with plain or whipped cream.

Ann Interprets the Mode

New York, July 28.

IN the hottest midsummer season our gay parties, far from waning, become lovelier and more amusing and more thrilling. Hot July stars and fragrant breezes call forth our sheerest and daintiest evening frocks—and women love to take full advantage of this warmest season to clothe themselves sheerly and appropriately.

Were ever colors so sparkingly different? Was ever lace more beautifully used? And, my deahs, who could pass by the floral prints used so harmoniously for those frocks? Speaking of colors, lemon yellow is seen ever so often, sometimes alone, and occasionally combined unusually with gray. White and pastel tinted laces vie in their novel uses—always charmingly, of course. And georgettes, chiffons, tulles and nets, printed or plain, sway to soft music 'neath the stars.

One very lovely frock I saw recently was of flowered chiffon, bordered with net. The frock itself was rather plain, but it had an interesting capescarf of net, and flowers cut from the chiffon were appliqued to it to break the harshness of the transition line. Another adorably cool frock was of palest green net, with short puffed sleeves and trimmed with double ruchings of pale green net. And a gay young frock of maize yellow chiffon has four tiers on the skirt, which dipped in the back and formed a little trainlike arrangement.

• • • •

A summer afternoon frock that one would never tire of—what a tantalizing, elusive hope for women! Yet it isn't impossible if you realize that gray, cool and becoming to most people, is an ideal color for such an ideal costume. Somehow, it seems to change its color tone to suit one's mood—or so I found when I wore the little georgette and taffeta frock "pour l'apres-midi" that I not only sketch for you today, but designed my own self. How do you like the taffeta incrustations and the perky taffeta bows? I thought you'd agree with me. Wasn't it a good idea to mold the frock to the hips with rounded incrustations, and then add graceful fullness by circular skirt godets?

• • • •

Go ahead and copy it—or have your dressmaker do it. I'll bet anything you like that it will be the very most favorite frock in your wardrobe.

• • • •

A very lovely black and white accessory to wear with a daylight evening costume is a necklace like the one illustrated today, which is of jet and pearls, with sparkling strass slides and rondelles.

• • • •

Do you want to be a dangerous woman? A real, genuine menace to the most masculine of men in the game of wits that intrigues us all? Wel-l-l-l-ll, I'll tell you how to go about it. Take one crochet needle and one ball of gay-colored silky thread, send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post right away, for this week's illustrated leaflet—follow directions and observe the result. For a needle of any kind is woman's deadliest weapon, especially when plied with demure, downcast eyes and when the results in the form of exquisite handiwork are really Parisian in smartness. 'N' watch the man fall for this pose, while your active brain, stimulated by your needlework, runs circles around his mental processes.

• • • •

Of interest is Dare's weekly fashion letter. Watch for it in the Sunday Washington Post.

Au revoir!

ADVANTAGE OF PRE-EMPTIVE OVERBIDS.

UNDER the Approach Forcing System, three bids in a major and four bids in a minor suit cover the range of hands, strong aggressively and warranting an attempt for game (usually in that suit), but entirely too weak distributionally for an Opening bid of two in a suit. A game bid tells partner that the hand has a powerful trump suit; in other words, distributional strength, but defensively it cannot be counted on. Obviously, most of the value of Preemptive bids will be lost unless they are made before adversaries have made an opening bid, although in some cases, the opportunity may present itself to block valuable exchange of information after one adversary has bid. The intent to shut out opponents, preventing them from reaching the best declaration for their combined hands by Approach bidding methods, is apparent to the adversaries, but may leave them helpless, notwithstanding, especially if their strength is divided and the distribution of their hands normal.

Necessarily a hand warranting such an overbid must be bid, knowing that the penalty points, if doubled, will not exceed the value of an opposing game. In a major suit the hand should contain at least seven playing-tricks, not vulnerable, and eight vulnerable. In a minor suit, nor vulnerable, the hand should contain eight playing-tricks and one more vulnerable.

The Responding Hand, with no intervening bid, will only raise with a hand powerful in honor-tricks, having at least four supporting tricks, inviting a Slam. Should there be an intervening bid, either a Raise or Rebid with insufficient values is a defensive measure fraught with danger. Unless positive that opponents can score game, such a bid is unsound. Moreover there is a possibility of forcing opponents into a successful Slam bid.

South Dealer
East-West vulnerable

South	West	North	East
5♣ (1)	Pass	Pass	Pass (2)

1—South's hand is weak in defensive strength, but strong if played at clubs.

2—East, with 3-½ honor-tricks, is afraid to count on spade tricks because of unequal distribution, so does not double. He is unwilling to risk a bid of five spades because of possible spade length in North's hand.

The play of the hand was simple. South was fortunate in finding the heart Ace on the left of partner's King, and the Queen, Knave of diamonds unprotected. Club nine was led by West, won by East and spade King returned. Declarer lost only the club Ace and heart Ace.

It is interesting to note that East could make four spades, and had the bidding progressed slowly would have bid five, taking a loss of 100 points or forcing a loss of 100 points or forcing South to bid six clubs for a similar penalty.

Today's Pointer.

Overbid in Opponent's Suit Advised.

Game all, love all.

♠ A Q
♥ J 7 3
♦ A Q J 10 9 8 7

The Answer.

The correct bid on this hand is three spades.

It must be evident to North that the bid of two spades is more or less in the nature of a psychic bid; that is, an attempt to prevent a game or Slam bid by his opponents. The best way to expose this situation to his partner is by an overcall in opponent's suit which, after a bid by his partner, shows Slam possibilities, and also that he does not expect to lose any tricks in opponent's suit.

The only danger here is that the partner may assume that club support is indicated, but Third Hand can take out any further bid of clubs in diamonds, North should count on playing this hand in either five or six diamonds, depending on his partner's responses and on the extent of his own gambling instincts.

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF July 29 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., from 6 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 9:30 a. m. to 10:35 a. m., and from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m.

July 29 augurs well for those things which have to do with personal happiness and domestic comfort. A sprinkling of the unexpected and curious will add zest to the monotony of every-day existence. Speculative investments should be avoided.

The child born on this July 29 will have a sleepy nature, and be most unimaginative and unobservant. It will have practical common sense, however, and will develop into a sane living and happy being. It will be affectionate and extremely warm-hearted.

Born on July 29 you instill confidence in others, and are at once recognized as a person to be trusted. You are never guilty of the disloyalty of letting people down, no matter how difficult it may be for you to remain silent. You may not have the reputation for thrilling people, but you have the well-earned reputation for safety and loyalty. You are a generous and kindly person, who is consistently nice to members of both sexes, and you have a host of friends. If you be a woman, you are not catty about other women, and you are free and honest in your praise.

You have good powers of concentration, and failures do not often come your way. You will probably have one great aim in life, for which you will sacrifice all other interests. It would be advisable for you to cultivate hobbies to save yourself from boredom or the lost soul existence, which would be inevitable, if your main channel of thought and action should be cut off. Get away from a one-track mind.

You have self-confidence and assurance, but sometimes you may show austerity, gloominess and a love of retirement. When in a bad mood, you have sense enough to not inflict your dismal self upon others, if it can be helped. Directly or indirectly your fate in life will be largely of your own choosing.

Successful people born July 29:

1—Daniel Drew, capitalist.
2—Eastman Johnson, artist.
3—John S. Pillsbury, Governor of Minnesota.
4—Edward Percy Moran, artist.
5—N. Booth Tarkington, author.
6—William Beebe, zoologist.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Rowdy America.

SUMMER is with us again. Rowdy America ensconced in a car is honking his horn, crowding his neighbor off the road, trespassing on private property, desecrating natural beauty, polluting streams, insulting strangers and, in general, impressing himself upon the landscape and the consciousness.

Something ought to be done about Rowdy America. Not a beach, not a park, not a thoroughfare but bears the mark of his presence. In New England, where formerly all were welcomed to the beaches for rest and refreshing, all are now excluded except private property owners. The hardship thus worked upon the law-abiding is the penalty the decent must pay for his brotherhood with the indecent. Only a few public beaches are open to visitors, and these are so infested with the rowdy and his obnoxiousness that the visitor pauses not. In one New England town a beautiful grove of trees and nearby lake were taken over by this pest. Day and night the residents were subjected to the obscenities of the passing hordes, who disrobed without shelter and disported themselves as the barbarians they are. At last the long-suffering parents of the neighborhood made formal protest to the courts. The rowdy is no longer permitted to enter the section. Residents must show tax receipts to visit the grove. Fine material for the foe of snobbishness. A tax receipt, indeed. But who is responsible? Who goaded that town to such action? Friend Rowdy, who is a law unto himself; who flaunts his wanton disregard for decency in the faces of his fellow men, to their disgust and consternation. Something drastic should be done to render this lawless crew less of a menace to the young and burden to the self-respecting. Voiding of the driving license might help—or even a rule that he must shave or wear a collar. The letter which follows is one of many recently received on the subject. We can only suggest that the owners of the beach follow the example of New England and put the rowdy on a leash—tied outside.

Dear Frances McDonald: We recently purchased with our life' savings a home on a strip of beach—husband, self, married son and four grandchildren. It was paradise until now, when carloads of the most terrible people have begun making it a rendezvous. Their behavior could not be described in print. If my husband protests when they remove their clothes they call him frightful names. Our young folks are just the age to see everything. And there is nothing these people will be ashamed to do. They lie around all day and make the place insanitary because of their habits. Get into fights. Swear and yell. Then, at 3 in the morning, wake us all with their snorting cars and loud horns. They claim they have a right there as this is a free country. Free for whom? These marauders? Certainly not for the decent people who have worked and lived decent lives and done their part to make the country. I am really afraid my son will harm some of them yet for the language they use to us. We do not dare go out of the house. Will you say a word in the paper about this injustice to folks trying to raise children to respect themselves and others? GRANDMOTHER.

A fine picture and typical of the U. S. A. getting suntanned at the other fellow's expense. Some of us who have been hauled to the curb for turning a bit too sharply round a corner, miles from nowhere, can not help wondering if there is not some real work for the motorcycle squad.

Fashion's Brilliant Gesture

Black Satin

Black satin, with new simplicity, lends new formality to the daytime Autumn fashions. Typical is the black satin suit sketched, for afternoon and dinner wear, with its smart contrast of black with white . . . the important diagonal emphasized by lines of fagotting in the blouse . . . and the bias closing of the jacket.

Builders Aver Hoover Dam Will Stand as Long as Site

U. S. Reclamation Service Experts Reply to Challenge of San Francisco Engineer That Huge Structure May Be in Danger of Going Out.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Hoover Dam's builders said today the huge structure will stand as long as Black Canyon, its site—and that the canyon has stood "throughout the ages."

This summarizes the answer of the United States Reclamation Service to questions of the dam's safety. The answer is published in Civil Engineering, official journal of the American Society of Civil Engineers, in reply to an article in the last previous issue by M. H. Gerry, jr., San Francisco engineer.

The replies are signed by Elwood Mead, Commissioner of Reclamation, and Prof. H. M. Westergaard, consulting engineer of the Bureau of Reclamation.

Mr. Gerry said the great 727-foot-high dam may be in danger of going out, like St. Francis Dam. It might slide on its foundation, aided by water pressure getting underneath its concrete mass. He questioned, too, the adequacy of its "arch" shape, whereby the dam bends deeply inward upstream, like a crescent. He suggested more weight to give additional security.

"Nothing could be more misleading," Mr. Mead writes, "than the comparison of the St. Francis and Hoover Dams and the drawing of conclusions therefrom.

"The St. Francis Dam was essentially a gravity dam (relying on its weight for safety). The Hoover Dam will be essentially an arch dam. The St. Francis was not provided with an adequate drainage system. Hoover Dam will be provided with efficient drainage within the great mass of concrete as well as at the base of the structure. (Drainage is expected to relieve the uplifting pressure of water getting beneath the dam.)

"Some of the abutment material of St. Francis Dam can be crushed in the fingers when dry. It disintegrates and falls to pieces when placed in water. The abutment material at the Hoover Dam site, placed in an accurate testing machine, withstands a compression 8,000 pounds per square inch, a pressure more than eighteen times as great as the maximum stress in the concrete."

Commissioner Mead names the eminent geologists who have passed on the dam's geology, and adds:

"The very fact that the canyon walls have stood with practically vertical sides throughout the ages necessary for the river to cut its bed down to the present level is prima facie evidence that the rock is strong and durable."

U. S. Arrest of Girl Strike Chief Protested

(Associated Press.)

Disciplinary measures against Federal immigration officials who were responsible for the arrest and detention for deportation of Miss Ann Burlac, youthful Rhode Island textile strike leader, were recommended to Secretary Doak yesterday by the American Civil Liberties Union.

"Despite her protestations that she was a native American," the letter said, "she was taken to Boston where she was held for deportation to Poland. It took the Boston immigration authorities six days to become convinced that Miss Burlac was actually an American, and that she was born in Slatington, Pa. Not until July 21 was she freed of the charges."

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

ALTHOUGH it is normal at this season of the year for the major producing companies to make known the nature of the first groups of releases in their programs for the new amusement season, the product that is to usher in the 1931-32 season is being a little more heavily stressed than usual, probably to nullify, as far as may be, the gloomy forecasts of the habitual calamity howlers who are whiling away the midsummer lull bewailing the present low estate of the movies and prophesying the early collapse of the motion picture industry unless something is done about it. As a matter of fact, the present average quality of feature releases is higher right now than at any time in the history of the cinema. But something, nevertheless, has "been done about it."

This column already has catalogued the first group of a baker's dozen new pictures on the way from the Warner Brothers-First National studios. Now comes Fox with a list no less attractive, that will begin finding its way to the local Fox screen no later than August 7. Without at all guaranteeing the order of their appearance, these precursors of the 1931-32 schedule will be something like this:

"Transatlantic," featuring Edmund Lowe, Lois Moran, Myrna Loy, John Halliday, Jean Hersholt, Earle Foxe and Billy Bevan.

"Merely Mary Ann," the latest joint vehicle for Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, said to be the greatest they have ever had. Beryl Mercer in support.

"Bad Girl," with Sally Eilers and James Dunn, declared by those who have previewed it to be another "Common Clay" in popular appeal.

Sally O'Neil in Maud Fulton's "The Brat," which sounds like a "natural."

Will Rogers in an entirely new sort of picture for him—an adaptation of George Ade's "Young As You Feel"—in which the star takes the part of a modern Beau Brummel and Fifi Dorsay and Lucien Littlefield lead the support.

"Skyline," with Thomas Meighan, Maureen O'Sullivan and Hardie Albright.

Elissa Landi and Lionel Barrymore in "The Yellow Ticket."

Lois Moran and Edmund Lowe in "The Spider," in which you'd think John Halliday would have the star part, since he did on the stage.

Will Rogers and Jetta Goudal in "The Plutocrat," the tentative title of an all-dialogue version of "Over the Hill." This is the one, you will recall, in which the poorhouse by itself wasn't tough enough, so they put a hill in front of it!

You know, it wouldn't surprise me a whole lot if one or two of the picture houses managed to stay open all winter!

And vaudeville isn't doing so badly for itself, either. According to the last issue of Variety, out yesterday, there are about 171 weeks of vaudeville time in sight for the coming season. Radio-Keith-Orpheum controls approximately 100 weeks and there are some 71 additional weeks in the picture houses of the major film circuits. Fanchon & Marco, with their new Paramount-Publix affiliations have a 50-week "wheel" all of their own.

To state it a little differently, vaudeville will have use for an average of 455 acts for a total of about 1,265 people on its weekly bills.

But I learn from the crepe-hangers it will all probably blow up with a loud bang most any minute now! They'll be turning the United States back on Great Britain next.

On the other hand is the heartening announcement that Heywood Broun's cooperative revue, "Shoot the Works," now playing the George M. Cohan Theater on Broadway, turned enough of a profit the first week so that each of the principals was paid off to the tune of $100, while the choristers, who had been guaranteed $30, actually received $40 apiece. Broun would accept nothing.

Congratulations, and I hope business gets steadily better.

Try and stop me if you have heard the one about the film executives who were viewing a very highly touted production of a rival concern in their own private projection room.

As the screening neared its end one of the big boss' satellites turned to him and whispered: "What do you think of it?"

"I think it stinks!" snapped the big shot.

"Gahd, chief," gurgled the yesman, "what a gift of innuendo you have."

And apropos of nothing whatever, it occurs to me that in the name of the U. S. S. General D. H. Rucker, that stanch craft that carries the fight fans down to Fort Washington and back, free, gratis for nothing, the "D. H." no doubt stands for "Dead Head."

As this is being written, word comes over the wire from Manager M. J. Cullen of Loew's Palace that "Tommy" Trundle, a familiar and much-loved figure in Washington's theatrical world, succumbed to a heart attack last night at 7:20 o'clock at his home. He was first stricken a little more than a week ago, but was not thought to be in imminent danger when the end came suddenly last evening.

For the past 22 years Mr. Trundle has been business agent of the stage hands' union in this city and during all of that time retained the respect and affection of both the members of his organization and the theater owners and managers of the Capital.

"Tommy" Trundle will be sorely missed.

Mr. Stephen E. Cochran, manager of the National Theater and Washington's summer stock impresario, was a visitor to the local dramatic departments yesterday for the first time in many weeks, doing a little missionary work on behalf of the new season at Mr. William Harriman Rapley's celebrated playhouse.

Pressed for particulars as to the joys and vicissitudes that might have attended his reputed journey to Cleveland to see the Schmeling-Stribling fight and subsequent motor tour throughout the whole of the Dominion of Canada, it turned out that all this hypothetical gallivanting around the North American Continent, as a matter of fact, had consisted of one trip direct to New York and straight home again—which just goes to show something or other, I forget precisely—hat.

Yesterday, by the way, was the good master Cochran's birthday and much handshaking, backslapping and here's-howing was being done, off and on, in honor of the occasion.

I don't know exactly, either, but I should say that in a few more years now Mr. Cochran will be eligible to have his picture published in one of those "I-admit-that-I-am" cigaret ads—or whatever they are.

Me, I don't fool with 'em like that. When I have a birthday, it's way up in the thousands!

Hongkong Imports Tons Of Old Newspapers

(Associated Press.)

The Commerce Department has one of the answers to the question "what becomes of old newspapers." Hongkong reports to the department yesterday said 26,545 short tons of old newspapers were imported there during the year ended April 30.

They were in demand in China, the reports said, by the manufacturers of firecrackers, by the poorer classes as a substitute for window glass, and by small shops to wrap purchases. Most of them are reexported from Hongkong to South China. Importers refused to accept anything but the standard size newspapers.

JONES PITCHES NATS TO 8-1 VICTORY OVER CLEVELAND;

SHOREY, BONES QUALIFY IN U. S. AMATEUR GOLF TRIALS

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

MR. WILLIAM HARRIDGE, president of the American League, has broken into the newsprint again with the statement that he fears a slump at the box office as a result of the long lead amassed by the Athletics at this comparatively early stage of the season.

Such a statement causes this column great consternation. Can it be that Mr. Harridge has detoured from the beaten path of big league presidents, featured by traditionally smug complacence? Mr. Harridge's predecessors in office, the late Messrs. Barnard and Ban Johnson, and John Heydler, who has been president of the National League so long that he is one of those men who are taken for granted, would have made no such declaration.

With studied intent, the big league presidents have avoided any public reference to the mercenary equation in baseball. The mere suggestion that the warp and woof of the national pastime, as the magnates like to call it, is fabricated from the gate receipts is repulsive to them. In the solemn annual conclaves it is in order but to mention the fact that the game depends for sustenance on the intake at the box office was to despoil a beautiful illusion that the greatest tangible asset of baseball is its mantle of civic enterprise.

Reenacts Gag Rule

Of course, there may be retaliatory measures. Mr. Harridge pulled a boner and he may be reminded of the fact at the next winter meeting by the men who kicked him upstairs and paid him a president's salary.

In other matters, however, Mr. Harridge has proceeded on well-defined lines with admirable precision. One of his first acts was to reissue the order that ball players on the field refrain from conversation and banter with the customers, thus removing another of the rapidly disappearing human elements of a game already saddled with overefficiency.

It is now a sin for a player in uniform to lean over a field box and greet a friend in the stands. Mr. Barnard put a stop to that high crime six months after he went into office and now Mr. Harridge has scooped Mr. Barnard on the idea by a couple of months.

Yearly Orders Due

If Mr. Harridge wishes to follow the best traditions of the presidential office, he can be expected to issue the yearly orders to speed up the game by fining dilatory managers, instruct the umpires to leave the dirty balls in the game a bit longer and warn the club owners about paying the fines that the umpires impose on the players. All of these matters Mr. Barnard made certain to attend to every so often.

Harridge has placed the enforcement of his gag rule in the hands of the umpires, thus making policemen out of those same fellows who are regarded after every adverse decision as the greatest bare-handed robbers holding forth on the continent.

But the rule has proved to be inconsistent. While the players are effectively gagged under pain of heavy fines, our friends the umpires disport themselves in their blue monkey suits without restraint, engaging the customers in conversation, waving to acquaintances in the grandstand and otherwise chumming with whomever they like.

Mack Learns Lesson

But this column can foresee no repetition of the great Philadelphia upheaval of 1914 when Connie Mack scrapped his million dollar infield and the remainder of his club because the pennants were being won with such monotonous regularity that the customers stayed away in increasing numbers until a winning team was no longer profitable for Mack.

Mack's team is well on its way to the same kind of dominance it en-

Other D. C. Linksmen Fall by Wayside as Scores Soar.

Special to The Washington Post.

RICHMOND, Va., July 28.—Two District of Columbia golfers qualified in the sectional test of the national amateur golf tournament here today in the 36-hole event over the tricky Hermitage Country Club course.

They are Johnny Shorey, of the Kenwood Club, and Tom Bones, entry from the Columbia Country Club. Shorey, playing steady golf, breezed home with a 154 total, four strokes to the rear of the pace-setter, Billy Howell, Middle Atlantic and State amateur champion. Bones was enmeshed in a triple tie for fourth place with Donal McPhail and Tom Cole, both of Baltimore. Each whizzed around the treacherous layout in 157 strokes.

Other Washingtonians Fall by Wayside.

The rest of the Washington contestants fell by the wayside in the battle to overcome par.

Registering a 76, three over par, in the morning round, Shorey trailed young Howell by three strokes. In the afternoon Howell slumped badly, but Shorey managed to finish one stroke behind him for the closing 18 holes as he recorded a 78 to Howell's 77. Shorey encountered trouble throughout his entire tour of the links, his putter refusing to behave when putts meant pars for the holes.

Bones blew up with an 80 in the morning, but did considerably better on the home stretch, when he shot a 77. The Chevy Chase golfer was hitting tremendous tee shots, but was off in his approaches and putts.

After working an 82 in the morning, Walter McCallum, finalist in the Middle Atlantic tourney, failed to turn in a card. McCallum found the going rough and tough.

Drain Far Back With 166.

J. W. Harvey, jr., of Silver Spring, had rounds of 80—81, finishing in a tie with Ernest Caldwell, Baltimore star. Jimmy Drain, District contestant, took 82 for the morning round and wound up with 166.

After using up 81 strokes, Parker Nolan went to pieces in the afternoon, and his best for the closing round was 88.

DOEG VICTOR OVER GRANT BY RALLY

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 28 (A.P.).—John Hope Doeg, national champion, from Newark, led the field into the semifinal round of men's singles in the forty-fourth annual Seabright tennis tournament today.

The champion, slow to round into form this season, had to travel three sets to conquer the slightly built Atlantan, Bryan Grant, jr., dropping the first set and trailing, 4—5, in the second before he became aroused sufficiently to pound out a victory at 2—6, 7—5, 6—2.

The other three semifinal brackets were filled by Ellsworth Vines, of Pasadena, Calif., Doeg's conqueror in the Longwood bowl tournament; Jack Tidball, of Los Angeles, 19-year-old sophomore at the University of California, and Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans.

Vines, Tidball, Sutter Advance.

Tidball, who had whipped J. Gilbert Hall and Dr. Carl Fischer in the opening day's play yesterday, sprang the big upset of today's play when he defeated Gregory S. Mangin, of Newark, No. 6 in the national ranking, 4—6, 8—6, 8—6.

Vines was fully extended to beat back the challenge of Wilbur F. Coen, jr., of Kansas City, 6—4, 4—6, 6—0, and Sutter trounced Keith Gledhill, intercollegiate title holder, from Santa Barbara, Calif., 6—3, 3—6, 6—1.

Not even the appearance of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, of San Francisco, in singles competition here for the first time since 1926, nor the arrival of the three Davis Cup players from abroad, John Van Ryn, George Lott and Sidney B. Wood, could take the spotlight away from Tidball.

Mrs. Moody's Win Features Women's play.

The tall coast star displayed a wide variety of strokes, excellent and dependable service, and fine court generalship in his defeat of Mangin. Some experts believe he would give Doeg a great tussle in the semifinals tomorrow.

Mrs. Moody's second-round triumph over Virginia Rice, of Boston, 6—0, 6—1, featured play in the women's division. Mrs. Moody was content to remain in backcourt and force errors by her opponent.

In the meantime, Mrs. Moody's probable opponent in the finals Saturday, Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, Calif., had no easy time downing Mianne Palfrey, of Boston, 6—0, 7—5. In the second set Miss Jacobs trailed at love—3 before she could steady her game.

Tomorrow Mrs. Moody will play Baroness Giacomo Levi, of New York, who won her match today from Florence Le Boutillier, of Westbury, N. Y., by love scores. Miss Jacobs' rival will be Mae Ceurvorst, of Wichita, Kans., who scored an impressive win over the first ten ranking star, Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn, 6—4, 8—6.

The 1931 Wimbledon doubles championship team of John Van Ryn and George M. Lott, jr., both of Philadelphia, dissolved for the year on their arrival today. Lott paired with Doeg, present American doubles champion, to win from the local pair of youngsters, George H. Miles, jr., and Upshur Moorhead, 6—3, 6—4.

Van Ryn was rejoined by his former Wimbledon championship partner, Wilmer Allison, of Austin, Tex., and they advanced through a default.

QUARTER-FINAL ROUND.

John Hope Doeg, Newark, N. J., defeated Bryan Grant, jr., Atlanta, 2—6, 7—5, 6—2.

Jack Tidball, Los Angeles, defeated Gregory Mangin, Newark, N. J., 4—6, 8—6, 8—6.

INDIANS SIGN HALE.

New Orleans, July 28 (A.P.).—Sammy Hale, infielder for the New Orleans Pelicans, has been sold to the Cleveland Indians, it was announced today. George Detore is to come to New Orleans on option and Hale will leave for Cleveland as soon as Detore reports to the Pelicans.

Grove Gets Credit as Rally in 8th Beats Browns, 6-3.

PHILADELPHIA, July 28 (A.P.).—A three-run rally in the eighth inning, started by Al Simmons with his fifteenth home run of the season, gave the Philadelphia Athletics their second straight triumph over St. Louis, 6 to 3. The victory was the champions' fifteenth in a row on the home grounds.

Rose Grove, who relieved Earnshaw in the eighth, with the score tied, a man on third and none out, received credit for the game. It was his twenty-first win of the season and twelfth in succession.

Goose Goslin hit Earnshaw for a home run with one on base in the eighth, wiping out the Macks 3-to-1 lead.

CATCHER IS SUSPENDED.

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—President Thomas J. Hickey, of the American Association, suspended Wes Griffin, Minneapolis catcher, today for three days. Griffin, he said, objected to a decision made by Umpire Charles Johnston in a game last Saturday in Minneapolis and threw his chest protector and mask into the air. They came down on Johnston's head.

CHISOX BEAT YANKS WITH 11 IN 8TH

Overcome 12-3 Lead Batting 3 Hurlers Out in Inning.

NEW YORK, July 28 ((A.P.).—At the start of the eighth inning today it looked as if the Yankees were about to win a one-sided ball game from the Chicago White Sox. They were leading, 12 to 3, behind Herb Pennock, and the game appeared safe. But at that point the Sox started hitting and before four Yankee hurlers could stop them they had scored eleven runs and won, 14 to 12.

Pennock gave three runs before he was removed with Bob Fothergill's homer as the deciding blow. Charley Ruffing and Vernon Gomez likewise failed to halt the Sox, Jim Weaver coming in for the third out.

Fothergill added a triple to his homer in the big inning and got two doubles besides, while Carl Reynolds hit two doubles in the eighth and Fonseca and Kerr connected for a pair of singles each. The Yankees slipped four full games behind the second-place Nationals.

Yeomans Wins in Feature Of Virginia State Net Play

Special to The Washington Post.

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 28.—Spectacular tennis marked the second round of play in the men's singles of the Virginia State open tennis tournament today on the Casino Courts, with the eight seeded players placing safely in the quarter-finals bracket. At the end of the day's play, two Washingtonians, Mangan and Yeomans; two Californians, Mulheisen and Easton; two Texans, Taylor and Hess, and Rudy, of Baltimore, and Alphonso Smith, of Virginia, remained in the quest for the title.

The most brilliant match of the day saw Edgar Yeomans, of Washington, D. C., University of North Carolina star, rise to supreme heights to ward off a serious threat in Queen Connelley, of Rice Institute, Tex., to win out in three sets by scores of 6—8, 7—5, 9—7. Connelley set a fast pace in the opening set, driving to the corners from midcourt for repeated placements and passing Yeomans frequently with deep base court lobs. In the third set Connelley held match point twice, but double faulted on his service and then driving a sure "kill" into the net in overanxiousness. Yeomans rallied strongly to run out the match.

Barnard Welsh, youthful Rockville, Md., entry, forced H. Earl Taylor, of Austin, Tex., to the third set before yielding to scores of 6—2, 5—7 and 6—2.

Jake Hess, jr., of Austin, Tex., seeded No. 1, ran through Ban Shields, of Washington and Lee University, 6—4 and 6—3, while Dolf Mulheisen, of California, played beautifully to eliminate Henry Holden, of Rice Institute, Texas, in straight sets, 6—4, 6—4.

Tom Mangan, veteran District of Columbia player, eliminated Lieut. Stanley K. Robinson, of California, Army Leech Cup player, 6—4, 6—4. C. Alphonso Smith, jr., of University, Va., disposed of Paul Pollard, of Lynchburg, Va., in rather easy fashion, 6—0, 6—4, while Ted Easton, Leland Stanford University captain, saved another place for a Westerner by defeating Alex Kieles, of Baltimore, in a spectacular manner, 6—2, 6—0.

The quarter-finals will bring together tomorrow Hess and Easton, Taylor and Rudy, Mulheisen and Mangan, and Yeomans and Smith.

The summary of today's matches:

MEN'S SINGLES.

SECOND ROUND—Hess defeated Shields, 6—4, 6—3; Easton defeated Kieles, 6—2, 6—0; Taylor defeated Welsh, 6—2, 5—7, 6—2; Rudy defeated Carter, 6—4, 1—6, 8—6; Mulheisen defeated Holden, 6—4, 6—4; Mangan defeated Robinson, 6—4, 6—4; Yeomans defeated Connelley, 6—8, 7—5, 9—7; Smith defeated Pollard, 6—0, 6—4.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.

FIRST ROUND—Mrs. Thompson won by default; Louise Rogerson, Richmond, defeated Abbie Ingalls, Hot Springs, 6—0, 6—0; Cary Mason, Baltimore, defeated Mrs. W. T. Carrington, Richmond, 6—0, 6—0; Margaret Anderson, Richmond, defeated Betty Torrence, Hot Springs, 6—2, 6—0; Mary Bartlett Gibbs, Baltimore, bye; Mrs. Herbert H. Lehman, New York, defeated Betty Edwards, Dallas, Tex., 6—3, 7—5; Mary Anderson, Richmond, defeated Betty Cochran, Baltimore, 8—6, 4—6, 6—4; Ellen Bates, St. Louis, bye.

Cronin's Triple Scores 3 After Error in First Cheats Nats of Shutout

NOT SO SAD

Tribe Held to 6 Hits by Veteran; Brown Hammered Out.

3-Bagger With Bases Full Features 5-Run Rally.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

USING all but one of their eight hits for run-scoring purposes and taking advantage of every other offensive opportunity offered them, it was a very simple matter for the Nationals to make it two straight over the Indians yesterday and to bring their 1931 record against the Tribe to ten victories in a dozen starts. The final count was 8 to 1, and the Nats held their own with the leading Athletics, extending their second-place margin over the Yankees to four games.

But for an error by Joe Cronin in the first inning, the veteran "Sad Sam" Jones, who started and finished, would have earned a shutout. The Nat shortfielder more than made up for this "boot" though, making two brilliant plays later in the game, and clearing the filled bases with a screaming triple to the scoreboard in the fifth. He later hit a double to take batting honors for the day.

No Troubles for Jones After Fourth.

Jones was in more or less trouble in each of the first four frames, but he managed to wiggle out of these holes and the only Indian who passed first in the last five sessions was Kamm, who opened the ninth with a single and who was allowed to toddle around as far as third with no effort being made to stop him.

Clint Brown, who has never been effective against the Nationals, started fairly well but came a cropper in the fifth and "Sarge" George Connally, former White Sox, recently purchased from the minors, came to his relief. But for Cronin, he would have gotten along nicely, for he granted but two hits and the Nat shortstop got both of these, his three-bagger to put the game on ice in round five and a double which was not used in the seventh.

Jones walked Porter, first to face him, and this was turned into a run when followed by Burnett's sacrifice, Averill's useful out, and Cronin's fumble of Morgan's grasser. It took a great catch by Sam West to prevent another marker in the second after Myatt singled and was shoved along on Montague's sacrifice, while hits by Burnett and Morgan, sandwiched between outs, made the Tribe look dangerous in the third. Jones walked two in the next frame and then settled down and pitched brilliantly.

Myer Opens Game for Nats With Double.

While all this was going on, the Nationals knotted the string in their half of the opener and went one to the good in the second, finally sewing up the verdict three frames later. Myer smote Brown's first pitch down the first-base line for a double and Sam Rice's sacrifice and Manush's useful out scored him. Two were out when the Nats got busy in the second. Then Bluege singled and stole and Spencer's one-base liner to right propelled him home.

Brown had no troubles in the third and fourth, but he started his own downfall in the fifth by hitting Jones with one dead. Successive singles by Myer and Rice scored the Nat pitcher and Brown was told to walk Manush, filling the bases, and then to go and get himself a cooling shower. This brought Connally into action and gave Cronin a chance to get the laugh on those who had booed him for his error in the opener. He crashed out his triple and it was all over but the shouting. He brought home the fifth run of the frame on West's fly to deep left before Connally could retire the side.

Marberry Seeks 10th Straight Win; Will Face Ferrell.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

A RED-HOT pitching duel appears to be on the books at Griffith Stadium this afternoon when the Nationals and Indians meet in the third game of the current set, for Wesley Ferrell, Tribe mound ace, and Fred Marberry, the Nats' best, draw the hurling assignments for their respective teams. Marberry will be seeking his eleventh victory of the season and his tenth in a row, while Ferrell's record is thirteen triumphs against nine defeats.

Ferrell has not been the puzzle to the Nats this season that he was last, for he has been beaten by them twice. And with the home team showing signs of having come out of its hitting slump and with Marberry now at top form, Ferrell faces no easy task today.

Jack Bentley, who hails from Sandy Spring, and is now managing the York Club, of the New York-Pennsylvania League, was a visitor. The former Giant is trying to get some pitching help from the Nationals.

Burnett's sacrifice after Porter had led off with a walk was almost perfect, Bluege handling the ball cleverly to make the out at first. Ending the frame, the Nat third sacker robbed Vosmik of a hit with a great stop of a bad bounder over toward short.

In the second, after Myatt had singled with one out, Montague tried to catch Bluege napping and bunted toward short. The third sacker made another brilliant play, nailing the runner at the doorway by a whisker. It took a great running one-hand catch by West to hold the Tribe scoreless in this session.

BOXING AND SLUGGING ON LAUREL FIGHT CARD TONIGHT

35 Rounds Scheduled; Brothers Listed in Preliminaries.

Buster Brown, Baltimore, vs. Mike Sarko, New York (lightweights).
COFEATURE EVENT—6 ROUNDS.
FIVE ROUNDS.
FIVE ROUNDS.
Billy Bassinger, Washington, vs. Jimmy Reed, Baltimore (junior welterweights).
FIVE ROUNDS.
FOUR ROUNDS.

BOTH boxing and slugging should flavor the card at the Midcity Arena tonight, when fistic fans of Washington and vicinity will be offered 35 rounds of milling in the stadium near Laurel. In addition to two features, several good preliminaries have been arranged, and the large crowd expected to attend is sure to have a good evening's entertainment. The first bout is scheduled to get under way at 8:30 o'clock.

Mike Sarko, New York State National Guard champion, meets Buster Brown, clever and more experienced Baltimore lightweight, in one of the headliners, and those who like speed and cleverness should get their money's worth here. For fight addicts who prefer the slugging, boring-in type of entertainment, this should be provided by Billy Edwards and Jack McVey, two colored middleweights, who know their stuff. These bouts will be ten and six rounders, respectively.

Sarko, Brown Appear Evenly Matched.

Sarko and Brown appear evenly matched in this event and should provide an abundance of thrills and action. Whereas Sarko has met and defeated some of the top ranking talent in and around New York, Brown—over a period of years—has turned back some of the best opposition offered him in the vicinity of Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia. On advance form these lads shape up at virtually a stand-off.

In the other half of the twin feature, McVey, New York's nationally known glove wielder, will enter the ring a favorite; but in Edwards, hard-punching Washingtonian, he encounters a real menace. Billy's booming right and relentless attack, which have mowed down a large field to date, have never impressed more vividly than in recent workouts and he will be solidly backed by a large local following when he squares off at the bell.

Realizing that McVey shades him in experience and science, Edwards plans launching a furious attack at the opening gong. His superior clouting, he believes, may turn the tide his way early if he connects solidly.

Victory Means Much To Edwards.

Edwards will be fighting all the harder because of the incentive victory offers. A decision, or better still, a knockout, over McVey would promote the local Negro to a lofty ranking in the middleweight division.

While overshadowed by the double-barreled main events, an excellent supporting cast, too, should provide its moments. Frank Fullam, Catholic University ring star and more recently national A. A. U. middleweight champion, makes his second local start against Al Moore, rugged Marine from Quantico, Va. They are routed five rounds.

Something of a novelty is offered in the remaining preliminary schedule. The showing of Baltimore brothers, Jimmy and Buck Reed, in five and four rounders, respectively, adds spice to these bouts.

Round-trip bus transportation to the arena is offered by White Line Tours. These buses, departing for Laurel at 7:30 o'clock, are to be stationed at Ninth and E streets northwest, Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, and North Capitol and H streets northwest.

Until 4 o'clock this afternoon tickets for these bouts are to remain on sale at Goldie Ahearn's, 500 Ninth street northwest; Vic Sport Shop, 716 Ninth street northwest; Curb Lunch, 714 H street northeast, and Spalding's, 1338 G street northwest.

—Arlington Park Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

ARLINGTON PARK RACE TRACK, Chicago, July 28.—A select field of five fleet milers will face the barrier in the Lake Geneva Handicap, which features the program at Arlington Park tomorrow. The Lake Forest Steeplechase, a 2-mile journey over the brush, has attracted seven bold fencers in the supporting feature.

The Bill Bee Stable's SATIN SPAR, a winner at this track, is favored to annex the mile feature. The White Satin gelding stepped this distance in 1:37 4-5, in his last winning effort, and should be returned the victor. BATTLESHIP displayed a sterling performance last start, and, under the conditions, should furnish stern opposition. GOLDEN PRINCE, from the A. Bartelstein string, appears best of the others.

J. E. Widener's FAIRMONT will make his seasonal debut in the 2 miles of the steeplechase feature. The jumper has trained briskly for his return to the races, and he and his stablemate, INDIGO, hold a good chance to finish one-two. QUEEN'S PAL has displayed speed over the obstacles and is given the place call, with GRACIE selected for the minor award.

FIRST RACE—KOSTER MAID should graduate from the maiden 2-year-old filly class in the opening dash. The G. Watkins youngster has shown steady improvement. SABINA H. will offer the opposition. ZINA should get into the money.

SECOND RACE—BUGS LEARY is picked to win. This Sabath racer faltered at 1 mile, but should last to gain the honors at 7 furlongs. EIGHTY TWENTY is at the peak of his form and will be hard to beat. HIGH POCKETS may gain the show.

FOURTH RACE—The J. F. Schorr entry of ET CETERA and AT SUNRISE are favored over their six rivals in the fourth. Both have shown splendid form in recent efforts and either can win. WESTY JUNIOR scored easily last outing and is the one to fear. NEWGRO will have TELLICO to beat.

FIFTH RACE—W. R. Coe's MASKED BALL is picking up six pounds off his last winning ecort but should carry his speed to victory. EGYPT has raced consistently at this track and should finish in the runner-up position, with MAD CAREER favored to gain the short end.

SEVENTH RACE—FRENCH LASS turned in a clever victory to beat a fair field last start and under the conditions figures to repeat. SUN HATTER has trained sharply and will force the pace. TRY IT is a steady router from the J. Lowe string and is given the show call.

EIGHTH RACE—LILLIAN T. has been racing against better company than she meets here and figures to outfoot her rivals. PUNISHMENT will favor the long distance and may upset the calculations with CHANCELLOR a possibility for the show.

ARLINGTON PARK, ILL., CHART, JULY 28, 1931.

FIRST RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,500. Special weights. For maiden 2-year-old colts and geldings. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:16. Off at 2:19½. Winner, W. R. Coe's br. c. (2), by Polymelian—St. Rita. Trained by B. Creech. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 3-5, 0:45 3-5, 0:58 3-5, 1:05 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—JAMBALAYA, $20.02, $7.60, $5.74; WHIZZ JAMES, $6.30, $4.60; PREDICT, $7.10.

JAMBALAYA broke quickly and soon racing into a good lead, held sway to the end to win handily. WHIZZ JAMES had speed and was always close to the pace, but could not catch winner. PREDICT raced forwardly and held the others. MARMION was going well at the end. GRABNER could not keep up. PIETRO was off slowly and met with interference early. CURMUDGEON raced very wide at the stretch turn. VOX POP was knocked back soon after the start.

SECOND RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:48. Off at 2:50. Winner, F. M. Grabner's ch. f. (3), by Ladkin—Regalia. Trained by J. Lowenstein. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:46 3-5, 1:11, 1:37 4-5.

*Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHICAGO GIRL, $7.48, $3.76, $2.82; DOCTOR PARRISH, $4.84, $3.30; CHIP, $2.96.

CHICAGO GIRL came strongly to catch the early leaders after leaving the back stretch and, assuming a good advantage, showed the way to the finish to win easily. DOCTOR PARRISH was badly outrun for a quarter, then closed a big gap and was going gamely at the end. CHIP would not extend himself in the early running, but made up ground in the last quarter. BELGIAN LASS also closed considerable ground. RED RONALD and GOLD BET tired. HYPNOTISM quit after running a good half.

THIRD RACE—Seven furlongs (out of chute). Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:21. Off at 3:21. Winner, Audley Farm's b. m. (5), by Sir Barton—Miss Minerva. Trained by H. Spence. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 4-5, 0:45 3-5, 1:10 3-5, 1:23 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—NELLIE CUSTIS, $3.84, $2.72, $2.44; FIDDLER, $3.90, $3.54; HOT SHOT, $4.86.

NELLIE CUSTIS, held under slight restraint early, was always within striking distance of the leaders and, coming gamely to pass HOT SHOT in the stretch, scored handily. FIDDLER was saved in the early stages and came gamely in the stretch to pass HOT SHOT in the closing strides. HOT SHOT set the pace, but was tiring at the finish. MONTANARO made up some ground in the stretch. SUITOR tired. MORSUN quit.

FOURTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,800; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:51. Off at 3:54. Winner, Elmtree Stable's b. c. (4), by Master Charlie—Ionia. Trained by C. W. Damon. Value to winner, $1,300; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:22 4-5, 0:45 4-5, 1:10, 1:36 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—FOOTMARK, $6.64, $3.72, $2.76; ULUNIU, $3.80, $2.60; SUNEROS, $3.44.

FOOTMARK had the most early speed and, taking command soon after the start, set a fast pace. He showed rare courage in withstanding the challenge of ULUNIU in the stretch and was slowly drawing away again at end. ULUNIU charged on the outside after entering the stretch and, catching FOOTMARK an eighth out, appeared a certain winner, but hung slightly in the last twenty yards. SUNEROS was always well up. IRONSIDES was never dangerous. WHO WIN saved ground around final turn and was never in danger. CULLODEN was never a factor.

FIFTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good for all but Dark Simon. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:26. Off at 4:26½. Winner, L. T. Whitehill's b. c. (4), by Sweep—Billie Dove. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:46 2-5, 1:11, 1:38.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DACITE, $8.64, $4.76, $3.22; MATADI, $9.32, $5.18; ANNIE REE, $4.48.

DACITE went to the front soon after the start and, racing slightly in advance of ANNIE REE in the early stages, had enough left to last. MATADI was always close to the pace and, finishing courageously, outgamed ANNIE REE. Latter was used up trying to catch the winner and tired. BLACK CLOUD made up some ground on the outside, but did not threaten leaders. MODERATION could not keep up. ANNAN was repeatedly running upon the heels of the other horses and can do better.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:01. Off at 5:04½. Winner, Mrs. R. Pollard's b. g. (3), by Lee O. Cotner—Athene. Trained by R. Pollard. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:14, 1:39 4-5, 1:54 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WISE LEE, $6.20, $3.94, $3.14; SAND BELL, $4.44, $4.00; FLAGG PORTER, $6.78.

WISE LEE, outrun early, came fast on the outside in the final quarter and, catching SAND BELL in the closing strides, was going away at end. SAND BELL took a good lead in the early running, but weakened near the end. FLAGG PORTER closed fast on the inside. THUNWIN saved ground in stretch and was also going well at the finish. LAURA NEGLEY lost her chance by swinging wide at the stretch turn.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:36. Off at 5:39. Winner, O. Lehman's b. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—INHERITOR, $86.54, $40.48, $20.82; ENGLEWOOD, $3.70, $3.12; DUSKY BOY, $5.04.

INHERITOR went to the front soon after the start and, running as if much the best, held a long lead despite bearing out near the finish and won easily. ENGLEWOOD settled in early and was going well at end. DUSKY BOY raced close up and held on fairly well. JAY WALKER tired.

15 MAY RACE FOR $25,000 STAKE

Sun Beau Given Top Weight of 128 Lbs. at Arlington.

CHICAGO, July 28 (A.P.).—Sun Beau, Willis Sharpe Kilmer's handicap star, must carry top weight of 128 pounds in the $25,000 added Arlington Handicap Saturday, when he attempts to surpass the money-winning record of Gallant Fox.

The assignment of the big load to Sun Beau probably will cause owners of lesser stars to make a try for the big purse, and it was indicated today that fifteen might start. If that many face the barrier the mile and a quarter race will be worth $38,850, with $31,850 to the winner. A victory for Sun Beau would give the Kilmer 6-year-old a total of $334,850, well beyond Gallant Fox's winnings of $328,165.

Mike Hall Given 116 Pounds.

Mike Hall, which ran second to Sun Beau in the Arlington Cup last Saturday, will get in for 116 pounds, while Gallant Knight, which finished third in the race, will carry 120 pounds. Plucky Play, winner of the Stars and Stripes Handicap July 4 at Arlington, will carry only 109 pounds, and probably will have plenty of support in the wagering.

The Lake Shore Steeplechase Handicap, at 2½ miles, with $5,000 in added money, will be decided tomorrow.

SEEDED PLAYERS PROGRESS IN D. C. WOMEN'S NET TOURNEY

Title Tourney Devoid of Upsets

Miss Ryan Extended to Triumph Over Helen Philpitt.

Quarter-Finals Today; Mixed Doubles to Be Played.

ALL of the seeded players advanced to the quarter-final rounds in the women's District championship tennis tournament on the Columbia courts yesterday, Mary Ryan, seeded No. 4, being the only one who was extended. She and Helen Philpitt battled for more than two hours before the latter succumbed. Mrs. Ruth Martinez, Frances Walker and Clara Tabler, the other three players placed in the draw, won easily in straight sets.

Mrs. Martinez lost but three games in eliminating Janet Wright, while Miss Walker lost but two in her match with Maycita de Souza. Miss Tabler won from Corella Morris, 6—1, 6—3. Of the matches played yesterday all but one were decided in straight sets.

This exception was the Ryan-Philpitt battle royal. The latter took the first set after fourteen games which saw a battle for each point, but seemed to weaken more than did her opponent, and she dropped the next two by 6—2 scores.

Mixed Doubles Play Added.

An innovation was decided upon last night, a mixed doubles event having been added to the program. Indications are that this event will be exceptionally popular and will draw a large entry list. Entries will close tomorrow night and drawings will be immediately made with play starting Friday. The committee hopes that this event can be run off so that the finals will be staged Sunday afternoon.

This afternoon's card calls for quarter-final singles and first-round consolation and women's doubles matches.

Yesterday's results:

SINGLES.

SECOND ROUND—Mrs. Ruth Martinez defeated Janet Wright, 6—1, 6—2; Marian Butler defeated Mrs. Ricca, 6—4, 6—0; Dorothy Kingsbury defeated Goldie Crist, 6—4, 6—0; Frances Walker defeated Maycita deSouza, 6—0, 6—2; Dorette Muller defeated Connie Thompson, 6—4, 6—4; Clara Tabler defeated Corella Morris, 6—1, 6—3; Betty Pyle defeated Edith McKelvey, 6—3, 6—2; Mary Ryan defeated Helen Philpitt, 6—8, 6—2, 6—2.

TODAY'S PAIRINGS.

QUARTER-FINAL SINGLES—3 p. m.—Martinez vs. Butler, Ryan vs. Kingsbury, Tabler vs. Pyle. 4 p. m.—Walker vs. Miller.

FIRST ROUND, DOUBLES—3 p. m.—Ryan-Philpitt vs. Miles-Esch, Butler-Ricca vs. Rose-deSouza, Ford-Thompson vs. Levy-Kronman.

CONSOLATIONS, SINGLES—3 p. m.—DeSouza vs. Stambaugh, Rose vs. McKelvey. 4 p. m.—Meier vs. Kohner.

Hornsby's Hit in 8th Subdues Phillies, 6-3

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—Charley Root, aided by the batting of Hornsby, Hemsley and Blair, won his fourth straight victory during the present home stand against the Eastern clubs, by beating Philadelphia this afternoon, 6 to 3. The Cubs took a 2-to-1 edge in the series by the victory, Root's twelfth of the season.

Blair's double drove in a run in the second off Phil Collins, and Hemsley's home run with Blair on base put the Cubs ahead in the fifth. After the Phils had tied the score the Bruins put on the winning rally in the eighth. After one was out Barton was hit by a pitched ball. Hornsby then doubled to left to score him with the winning run. Blair's home run counted the rajah to make the game safe. Root fanned nine.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

THE term "horse-power" originated from the results of experiments carried out by James Watt, over a century ago, with strong dray horses. The experiments were conducted to find out the rate at which a horse does its work under average conditions. The Encyclopedia Americana says: "As a horse can exert its full force only for about six hours a day, one horsepower of machinery is equal to that of 4.4 horses."

The Millipede, more commonly known as the "thousand-leg," in reality has less than 300 legs, whereas the earth worm, the real "thousand-leg," has 1,185. These numerous legs of the earth worm, called setae, are made up of a short bristle-like spine that moves straight out at a 45-degree angle toward the rear. When exposed, they resemble bristles. The purpose of these numerous setae is to stick in the ground and prevent the worm from slipping backward as it stretches out to wriggle forward.

Reds Rally in Ninth To Beat Robins, 5-4

Cincinnati, July 28 (A.P.).—With two out in the ninth inning today, the Reds came through to score the winning run and beat the Brooklyn Robins, 5 to 4.

The Robins tied the count at 4 to 4 in the first half of the ninth on a single by Lopez, who batted for Luque, and Babe Herman's triple. Cincinnati came back when Nick Cullop doubled, held his base while Harvey Hendrick, who had hit safely three times in four trips to the plate, was passed, then came home on Tony Cuccinello's fourth hit of the game.

Pirates' Win Streak Ends as Giants Cop

Pittsburgh, July 28 (A.P.).—Rallying in the late innings behind Carl Hubbell's expert pitching, the New York Giants evened the series with the Pirates with a 6-to-2 victory. The Bucs scored twice in the fourth, but Hubbell shut them out for the rest of the game.

The Giants did not get started until the heat forced Ervin Brame out of the game in the seventh. Then Leach tripled with two on base to drive in the winning runs as Spencer took the hill.

joyed in 1911, 1913 and 1914. Two consecutive pennants are already in the bag with the club having a firm grasp on the third. The Philadelphia fans have given no evidence that they are tiring of the Athletics and their victories, and Mr. Harridge's concern for Connie Mack, if he includes him with the rest of the club owners, is wasted.

There is another angle that precludes any idea of Connie Mack scrapping his ball club no matter how many pennants it might win nor how slim the crowds might become. His 1914 sell-out proved an object lesson. For seven straight years thereafter Mack couldn't get out of the cellar with his young ball team, and the fans stayed away just the same.

If the fans are to stay away, this column is reasonably certain that Mack would prefer them to stay away from a pennant-winning team rather than from a loser. And there are the syndicated articles and the other emoluments that do not fall into the lap of a second-division manager.

Lisenbee Yields 3 Hits In Beating Tigers, 8-1

Boston, July 28 (A.P.).—Horace Lisenbee held the Tigers to three hits today while his mates were garnering eighteen off Earl Whitehill and the Red Sox defeated Detroit 8 to 1. Two of Detroit's hits came in the eighth inning. Combined with an error by Warstler, they sayed the Tigers from a shutout.

Earl Webb of the Sox, had a perfect day at bat. His two doubles brought his total for two-base hits for the season to 47.

Zachary Loses Duel As Cards Beat Braves

St. Louis, Mo., July 28 (A.P.).—Little "Sparky" Adams beat out a bunt in the eighth, went to second on a wild throw, to third on an infield out and raced home after a long fly by Jake Flower to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 1-0 victory over the Boston Braves here this afternoon.

From the first inning on, two veterans, Jess Haines, for the champions, and old Tom Zachary, for the Braves, engaged in a pitching duel. Although the victim, Zachary, held the Cards to six hits while Haines was nicked eight times.

PARIS, July 28 (A.P.).—Henri Cochet, the world's ranking amateur tennis player, who almost single-handed turned back the bid of England for the Davis Cup in the challenge round completed Sunday, will decide within a fortnight whether he will turn professional, friends said today.

Although he told these friends before the recent series with England that this Davis Cup defense would be his last, there is an effort afoot to dissuade him from abandonment of his am

PUT YOUR HEAD IN THE LION'S MOUTH

THIS PHRASE WAS POPULARIZED BY AN INTERESTING BIT OF HISTORY. IN MEDIEVAL VENICE A BOX, CALLED THE "LION'S MOUTH," WAS PLACED IN A PROMINENT LOCATION SO THAT CHARGES OF TREASON AGAINST THE STATE MIGHT BE DEPOSITED ANONYMOUSLY. THOSE AGAINST WHOM CHARGES WERE MADE WERE SAID TO HAVE HAD THEIR HEADS PLACED IN THE LION'S MOUTH.

THIS IS IMPORTANT

IN OLD MANUSCRIPTS WHEN A WRITER WANTED TO EMPHASIZE A WORD, HE WOULD DRAW A LINE THROUGH IT. LIKE THIS. LATER WE LEARNED TO PUT A LINE UNDERNEATH LIKE THIS

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

TO PREVENT ATHLETE'S FOOT.

Ringworm of the Feet.

To sterilize shoes: One per cent thymol dissolved in gasoline or alcohol. This is poured into the shoe. It must reach all parts of the toe region especially. The excess is drained out and the shoes are set in the sun to dry.

Socks: Nothing but cotton should be worn. Soiled socks should be sterilized by hot water. If all parts of the socks are heated to a temperature in excess of 170 degrees Fahrenheit the fungus is killed. This is not much below boiling. Laundries can not boil woolen socks because they shrink. Therefore none but cotton socks should be worn.

Skin: Among the remedies to be painted on the infected skin, Dr. Legge reports favorably on 1 to 2 per cent thymol in gasoline or alcohol. Crystol he has also found excellent. Also iodine in glycerine and salicylic, benzoic and sulphuric acids.

Fungi and molds grow on and in the cells of the skin and nails, and in such structures are exceedingly tenacious of life. In this they differ from bacteria. Therefore, in using a ringworm remedy, it is necessary to frequently repeat the killing process.

Floors: For use in wiping up floors Dr. Legge recommends that bichloride of mercury be added to the floor-mopping compounds ordinarily used.

All bath suits should be of cotton. They should be sterilized by boiling. Temperatures of less than 170 are ineffective. All bathers should be required to wear slippers when not in the water. Every pool should be placarded with this legend: "Never place the bare feet upon the floors or shower baths in public places."

Fingernail Infections.

Fruit pickers and persons who squeeze oranges for the juice are prone to develop infections around the fingernails. The infected areas suppurate and the nails may come off. This is known among fruit pickers as fruit poisoning. It is caused by a mold of yeast found in the peelings or rinds of fruits. A reasonable degree of care will prevent this form of infection. When no precautions are taken, about one-third of the pickers and handlers acquire paronychia, or infection of the nails.

TWO KINDS OF ACIDOSIS.

M. S. writes: Please tell what food is good for a person who has acidosis, and what food to avoid.

REPLY.

There are two kinds of acidosis. Those with one kind should avoid fats, fat meats, butter, oils, salad dressing and cream. For them, cereal without cream is an antidote. Those with the other kind should go light on meats, eggs, breads and cereals, and salty, seasoned foods. For them, potato pancakes and bean bread are best.

IF USED EXTENSIVELY.

R. W. L. writes: Is coconut fattening when eaten in the form of candy bars?

REPLY.

Yes. I assume you indulge freely.

TREATING BLINKING BOY.

Mrs. M. D. writes: In reply to Mrs. H. N., whose son blinked and glasses did not remedy the condition, I studied my sons case and noticed that before examinations and special tests in school the blinking started and lasted only a short time. Some children take their school work more seriously than others. I would not scold or keep reminding the child of it. Help him in his home studies if he requires any assistance. Outdoor play after school home work is done if possible before dinner, so that the child can get to bed early and not too close to study time.

BRAIN ABSCESS.

R. W. writes:

1. What are the symptoms of an abscess of the brain?

2. Can a burning sensation around the lower part of the diaphragm in the center of the chest, which tends to catch at the throat, be a form of indigestion?

3. Can a girl of 23 have cancer?

REPLY.

1. They vary. Usually there is a history of fracture, injury or operation on the skull or upper face. The symptoms may be similar to those of apoplexy. They are largely determined by the location of the abscess.

2. Yes.

3. Yes.

WOULD INCREASE WEIGHT.

R. R. writes: Will the taking of one quart of acidophilus milk in conjunction with three good meals a day have a tendency to increase the weight?

REPLY.

I think so. Why not decrease the other foods?

STOCKS RESIST CUT IN STEEL DIVIDEND

Wall Street Receives News Without Slashing Prices; Trading Is Dull.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—The stock market stoically faced the inevitable bad news from the Steel Corporation today, although from the slow upward drift by leading shares, it was apparent that that news was somewhat less favorable than had been expected.

The market had been well prepared for a dividend cut, some quarters believing the rate would be pulled down to $4, but the shrinkage of second quarter earnings from operations to only 6 cents a share on the preferred was a dismal commentary on the low estate to which the depression has dragged a basic industry. The steel business, of course, is very sensitive to changes in the industrial tempo, making money liberally when times are good and, conversely, slipping downhill readily when times are bad.

Wall street has held the belief that a cut in the dividend would precede a reduction in the basic wage scale which U. S. Steel has maintained, but nothing was said in that connection at today's meeting. There is to be, however, a lower salary scale.

Dull on Exchange.

It was a dull session on the floor of the Stock Exchange, and transactions were confined chiefly to the dealings of professional traders. The opening was mixed and prices drifted uncertainly most of the morning and afternoon, turning firm toward the close. Steel common finished unchanged. Bethlehem, whose directors meet on Thursday, eased. Youngstown, reporting a deficit for the first half year, slumped 2 points.

Rails made a demonstration of strength especially in the last hour, Atchison rising 4 and New York Central, Southern Pacific, Norfolk & Southern, Erie and Frisco 1 to about 8. Stocks like American Telephone, American Can, Westinghouse, General Electric, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Union Carbide, Chrysler, General Motors, Consolidated Gas and International Telephone were up from a fraction to a point net. Sales of 678,116 shares exceeded yesterday's turnover by about 100,000.

The pound sterling firmed for a time and although there was a small net loss, the rate still held above the gold point. Wall street lacked further information on the suggested gold credit from French bankers to the Bank of England. There has been no intimation that the British Central Bank would desire a credit here, although it could be had for the asking.

Trade Reviews Studied.

With the steel industry furnishing most of the news this week, market circles here were interested in the preliminary trade review comments on production and prospects. American Metal Market said there had been "no appreciable change," the ingot ratio holding around 32 per cent, where it has been for three weeks. "There is no prospect," it was added, "of a material change in the next few weeks, or until September opens, when a sharp increase is expected." July will probably be under December, but this review recalled that it was customary for the midsummer decline to carry operations under the winter rate.

Grains and cotton were heavy. Some wheat deliveries touched new lows, but closed only ⅜ to ⅝ off. Canadian weather news was bearish and there was a forecast of cooler weather in the Northwest. Corn lost 1⅛ to 2⅛ cents in response to weather news and large July contract deliveries. Cotton slumped $1.20 to $1.30 a bale net.

Foreign currencies generally were firm. The Dutch guilder resumed its advance and there was some improvement in most of the continental quotations.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, July 28 (A.P.).—Cotton declined about $1.25 per bale today and was on the down grade from the opening to the close, with only feeble rallies at times on covering and trade buying.

The December position sold down 24 points, to 8.90, closing at that price, while the general market closed easy at 24 to 26 points net lower.

The opening was steady, 8 to 11 points lower, in response to lower Liverpool cables than expected and on a favorable interpretation of the weather news which indicated more settled and clearing conditions over a large part of the belt which seemed to have dispelled fears of boll weevil damage and also brighten the crop outlook generally. A turn in the consensus of opinion in the trade that the market was discounting a favorable Government crop estimated on August 8, which, with the carryover of about 9,000,000 bales, was in excess of requirements unless business conditions should improve and confidence be restored to the extent of a rapid expansion in consumption.

Selling orders appeared during the day from numerous sources, including Liverpool, Wall street, New Orleans and the South, while local operators also favored the selling side. The selling orders were generally of rather small individual proportions, as there was some hesitation about pressing the selling side after a decline of over 1 cent per pound during the past week, but on the whole the selling was more aggressive than the buying.

The demand came principally from the trade on the scale down and limits were filled on each successive low level. The market closing at the low of the day. The decline the market was within about 15 points of the low levels of the season. made in June, but aside from some of the market becoming oversold and technically firm owing to the fact that new cotton has not yet begun to move except in a very limited way, the trade could see little in the situation to encourage activity on the buying side.

Liverpool cabled that the market there was steady early on continental buying, but eased under liquidation and hedging and reported improved business in cloths with South America and Africa. Exports this season, 6,890,498 so far reported. Port receipts, 2,913. U. S. stocks, 2,806,678.

GERMAN BONDS GAIN DESPITE DULL SALES

All Selected Issues Continue Unchanged; Chile's Loans Decline in Price.

German 5½s of 1965 and 7s of 1949 showed consistent strength, and trading in them increased considerably. Their respective net gains were 1⅝ and 1¼ points, various German public utility, industrial, municipal and provincial issues advanced irregularly from 1 to 5 points. Net advances in Argentine obligations were even more generous, and various Brazilian loans jumped sharply, too.

Chilean bonds declined irregularly. The 6 per cent issues of 1961 and of 1962 of the Chile Mortgage Bank and the 6s of May, 1963, of the national government reached new low levels. Aside from these group movements foreign bonds moved back and forth uncertainly like most of the domestic corporate issues.

With the exception of the first Liberty 3½s, which were moderately active, bonds of the United States Government were quiet and steady.

Activity in domestic corporate obligations was concentrated in a few issues which are frequently active and a definite price trend was no more apparent in them than in the less popular bonds. The everage closing price of 30 bonds consisting of ten issues each of industrials, railroads and public utilities was unchanged at 94.9.

American Telephone debenture 5s of 1965, St. Paul adjustment 5s, General Motors acceptance 6s, International Great Northern adjustment 6s, International Match convertible 5s, National Dairy Products 5¼s, New York Central consolidated 4s, Pennsylvania general 4½s and debenture 4½s, Paramount Publix 5½s, Warner Bros. 6s of 1939, and West Shore 4s were active and closed with varying gains.

Active bonds to recede were similarly diversified in character. Included among them were: Virginian 5s, Texas Corporation 5s of 1944, Southern general 4s, Sinclair 6½s, Columbia Gas & Electric 5s of January, 1961, General Theaters 6s, New York Central consolidated 4s, Nickel Plate 6s of 1932, Pennsylvania series D 4½s and Portland General Electric 4½s.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 28 (A.P.).—Speculative demand for wheat faded to almost the vanishing point today, and prices duplicated the all time low record of future delivery contracts, 50¼ cents. Corn and oats sold outside the season's bottom price levels. Pulling the props from under all cereals were indications of a breakup of the heat and drought that toethered threatened to wreck likelihood of a 1931 bumper crop of corn.

Wheat closed nervous, ¼ to ¾ cent lower; corn, 1¼ to 2⅛ cents down; oats, ⅜ to 1¼ off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to 25 cents gain.

Sagging tendencies of wheat values received at least a temporary check after September and December contracts had equaled the recent performance of July in a drop to 50¼ cents a bushel, the bottommost official figures ever attained in Chicago for wheat future deliveries. At 50¼ cents, however, some trade leaders expressed belief that the market was near to an irreducible minimum. Rallies at this stage were also promoted by estimates from a Chicago crop authority that prospective wheat yields in the Dakotas had suffered a big reduction since the July 1 Government crop report.

Wheat declines were in the face of Winnipeg messages that Canada's crop condition had fallen 2 per cent in the last week, and was now put at only 57 per cent of normal. An opposite factor was announcement that world available stocks of wheat were 4,377.000 bushels larger than a week ago, and that North American wheat export business amounted to little. North Dakota's crop was unofficially forecast as 45,000.000 to 48,000,000 bushels and South Dakota's as 27,000.000, compared with July 1 Government estimates of, respectively, 54,000.000 at 33,000.000.

Heavy selling of corn took place. Much of the selling was of a stop-loss character. In addition to expected lower temperatures and showers, large deliveries of corn on the market here in recent days were looked for. Oats gave way with corn and wheat.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July, 50¼; 51¾; September, 50⅛, 50¼; December, 54⅜, 54½, 55½, 55⅝. Corn—July, 55¼, 62½, 63; September, 48¼, 48⅜, 50⅛; December, 42⅝, 42½, 44, 44⅛.

5 NARROWLY ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURIES IN GASOLINE EXPLOSION

$2,000 DAMAGE IS DONE AS 850 GALLONS LET GO

Flames Quickly Extinguished by Firemen; Inquiry Into Accident Planned.

Five persons went unscathed yesterday despite nearness to an explosion which wrecked the basement floor of the Naiman Auto Supply Co., 800 Fourth street northwest.

A number of others were near the scene at the time of the blast, which caused an estimated damage of $2,000.

Firemen quickly extinguished a blaze following the detonation, which occurred a few moments after 850 gallons of gasoline had been poured into the tanks of a filling station operated in connection with auto supply firm.

Proprietor, Drivers Escape.

Robert Wolf, proprietor of the business, was in the office of the establishment at the time, conversing with two drivers of a taxicab company of which he is also head. Another driver, Paul Moore, 635 G street southeast, was about to enter the building at the moment of the blast.

The cab drivers who were conversing with Wolf and who escaped injury, along with George Bransen, 1209 I street southeast, driver of the fuel truck, were L. M. Halstead, 3708 Morrison street northwest, and Quincy Shier, 407 Fourth street northwest.

Louis Armani, 4708 Georgia avenue northwest, received alight cuts about the face from flying glass but did not require hospital treatment.

Inquiry Is Planned.

Bransen, who had just completed draining of the gasoline into the Naiman Co.'s tank, coolly moved his truck containing several hundred more gallons of the fluid to a safe spot immediately after the explosion.

It was understood late yesterday that Fire Department officials will conduct an inquiry into circumstances of the explosion.

Within the last year there have been similar accidents at other filling stations and fire authorities are understood to have indicated that similar conditions existed in connection with all of the accidents. The projected survey is expected to pave the way for regulations which will eliminate hazards which might have had something to do with yesterday's blast.

MERGER PLAN FADES FOR GROUP OF THREE LUTHERAN CHURCHES

ST. JOHN'S IS OPPOSED; ST. MARK'S LUKEWARM

Condemnation Jury Weighs Value of Building Held Above $112,500.

Chances of three Lutheran Churches in the southwest and southeast districts merging became indefinite yesterday when it was revealed that membership of St. John's is strenuously opposed to such a move and many of the members of St. Mark's regard the proposal with disfavor.

The Church of the Reformation is understood to be the only one entirely in accord with the merger plan. The Government has ordered the church to vacate its property within the next three months so an extension to the Congressional Library may be built.

A jury is now deliberating over what value to place on the property following a trial that lasted three months.

Value Placed at $117,500.

At the trial, F. C. Brooke, attorney for the church, contended that the property was worth between $112,500 and $117,500. He placed a number of witnesses on the stand to support this contention. The Government argued that the property was worth $84,000.

The Post, in an article yesterday morning announcing the merger movement, stated that the estimated valuation on the property was $75,000. This figure was obtained from the last edition of "Washington, Past and Present."

Regardless of the attitude of the other two churches their councilmen will meet with those of the Church of Reformation Friday night at the latter church to discuss the situation.

Three Courses Are Seen.

Members of the Church of the Reformation expressed the hope yesterday that some amicable arrangement may be worked out at this meeting.

Reports were circulated that the Church of the Reformation might unite with a church in another part of the city, build another church or pass into oblivion.

In the latter case, the members would affiliate themselves with other Lutheran churches. The churches of St. John's and St. Mark's are assured of another two years or more on their present properties before they will be affected by the Government building program, it was learned.

R. W. Stevens Completes 50 Years of U. S. Service

Retirement Planned for Eve of His 70th Birthday.

Rounding out a half century of Government srevice, Robert W. Stevens plans to retire from his activities in the financial section, Veterans' Administration, on next Friday, the eve of his seventieth birthday anniversary.

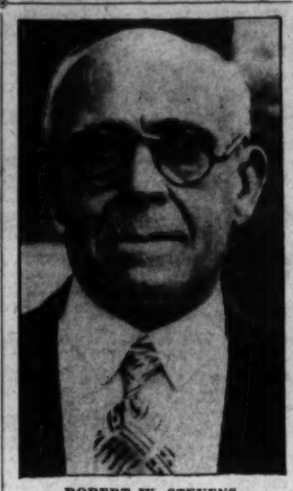
Despite his threescore and ten years, Mr. Stevens is in excellent health and his retirement is voluntary. He said yesterday he felt that he was entitled to a "vacation" and looks forward to enjoying it at his home, 3321 Holmead place northwest.

Though the coming week-end holds a threefold significance for him, Mr. Stevens is not particularly concerned either about his birthday, service jubilee or retirement. Perhaps this is because he has seen so many changes during the 50 years of his service.

In October, 1881, shortly after he entered Government work in the old Pension Office, President Garfield succumbed to an assassin's bullet. Gen. W. W. Dudley was commissioner of pensions then and Mr. Stevens subsequently served under fourteen other commissioners.

He is a native of Newport, R. I., where his forebears were among the earliest settlers.

He has also recently witnessed the merging of the Pension Office and the Veterans' Bureau activities into a new department called the Veterans' Administration. Mr. Stevens laughingly remarked that "President Coolidge kicked us out of the old quarters and we've been kicked about ever since." The ratirement section of the financial division, with which he is connected, and the disbursement division, are located in the Veterans' building on Vermont avenue, while other sections of the old Pension Office are maintained in the Interior Department.



ROBERT W. STEVENS.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevens have three children, Walter, an attorney in Chicago, and Mrs. Margaret Zea and Miss Katherine Stevens, of Washington.

This week Mr. Stevens has been the recipient of many messages of felicitation from his coworkers as well as good wishes for continued health and happiness.

HOTEL MAYFLOWER PLANS BATTLE ON NEW RECEIVERSHIP

Justice Gordon Announces New Bankruptcy Will Be Declared.

MOORE TO BE REMOVED AS INDIVIDUAL TRUSTEE

Mrs. Willebrandt's Bill of Complaint Criticized as "Not Well Drawn."

Decision of District Supreme Court Justice Peyton Gordon to appoint receivers for the Mayflower Hotel Co. and the Mayflower Hotels Corporation of America, and to remove Charles C. Moore as individual trustee under first and second trusts on the hotel property, will be fought in the Court of Appeals, counsel for the hotel announced last night

It will be the second time the controversy has gone to the higher court, which recently issued a "forthwith mandate" lifting a temporary receivership against the Mayflower Hotel Co. on the grounds it was "improvidently" granted.

Justice Gordon's decision, a victory for stockholders, was announced in a memorandum opinion on a motion of hotel counsel to dismiss an amended bill for receivership. The amended bill was filed by Attorney Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

Trustee Moore Removed.

C. C. Moore, former officer and a stockholder of the American Bond & Mortgage Co., which owns all of the preferred stock of the Mayflower Hotel Co., and is now in the hands of receivers, will be removed as trustee because "his personal and financial interests are adverse to the interests of the second trust bondholders, and he is not in a position to fully and properly represent them," Justice Gordon ruled.

He said he would order appointment of receivers because he believed that neither the interests of the bondholders nor the property and interests of the Mayflower Hotel Co. can be properly conserved by either the Mayflower Hotel Co. or the Mayflower Hotels Corporation of America.

He said he took this view because of the attitude of the companies with respect to the amount of rent claimed to be due the Mayflower Hotel Co. from the Mayflower Hotels Corporation, and the $435,000 allegedly due to the Mayflower Hotel Co. from the American Bond & Mortgage Co. for cancellation of funds realized from the sale of its bonds for a "questionable" transfer or purchase of its preferred stock.

In overruling the motion of Attorneys William E. Leahy, William J. Hughes, jr., and Edmund M. Toland for dismissal, Justice Gordon qualified his finding with the statement that Mrs. Willebrandt's bill of complaint was "not well-drawn and the allegations could have been made more definite and certain."

Reviewing the charges contained in Mrs. Willebrandt's bill, he pointed out that $330,000 was declared due the Mayflower Hotel Co., or parent organization, from the Mayflower Hotels Corporation, the leasing company, for arrears of rent. The companies contend that $175,000 should be credited on that amount for the purchase of equipment by the parent company. They claimed that another $30,000 was properly expended in the interest of the bondholders.

He reviewed also complaint that the American Bond & Mortgage Co. withheld $435,000 of the proceeds of the sale of second mortgage bonds. The companies in their answer claimed this was a purchase by them of 4,350 shares of American Bond & Mortgage Co. stock, disputing charges that the stock was worthless.

Original Receivers Removed.

Commenting on the charge that the interest on all of the second mortgage bonds which became due April 1 last, amounting to $78,000, is wholly unpaid, and that no payments required under the terms of the mortgage have been made into the sinking fund on account of interest since December, 1930, Justice Gordon said:

"There is no question that on April 1, 1931, there was default in the payment of taxes, and also of an amount that should have been deposited in the sinking fund in December, 1930."

After reading his memorandum, Justice Gordon shook hands and chatted awhile with Daniel J. O'Brien, manager of the hotel. He told him his decision to appoint receivers for the two companies was in no way a reflection upon him as manager.

The receivers, when appointed, will be the second set named for the hotel property this year. Thomas P. Littlepage and Joshua Evans, jr., named temporary receivers by Justice Oscar R. Luhring, were removed by action of the Court of Appeals.

PAID-INFORMER BAN BETTERS RUM CASES

Three Convictions Based on Police Action Set 100 Per Cent Mark.

A marked decrease in the number of liquor cases "made" by police informers, in line with the new police policy resulting in an increased percentage of police arrests and more satisfactory cases, from the prosecution's point of view, David A. Hart, assistant United States attorney in charge of liquor prosecutions, announced yesterday.

Convictions were obtained yesterday in three cases tried, in all of which purchases were made by police. Arthur Jones, colored, 31, arrested in a raid at 414 L street northwest, July 10, was convicted by a jury of sale and possession. He was not sentenced pending motion for a new trial. Policeman W. A. Fish said he made two purchases prior to the raid.

Patrick O'Brien, 28, of 822 Eighteenth street northwest, was convicted on a sale charge on testimony of Policeman Joseph W. Shiman that he bought liquor from the defendant a month ago. O'Brien was acquitted of possession charges when it was testified that nothing was seized in a raid June 22. Sentence will be imposed later.

Judge E. Mattingly sentenced Lucy Allen Tibbs, colored, 45, 1839 Fifth street northwest, to 60 days on a charge of sale, and $400 fine or 30 days on a possession charge. Police raided her place on a warrant sworn by Policeman William De Groot. He said he made a purchase July 25. Police claim they took 46 bottles of beer, six gallons of mash and a gallon of wine in the raid.

Engineer Is Found Dead in Apartment

The janitor, James Anderson, summoned police and the Fire Rescue Squad as soon as he discovered the body of Johnson, but efforts to revive the man were fruitless, physicians expressing the belief that life had been extinct for several hours. His personal physician, Dr. Russell McNitt, said that he was convinced the middle-aged engineer had died from a probable heart attack incident to nervous disorders to which he had been subject for some time.

Johnson, as far as police could ascertain, had no relatives living in this city. An unfinished letter to a sister in Santa Monica, Calif., giving no name, however, was found in his apartment. He had been employed as a senior engineer in the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Agriculture Department for several years and before taking this position was said to have engaged in experimental insecticide work in Louisiana.

MEDALS PRESENTED TO CITIZEN SOLDIERS

Capital Man Is Rewarded as Best; Troops Reviewed by Various Groups.

W. M. Arehart, 23 years old, of 1623 Connecticut avenue northwest, "the best soldier in the blue course" at the Citizens Military Training Camp at Fort Myer, yesterday received trophies from the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the United Spanish War Veterans, in addition to a scholarship at George Washington University, as a reward for his military proficiency.

The rewards were given after a parade of the youths reviewed by Maj. Gen. George V. H. Moseley, deputy chief of staff U. S. A., and members of his staff, as well as military attaches from several of the embassies and legations of foreign powers represented in Washington.

Representatives from the District American Legion, Daughters of the American Revolution, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, District Militia, and the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts of the District also reviewed the parade.

Other awards made yesterday included the Military Training Camp Association medal for citizenship, awarded to Franklin R. Sibert, of the Cordova apartments; medal for military excellence to Joseph McG. Michaelson, of 2548 University place nosthwest, and the War Mothers Medal for citizenship to Joseph E. Suszek, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Awards for proficiency given by the Civitan Club, of Baltimore, Md., were made to Joseph E. Suszek, Edmund N. Tarbutton, Camp Hill, Pa., and Llewellyn Powell, of Alexandria, Va.

Today the boys will go for an all-day ride, using Fort Myer cavalry horses, and tomorrow the commencement exercises for the camp will be held, when 35 of the "blues" will become eligible as reserve officers. Four District boys will be among this group.

Finger Broken in Taxi Crash.

Anthony Marinello, 46, of 1417 Meridian place northwest, suffered a broken finger yesterday when the taxi in which he was a passenger was struck by a truck at Fifth and N streets northwest. According to police, the truck was driven by James Ezell, colored, and the cab was operated by Randolph Jasper, also colored. The taxicab overturned.

WHOLEAN ADOPTION PIVOT OF WILL TEST

Claimants Will Contend That Mrs. Henderson Never Made Woman Heir.

Any attempt on the part of Mrs. Beatrice Wholean, reputed granddaughter of the late Mrs. Mary F. Henderson, to contest the wills of the society leader, will be fought on the grounds that she was never legally adopted by Mrs. Henderson and is not her heir-at-law.

Some move to decide the question of the legal heirs of Mrs. Henderson is expected to be made within a few days. Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, of the Battle Creek, Mich., Sanitarium, has instructed attorneys to take any action necessary to protect the interests of the "Temple of Hygeia," in Battle Creek, which, under one of the wills, was given the bulk of the estate.

Maj. Julius I. Peyser, of counsel for the executor, George E. Edelin, yesterday estimated the value of the estate as $6,000,000. Most of the estate is in unencumbered real property.

An official decree was signed on December 30, 1924, authorizing the adoption of Mrs. Wholean by Mrs. Henderson and making her the heir-at-law of the society dowager. This decree was not docketed and, because of this, those opposed to Mrs. Wholean sharing the estate, will contend that the adoption was illegal.

$50,000 NOTES GIVEN TO RHEEM TRUSTEES

Insurance Company Returns Paper Substituted by Head of Bankrupt.

Trustees for the Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Co. yesterday received $50,000 in notes from the Lincoln Assurance Co., which had been given away by Edmund D. Rheem to replace notes secured by released trusts.

A few days prior to the bankruptcy the Washington Loan & Trust Co. advised the insurance company that trusts securing $50,000 in notes held by them had been released by Rheem.

Immediately demand for restitution was made upon Rheem by the insurance company. He turned over the good notes, but before the released ones could be returned the firm had been adjudged bankrupt.

Then suit was brought by the insurance company to reinstate the released trusts. The company voluntarily returned the substitute notes.

To date 2,600 claims have been filed with Referee in Bankruptcy Fred J. Eden against the assets of the bankrupt mortgage house.

Office Thieves Get $500 Dental Gold

Material and Jewelry Are Taken by Medical Science Building Robbers.

Thieves who systematically purloined more than $500 worth of gold used in dental work from offices of dentists in the Medical Science Building, 1027 Vermont avenue northwest, were being hunted by headquarters detectives last night.

Detective Sergt. Robert Barrett, assigned to investigation of the robberies, was convinced that the depredations were committed by some one familiar with the workings of dental offices. There were no indications of ransacking in the victimized establishments, and it was presumed that some one familiar with the territory covered had been responsible.

A quantity of jewelry, valued at $250, also was included in the loot. This was taken from Dr. B. J. Madert, who has offices on the fifth floor of the building.

Industrial Show Leaders Named

Seventh Annual District Fair Will Be Staged in October.

Plans were launched yesterday for the seventh annual industrial exposition of the District to be the week of October 28 at Washington auditorium under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce. Alfred L. Stern will continue as managing director of the exposition.

A committee named to direct the affair was told that manufacturing activity in Washington has increased 23 per cent in the seven years that the expositions have been held in comparison to 4 per cent for the entire country.

Members of the committee are Harry King, ex officio; Walter C. Balderson, Charles T. Clagett, Charles W. Darr, Robert Dougan, John A. Eckert, Isaac Gans, W. P. Grove, Robert N. Harper, Ernest E. Herrell, C. Phillips Hill, Dorsey W. Hyde, jr., Rudolph Jose, Martin A. Leese, J. B. Luttes, E. D. Merrill, Robert L. Pyle, C. Melvin Sharpe, Charles J. Stockman and Lee Thompson.

Junior Swimming Meet Planned at Glen Echo

A junior swimming meet for boys and girls will be held at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night at Glen Echo Park under the auspices of the American Legion. The meet will be supplemented with a demonstration of Red Cross life-saving methods and a fancy diving and swimming exhibit.

Two loving cups have been donated for the meet, one by Paul H. McGahan, past department commander of the legion, and the other by Howard F. Bresee, second vice commander of the legion in the District and secretary to Representative Hall, of New York. Those who will present the diving act are Florence Shadding, Onalene Lawrence, Betty Gates, Joe Lyman, John Broaddus, Vincent Gomez and Norman Smith.

Woman Held on Liquor Charge.

Belle V. Powell, 38, was arrested last night when police seized 13½ pints of alleged whisky in her apartment at 233 Kentucky avenue. She was charged with illegal possession.

Secretary to Pitts Fights Indictment

Perjury Charge Answered by Claim of Improper Jury Action.

Miss Helen L. Schneider, former secretary to G. Bryan Pitts, chairman of the board of directors of the F. H. Smith Co., yesterday followed Pitts' lead in asking the District Supreme Court to throw out grand jury indictments for perjury and subornation of perjury, returned against herself, Pitts and three others.

Miss Schneider noted ten of the twelve pleas in abatement filed the day before by her former employer, and asserted that improper evidence was presented to the jury. She said persons not entitled to attend the grand jury sessions were present, adding that her constitutional rights were violated, and she should not be required to answer the indictment.

Through Attorney Martin F. O'Donoghue, Miss Schneider also claimed that Regina E. Chandler, while serving on the grand jury, was receiving compensation from the District government as an assistant director of playgrounds. Attorneys Leon Tobriner and Dozier A. DeVane filed similar pleas in abatement for Henry O. Hart, former auditor for the Smith Co. Others named in the indictment were John H. Edwards, jr., former vice president of the company, and Emory L. Coblentz, Frederick (Md.) banker.

Boy Visiting in Capital Is Injured by Auto

Malcolm O'Neil, 16-year-old visitor in Washington from Fairmont, W. Va., who is stopping at 1536 Connecticut avenue, was injured yesterday when struck by an auto at Twelfth street and Constitution avenue. Taken to Emergency Hospital, he was treated for scalp lacerations and concussion of the brain.

Arthur Clark, 26, of Hyattsville, Md., was driving the car, police reported.

Contractors Deny Prison Labor Good

Wickersham Advocacy of Convict Employment Is Criticized.

Statement in the Wickersham Commission's latest report to the effect that prison labor on public works is advantageous and not injurious to outside capital and labor was criticized yesterday in an announcement by the Associated General Contractors of America, through its managing director, Edward J. Harding.

Declaring that the premise is without foundation, Mr. Harding said that "the experience of practically every governmental agency that has experimented with convicts on construction has proved it to be wasteful and uneconomical and the cause of inevitable wage cutting and ruinous competition within the industry."

Mr. Harding said that if the commission's recommendations on this point were carried out, between 200,000 and 300,000 free workmen probably would be thrown out of work in favor of convicts.

Comptroller Approves School Desk Contract

Contract with the Derby Desk Co., of Massachusetts, for 21,000 pieces of furniture for new junior high and elementary schools in Washington was approved yesterday by Comptroller General McCarl.

Comptroller McCarl had previously ruled that the contract was illegal because it was not given to the lowest bidder. District authorities stated that lower bids had been rejected because concerns did not supply samples. Comptroller McCarl, on being informed that the schools would be in danger of going unequipped through the delay, reconsidered the case and ruled in favor of the Derby Co.

Faulty Brakes Charged After Child Is Injured

Mary Cooper, 6, of 1318 Potomac avenue southeast, was slightly injured last night in front of her home when she stepped into the street from behind a truck and was hit by an automobile. She was taken to Casualty Hospital by Raymond Addison, colored, driver of the machine which knocked her down, and treated for a possible ankle fracture and contusions of the face and body.

Addison, who is 22, and lives at 1244 Half street southeast, was charged with having faulty brakes.

River Use to Cool Building Weighed

Plan Would Bring Water Through Tunnel to New Postoffice.

A plan to cool the new Postoffice Building when it is completed will, if carried out, bring the waters of Potomac River to the basement of the structure. It is under consideration by engineers in charge.

The plan is being studied because of failure to reach water after drilling a well at a cost of $11,230. Bedrock was struck which it was impossible to go through.

An old tunnel constructed in prewar days as part of a proposed heating system, since abandoned, may be used to bring the water to the building.

Henderson Heir Pays Speed Fine

Jesse Shima, Secretary, Is Nabbed at 40 Miles on Conduit Road.

Jesse Shima may be one of the heirs apparent to the Henderson millions, but the secretary to the late dictator of Boundary Castle was just another speeder to Policeman H. O. Tutt, who hailed him into Police Court yesterday on a fast driving charge.

Judge Gus A. Schuldt imposed a $5 fine. Shima pled guilty to driving his car at 40 miles an hour on Conduit road, nodding his head in the affirmative when the question was put to him. He had nothing to say when the fine was imposed.

He told Policeman Tutt he was trying to overtake a car ahead of him.

"You have overtaken a number already," Tutt said he admonished the Henderson heir.

"But not the one I tried to overtake," Shima insisted.

At the Seventh Precinct, where he posted $25 collateral, he shook hands with the officers, and called them "very nice policemen."

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Fuss Over Cornwallis.

The Yorktown Sesquicentennial Commission wants to celebrate the surrender of Lord Cornwallis without the surrender of Cornwallis.

* * * *

The pageant plans called for the British general's surrender in accordance with facts, but it is now thought the reproduction of the episode might offend the British.

* * * *

WHAT'S the idea? Don't the commission members think England knows Cornwallis has surrendered yet?

* * * *

If not, then the empire might as well be notified by pageant as by cablegram.

* * * *

England has so many other troubles this season that American confirmation of Lord Cornwallis' defeat won't bother her much, anyhow.

* * * *

She's probably even forgotten what war he was in.

* * * *

BUT the incident reflects a new high for American pussyfooting. Yorktown is chiefly noted as marking the spot where Cornwallis surrendered to George Washington, ending the Revolutionary War. Up to the time of the Sesquicentennial Commission nobody had ever thought of suppressing the fact of the surrender. Why try to soft pedal it at this late day?

* * * *

Lord Cornwallis was a good run-of-the-mill British general, a gallant soldier and fine gentleman, but the barefooted heroes of Valley Forge took him for a ride, and we thought even the British were willing to admit it without blushing.

* * * *

The original idea behind the Yorktown celebration was to stage a pageant showing every detail of the scenes for which the town is famed in history, but the suggestion that the actual surrender would offend British taste now has the commission up a tree.

It may leave out the big scene entirely or else substitute a man named Gus for Lord Cornwallis.

* * * *

ANOTHER suggestion is that instead of showing Cornwallis handing over his sword to Washington, the pageant be rewritten to show them shaking hands, and with Cornwallis repeating the immortal line of John L. Sullivan, "Well, I'm glad the title was won by an American."

* * * *

Nobody wants to take a chance on stirring up an international crisis these hectic days, and it might be well to save the feeling of all concerned by having Cornwallis win the war. In order to appease patriotic Americans, Washington could be left out of the scene and replaced by the Wickersham Commission, or the whole pageant restaged as a Keep Kissable mardi gras.

* * * *

* * * *

VACATION STUDY.

Her daily swim must make the lady quake—

SPORTING OF HIM.

"What?" grunted the wrestler.

Hotel Window Leap Foiled, Man Is Under Observation

A 47-year-old salesman was sent to Gallinger Hospital for mental observation early yesterday after he had held early morning passersby near the Washington Hotel breathless as he poised himself for a jump from his upper story window and a fire rescue squad detail waited underneath to catch him. After some persuasion, however, he yielded to the entreaties of his nearly distracted wife and gave up his attempt to leap to the pavement.

The man, Claude Harris, sales manager for an Eastern sea food concern, was the recent object of a concerted search when he apparently vanished from a train bound here from Boston after a business trip. Later located in a Harrisburg, Pa., hospital suffering from a suddenly ensuing illness, he was brought here and placed in the Washington Sanitarium at Takoma Park, Md. He slipped away from his room there Monday and was located early yesterday at the Washington.

Mrs. Ethel Harris, wife of the sales manager, quickly enlisted fire department and police aid and the incident in which Harris threatened to make the leap from the window followed. The couple live at 401 Twenty-third street northwest, and are childless. Harris is said to have suffered considerably of late years from bronchial and asthmatic trouble.

Changes Ordered In Building Code

Garages and Reinforced Concrete Structures. Are Affected.

Changes in the District building code designed to decrease fire hazards in public garages and to strengthen inclosure walls of all buildings in which reinforced concrete is used were ordered yesterday by the District Commissioners upon recommendation of John W. Oehmann, inspector of buildings.

All garages having three or more stories and all basement garages are required to be provided with automatic sprinklers, and in all new garages inclosed stairs are required as fire escapes.

The new rules regarding walls have to do with their thickness and their attachment to beams or girders. They are in part an outgrowth of engineering arguments, which arose out of the collapse of the Roosevelt High School steel framework and the concrete wall at the Stuart Junior High School.

Leland Street Work Planned.

Three blocks on Leland street, between Oakland street and Connecticut avenue, in Chevy Chase, Md., will be regraded and repaved to match the lines of the new curbs and gutters. The grade will be lowered about 1 foot. Bids will be asked shortly, as soon as specifications can be drawn up by the Montgomery County engineering department.
